GOVERNOR BARS TRUCKS MOVING IN MINNEAPOLIS

Aims to Compel End of Strike.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 6 [Monday].—Gov. Floyd B. Olson today clamped down upon all commercial truck operators of Minneapolis who will not accept the proposals made by federal mediators for the settlement of the truck strike which is now in its 20th day.

GOV. F. B. OLSON.

In a new and drastic order addressed to Adjt. Gen. E. A. Walsh, who commands troops maintaining martial law here, the governor demanded that all permits for truck movements be revoked. In a selected list he named the types of service which will be allowed to operate from now on.

Hopes to Break Down Resistance.

The governor's purpose, it was plain, was to break down employers' resistance to the proposals made by Father Francis Haas and E. H. Dunnigan, federal conciliators, which the striking drivers accepted.

Milk, ice, bread, fuel, gasoline, newspapers, and newsprint will not be molested.

Since the governor did not mention them specifically it was assumed that liquor and beer would not be allowed to move.

However, it was not expected that the large department stores and other principal business houses would be granted trucking permits.

The governor said that troops will enforce his proclamation. He declared that no forcible picketing would be permitted. It was pointed out that since the troops would keep all trucks off the streets save those to which the strikers had no objections there would likely be little picketing. The troops will do the pickets' work of tying up large business shipments.

Guard to Prevent Bloodshed.

"The order issued to take effect at midnight is designed to bring about complete peace in Minneapolis and to give the warring factions an opportunity to arrive at a settlement," the governor announced.

"The main endeavor of the Guard is to prevent bloodshed and preserve law and order.

"This order will expose the 'chiselers.' The citizens then will know where the fault rests for this situation and will take such action with reference to patronizing them as citizens believe advisable.

"We will also increase our efforts to arrest and punish persons who engage in forcible picketing."

Refers to Chiselers.

The sentence referring to "chiselers" emphasized that the governor proposed to aim his ban at those employers who will not agree to accept the Haas-Dunnigan proposal.

There are 166 employers represented upon the employers' advisory committee. To date they have not shown any signs of division. Yesterday 300 business men met and declared they would stick to the position they have taken in refusing to accept one part of the proposed settlement which would bind them to rehire all men now on strike.

They are certain that communists fomented the strike and that their power is still being felt. Therefore they do not feel they should be forced to rehire men who are being directed by subversive influences.

Haas-Dunnigan Proposal.

The rehiring of all men now on strike was included in the Haas-Dunnigan proposal.

How the governor could manage to influence the public to refuse patronage to the "chiselers" was not explained.

A lengthy preamble preceded the governor's order, in which he reiterated his assertion that he declared martial law because the civil authorities were unable to maintain it.

The employers believe he declared martial law because city police were convoying trucks and preventing pickets from stopping them.

The governor listed the types of trucks which may move as follows:

ROOSEVELT SEES GLACIER PARK; JOINS A TRIBE

Makes Radio Talk from Chalet.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
(Pictures on Back Page.)

Glacier Park, Mont., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt devoted today to making a radio speech in which he praised the national park system, sightseeing in Glacier National park, and was adopted into the Blackfeet Indian tribe.

The President's radio talk, the first to the American public since his return from Hawaii, was made over a national hookup from Two Medicine chalet.

After eight hours of steady driving, with time out for luncheon, the President, Mrs. Roosevelt, and the entourage arrived at Two Medicine chalet, saturated with scenery, ozone, sunshine and the aroma of fir and balsam. The glaciers this season are smaller than usual due to extremely small snowfall last winter and in many places one sees dry beds of what usually are tumbling waters.

Mrs. Roosevelt Also Adopted.

The Blackfeet Indian tribe, with ceremonials at Two Medicine chalet, in a gem of a lake and mountain landscape setting, adopted President and Mrs. Roosevelt and Secretary Harold L. Ickes into the tribe. Chief Bird Rattler, head medicine man, waved the eagle plume over each in turn and pronounced their new names in guttural Indian. Richard Sanderville, a Carlisle graduate known as Chief Bull, did the interpreting. Chief Yellow Kidney presented war bonnets, pipestone calumets and beaded belts.

President Roosevelt, the "great white father," was given the tribal name "Lone Chief." Mrs. Roosevelt, "the grand white mother," was called "Medicine pipe woman."

Secretary Ickes received the Indian name "Big Bear." The two men were given war bonnets and a beautiful pipe of peace was given to the President while "Big Bear" Ickes received a bow and quiver of arrows.

Inspects Project Today.

In the inspection tour of Public Works administration projects the President tomorrow is to survey an engineering enterprise for flood control and flowage regulation of the Missouri river.

At Fort Peck, Mont., the army engineers are to show him the preliminary construction of what is to be the largest earthen dam in the world to create a lake 175 miles long. It has a different economic phase from that of the Columbia river project, viewed Saturday by the President at Grand Coulee, Wash., where hydro-electric power and reclamation are the objects.

The Coulee idea is one of eventually making the sage brush desert to bloom like the rose and of putting more land into production despite the New Deal's policy of a subsidized scarcity by renting land from farmers to take it out of production.

To Regulate Rivers' Flow.

At Fort Peck the impounding of the headwaters of the great Missouri-Mississippi system is sought with a view to keeping the water from rushing down the valley in the spring, causing floods. The plan is to impound water, then to release it in the dry season in the interests of navigation as well as reclamation and flood control. It is a part of a program laid down for years by the engineering talent for the mitigation of floods. It seems to be one project that is free from regional dissention.

Parenthetically, in the state of Washington, the Puget sound region and the Spokane area appear to be widely divided over the Grand Coulee project. Seattle, for example, is apprehensive that at Grand Coulee the federal government will sell power that may enter into competition with the current of the municipal ownership power plant of Seattle as well as with private utilities.

The army engineers say the Fort Peck dam and reservoir will enable them to control the flow of the Missouri for its entire 2,000 mile length. The undertaking is to cost 54 million dollars, and Secretary Ickes, head of PWA, has made allotments of 50 million dollars. Some 2,000 men are now at work at the dam site.

Radio Reveals Byrd Safe in Antarctic Hut

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Aug. 4 [Delayed].—(AP)—[Via Mackey Radio.] — Radio communication has been restored with Admiral Richard E. Byrd at Bolling, advance weather base, 123 miles by trail south of here, for the first time since July 27.

He reported his receiver was not functioning, but gave no indication that otherwise all was not well.

DR. THOMAS POULTER.
[Acme Photo.]

Today another tractor expedition set forth in a second attempt to reach Admiral Byrd's advance base on the Ross ice barrier, where he is keeping a lone vigil. The first was forced to turn back in a storm, reporting the flag marked trail had been largely obliterated.

Eighteen Days Ahead of Sun.

Three men under Dr. Thomas Poulter in tractor No. 1, dragging two three-runner sledges, departed under an overcast sky 18 days ahead of the south swinging sun.

The party carried two months' rations, in addition to a considerable quantity of gasoline, beyond the requirements of the journey. This will be placed at the advance base for the use of tractors on later journeys.

"To make a prophecy," said Dr. Poulter, "we may put through in a couple of days, and again we might be out there a long time. If we meet with an accident or are stopped by blizzards, there is no telling."

Plans for attack on the lonely trail have been slightly altered this time. Dr. Poulter's previous instructions led him to hold to the trail marked by the southern party last fall to minimize the danger of falling into a crevasse.

Will Disregard Flags.

The flags put down last fall, however, have been all but buried by winter drift and blizzards.

This time Dr. Poulter intends to make it a straight job of navigation. He will have to steer by compass, by stars, and by small electric lights planted as sights on the back trail.

Although Admiral Byrd was heard calling Little America on July 27, full contact with him has been lost since July 20. He said when contact was reëstablished that he would keep a light burning on the pole planted on his roof and would fly a kite carrying a light in the afternoon and evening.

The temperature today was only 13 below, quite moderate for these parts at this time. On the first trip the tractor party had temperatures of 71 below and colder.

PRINCE OF WALES HELPS SAVE BOY FROM DROWNING

BIARRITZ, France, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The prince of Wales helped save a small boy from drowning today by hauling him from a beach swimming pool. The lad had been swept there by a huge wave which broke over the pool from the beach.

About 5:30 p. m. the prince was at the pool when a comber caught the 12 year old lad. The prince plunged into the pool and helped pull the boy out.

Only a few saw the rescue, but they crowded about the prince with congratulations. The prince returned to his villa without learning the youngster's name.

Mrs. Marsalis Falls to Death at Air Meet

Dayton, O., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Frances Harrell Marsalis, 29, one of the country's most noted woman flyers and co-holder of the women's refueling endurance record, was killed this afternoon when her light biplane went out of control and crashed while she was participating in the national women's air meet near here.

The petite aviatrix, whom fellow pilots termed "totally fearless," had thrilled the crowds a few moments before her death by her sharp banks at the pylons. She was on the last round of the five lap course of the fifty mile free-for-all, featured event, when the accident occurred.

Plunges to Earth.

Mrs. Marsalis was trying to bring her ship out of its bank after rounding the marker when it suddenly plunged earthward, witnesses said.

Frank Riebold, a race judge, expressed the belief that her plane crashed when she attempted to avoid a collision with two other planes as they rounded the pylon.

"She banked sharply, and before she got completely out of the bank it looked as if she tried desperately to pull the ship up, but it dived down," he said.

The plane rolled over a dozen times after it struck, finally coming to a stop about 200 feet from where it first struck, according to another witness, Frank Wollery.

Dies on Way to Hospital.

Rescue crews were on the scene a moment after the crash, but had considerable difficulty extricating Mrs. Marsalis from the wreckage. She was still alive when they reached her, but died on the way to a hospital.

The event which the flyer had nearly concluded was the chief one of the two day meet at the Dayton Municipal airport in nearby Vandalia.

Mrs. Marsalis, whose home was at Garden City, Long Island, N. Y., was the co-holder with Helen Richey of the women's refueling endurance record. They established the record last Dec. 30 at Miami, Fla., by remaining aloft for 9 days 21 hours and 42 minutes.

They broke a mark previously set by Mrs. Marsalis and Mrs. Louise Thaden at Valley Stream, N. Y., on Aug. 22, 1932. Mrs. Marsalis was chief pilot during the feats.

Known as Skilled Flyer.

She was known as one of the most skilful of woman flyers. She began flying ten years ago at her former home in Centerville, Tex.

When she set her first endurance record with Mrs. Thaden she took along a powder puff as part of her equipment and had extra hairpins sent to her during a refueling maneuver in midair. The plane used on her second flight was named the Flying Boudoir because of the feminine accouterment she and Miss Richey took along.

After her death it became known that the aviatrix and William Marsalis, Eastern Air Transport pilot, were granted a preliminary divorce decree July 16.

Marsalis Asks Duty Relief.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—(AP)—William Marsalis, who piloted an Eastern Air Transport plane to Washington after learning of the death of his former wife, Mrs. Frances Marsalis, said tonight he had asked to be relieved from the return run tomorrow.

Marsalis was informed of the aviatrix's death in a crash near Dayton, O., just before he took off from Newark today.

He declined to discuss their divorce, but said a preliminary decree was granted July 16 in Augusta, Ga., and that a final decree was slated for Aug. 1.

2 Men Deport Union Leader; Escorted Back

Huntsville, Ala., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Abduction of a union organizer from his hotel room here early today broke the calm in a blockade by 5,000 textile workers and precipitated a situation authorities described as "menacing."

John Dean, international representative of the United Textile Workers of America, who organized a strike involving more than 12,500 operatives in the state, was taken from his hotel room by two unidentified men.

Driven to Tennessee Town.

They drove Dean to Fayetteville, Tenn., 32 miles distant, where he was dumped in front of a hotel. Aside from a welt on his head, Dean was uninjured. The organizer was escorted back to Huntsville by two score of blockaders.

After his abductors had left him at Fayetteville, Dean was reported to have telephoned his lieutenants in the Lincoln mill village here, and at the sound of a bugle ten or twelve carloads of armed men assembled.

These men drove to Fayetteville and escorted Dean back here. This afternoon he addressed blockaders and pleaded for no violence.

Taken at Pistol Point.

Officers were informed two men entered Dean's room shortly after 1 a. m., where he was in conference with two women and another man, and forced him at the point of a pistol to leave with them. Dean walked to the elevator, which dropped to the garage in the basement, and he was forced into a car.

Officers said they were informed that at Elk river, near Fayetteville, a group met the car and they discussed whether to "throw Dean in the river."

Sheriff Ben Giles said that "anything can happen." The sheriff and his deputies earlier had gathered at the hotel from which Dean was abducted to preserve order.

"Rioters are milling in the streets and riding about in cars carrying sticks and guns," he said, "but thus far there has been no undue disorder."

Rioters Stage Demonstration.

At Haleyville today nonunion workers gathered across the railroad tracks from a union massmeeting, jeering and hooting speakers. A thundershower dispersed the union workers.

A similar demonstration by rioters was staged at Fayette Friday, but was dispersed by Sheriff Joe McConnell, who warned two Negroes leading a parade and carrying sticks to leave town.

DECLARES 1918 WAS A LESSON TO GERMANY

Will Fight Only if Attacked, He Says.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler today told Ward Price in an exclusive interview on behalf of the London Mail that "if it rests with Germany, war will not come again."

ADOLF HITLER.

"This country has a more profound impression than any other of the evils war causes," the chancellor said on the eve of his address to the reichstag at memorial services for the late President Paul von Hindenburg.

"Ninety-five per cent of the members of our national administration have had personal experience with the horrors of war and know that it is not an adventure but a ghastly catastrophe.

"It is the disciplined conviction of the Nazi movement that war can benefit nobody, but only bring about general ruin. Nineteen-eighteen was a lesson and a warning for us."

"Must Maintain Frontiers."

Germany's present problems could not be solved by war, the reich fuehrer [leader] added, but claims upon Europe do not involve risk of such disaster.

"We ask only that our present frontiers shall be maintained," he said, "and, believe me, we shall never fight again except in self-defense."

Hitler said he had repeatedly assured France that once the Saar question is settled there would be no further territorial differences between Germany and France. He said Germany had further proved her peaceful intentions by completing a pact with Poland.

Refers to Baldwin's Words.

Alluding to a statement in London of the acting prime minister, Stanley Baldwin, last week that Britain's frontier was on the Rhine, the chancellor said:

"Maybe French statesmen will go further and say that France must defend herself on the river Oder; or Russia might claim her line of defense was the Danube."

Germany, he pointed out, can scarcely be reproached if she seeks to secure protection within her own frontiers.

"Unless England attacks us," he said, "we shall never have a conflict with England, on the Rhine or anywhere else. We want nothing from England."

"Not even colonies?" the interviewer suggested.

No Desire for Colonies.

"I would not sacrifice the life of any German to get any colony in the world," Hitler replied with an emphatic gesture, adding that the former German African colonies were proving costly and luxurious for Britain.

Affirming that the increase in England's air fleet had not caused the slightest resentment in Germany, Hitler said:

"Britain lies right outside our calculations."

Such defensive steps as Germany is taking were due, he said, to the fact that Germany is surrounded on the continent by a ring of powerful potential foes who might some day make demands that Germany could not accept.

The interviewer referred to recent allegations that Germany was indirectly meddling in Austria in a manner that might make war inevitable.

"Shall Not Attack Austria."

"We shall not attack Austria," Hitler answered brusquely. "But we cannot prevent Austrians seeking to restore their ancient connection with Germany."

Answering the interviewer's question as to whether Hitler aimed at restoring the connection, he said, "An schluss [union] is not a problem of the present day. Austrian independence lies outside all discussion and nobody questions it.

"It is natural that Germans of Austria should incline toward union with Germany, but we all know this. The aim is impossible at present, because opposition to it from the rest of Europe would be too great."

Questioned concerning his present immense powers within Germany, gained by the death of President Paul von Hindenburg, the fuehrer replied that every year he had submitted his powers to the German people who could confirm or withdraw them.

"Is your combined office as head of the state and chancellor to be held for life?" the interviewer asked.

"It will last until the basis of this government is removed by national vote," said Hitler.

The recent stern repression of a division in the Nazi party was referred to and Hitler was asked if he were satisfied the party was now completely united. The fuehrer's eyes flashed as he replied:

"It is stronger and more solid now than it ever was."

With reference to Germany's economic prospects, Hitler said that within two years Germany would make itself independent of imported cotton, wool and other fundamental raw materials.

Stresses Recovery Requisites.

He said it was for other nations to decide whether it was to their interest that Germany should cease to be an international buyer as well as seller.

"Three things," he said, "are requisite to world economic recovery—namely: maintenance of peace, the existence of strong, well organized governments in every country, and the necessary energy to tackle world problems as a whole.

"Germany is ready to coöperate with other nations to this end if they will work with us."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Aug. 5.—As Austria's reconstructed cabinet is trying to catch up on administrative matters following the distraction of the Nazi revolt, it was revealed today that the cabinet meeting on the day of the putsch was devoted to something for which Vienna is famous—comic opera.

It was not momentous affairs of state which brought ministers to the chancellory in the Ballhausplatz for the session which proved fatal to Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, but the financial plight of the renowned theater which was the birthplace of "The Merry Widow," "The Chocolate Soldier" and a dozen other comic operas. The Dollfuss cabinet had just agreed to grant the theater a subsidy of 1,000,000 schillings [about $190,000] when the Nazi putschists broke in. Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg last night decided that in view of the confusion following the Nazi raid the money had better be voted again. This was done.

The Roman Catholic church, to which Dollfuss was so devoted, today moved to immortalize him. Cardinal Innitzer, in the presence of thousands of peasants, laid the cornerstone of a church on Homeward mountain, 3,000 feet high in the Austrian Alps. It will be known as Dollfuss chapel. Schuschnigg in a message affirmed that Austria remained Catholic, but gave assurance that religious prejudice would play no part in state affairs.

GERMAN PAPER ATTACKS U. S. CABINET; BANNED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Publication of the weekly, Der Steurmer, today was prohibited for two weeks because of an attack on the American cabinet, in which the publication alleged that eleven members of President Roosevelt's cabinet are Jews. A previous issue was confiscated because of an attack on President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia. The paper is edited by Julius Streacher, Nazi leader.

"Eleven members of the United States cabinet, including the secretaries of war, navy, and aviation are Jews," Der Stuermer said. It blamed these Jews in official positions together "with one-tenth of world Jewry living in New York" for the drop in German exports and the world boycott of German goods.

"Roosevelt is not a Jew, but everybody around him is Jewish," Der Steurmer asserted. It warned Germans that "whoever buys from a Jew is a traitor to the nation."

BRUIN PAL FAILS TO RESCUE BEAR FROM DROWNING

Columbus, O., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Lena, one of the black Michigan bears at the Columbus zoo, drowned in her pit today in spite of what some folks say were efforts of Jake, her partner, to rescue her.

The pair had cuffed each other around the pool all afternoon and then Jake retired to his den to meditate.

Lena continued performing for the crowd of spectators, eating their peanuts between stunts. Maybe a peanut choked her; suddenly she teetered on the edge of the pool and fell in. Her thrashing attracted Jake, who lumbered out and tried—the spectators averred—to extend her a helping paw. Jake fell in on top of her and thereafter his only effort was to get himself out.

Keeper William Evans, who attempted a rescue, was kept off for 15 minutes by the raging Jake, until other attendants could force him back to his den with crowbars. Lena was dead when they pulled her out.

Viscount Allenby, Visiting Toronto, Sent to Hospital

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, here to attend the Canadian corps reunion, was ordered to a hospital by physicians tonight. Doctors said he must take a complete rest for three or four days. Attending a Royal Canadian Yacht club dinner, Viscount Allenby was stricken with a nasal hemorrhage, the second in a day.

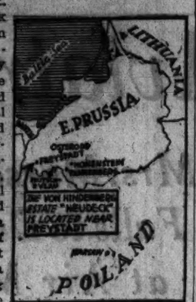
LAST MARCH OF VON HINDENBURG TO START TODAY

Body Will Be Taken to Tannenberg Memorial.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Paul von Hindenburg's last march will start tomorrow night.



At 9 o'clock the coffin containing the body of the late president and field marshal will be raised to a gun carriage at Neudeck manor, his ancestral estate, and escorted by a guard of honor about a mile and a half along the 40 mile road to Tannenberg, where the Russian invaders were turned back by Von Hindenburg 20 years ago this month.

At a resting point along the road the coffin will be transferred to another gun carriage and conveyed to within a mile and a half of Hohenstein by motor. There another guard of honor will take over the coffin and conduct it to the Tannenberg memorial, arriving about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Torchbearers to Line Route.

The body will be escorted by a motor battery and two squadrons of cavalry. Torchbearers, brown shirted Storm Troops, Schutzstaffel men (Chancellor Hitler's handpicked bodyguard), and Hitler Youth will line the entire road.

The roadway will be strewn with oak leaves, branches of pine trees and flowers.

The cortège will pass through several towns, including Deutsch-Eylau, Osterode, Mauehlen, Hohenstein, and Tannenberg. It also will pass by the hill from which Von Hindenburg directed the battle of Tannenberg.

At the Tannenberg memorial the coffin first will be placed in the marshal's tower. In preparation for Tuesday's funeral services, the tower has been draped in black, inside and out. Shortly before the ceremonies begin, the body will be placed on a catafalque before a large cross, the resting place of 20 unknown soldiers buried in the battle of Tannenberg.

Thousands on Way to Tannenberg.

Already thousands of persons have started for the scene of the funeral from all parts of Germany.

Residents of Berlin today clamored for tickets for tomorrow morning's memorial service in the reichstag, where Chancellor Hitler will deliver the funeral oration. The chancellor will start speaking at noon [6 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time].

Divine services dedicated to the memory of Von Hindenburg were held in all German churches today. Exercises at the Freystadt church, which the late president attended regularly, were conducted by Dr. Bruno Doehring, the court preacher. The late president's son, Col. Oscar von Hindenburg, his wife, and servants at the Neudeck estate were present. Col. von Hindenburg was attired in a uniform.

Dr. Doehring prayed that God bestow his blessing on Hitler, Von Hindenburg's successor as leader of the reich. After the services Col. von Hindenburg stood silently before the war memorial to fallen soldiers in the churchyard.

Berlin Cathedral Packed.

In Berlin crowds, unable to obtain admission to the memorial service in the Holy Trinity cathedral, listened outside the doors. Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense, Dr. Otto Meissner, former secretary of Von Hindenburg, and many high government officials attended the services. Eulogizing Von Hindenburg's life as a Prussian soldier and a Christian, Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller said the late president's last instructions to him were these words:

"See to it that Christ is preached in Germany."

Passion Play Audience's Tribute.

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A Passion Play audience of 6,000 stood up spontaneously today to offer a tribute to Paul von Hindenburg, late president of the German reich.

The demonstration occurred as the chorus, wearing black mourning costumes, gathered about the cross for the Crucifixion scene.

The prolog speaker stepped forward and recited a few lines of poetry by Eugene Roth in homage to "the dead father of the fatherland." In the audience were 2,400 foreigners, mostly Englishmen and Americans. They were visibly moved by the impressive scene.

Buenos Aires Honors Hindenburg.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A civic funeral in memory of the late President Paul von Hindenburg of Germany was held this noon at the Colon Opera house. The president of the republic and high officials attended.

SERVICES IN CHICAGO.

A Chicago memorial service for the late President von Hindenburg will be held tomorrow at 8 p. m. at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Orchard street and Fullerton parkway. The Rev. George E. Scherger, pastor of the church, will officiate. Offices of the German consulate, 520 North Michigan avenue, will be closed throughout the entire day in tribute to Von Hindenburg, Dr. Rolf L. Jaeger, German consul general, announced yesterday.

Tribune Obtains First Outline of New Peace Pact Network

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—THE TRIBUNE has succeeded in securing a copy of the outline of the network of pacts which are under consideration in the chancelleries of Europe "to insure the maintenance of peace." These treaties are designed to complete the efforts started in the covenant of the league of nations, the Locarno pact, and the Kellogg pact.

Upon presenting a memorandum with the outline of the proposed pacts to the German foreign office, the British ambassador urged the German government to accede to the pacts, which were drafted in London by the French and British premiers after consultation with diplomats of most European countries.

Propose Eight Power Treaty.

The most interesting of these proposed pacts is a "treaty of regional assistance to be signed by Poland, Russia, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania."

First, it provides that "these countries bind themselves together in conformity with the league covenant to lend assistance to one another" and to summon a consultation to seek means of avoiding military complications.

If one of the contracting countries attack another nation, the signatories not involved must begin negotiations "to avoid a conflict and promote the return of peace." The signatory powers undertake the same commitment in case of an attack by a nonsignatory power.

The proposed treaty takes into consideration all pacts which exist now and provides specifically that "powers entitled to participate in consultation in virtue of other treaties" must be called in for conference "in case of necessity."

The treaty also insists that the famous articles 10 and 16 of the league covenant must be enforced. Article 10 guarantees the "territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league" and promises the league's assistance to insure their safety. In article 16 members of the league who "resort to war" are warned that the league will take action against them. The new treaty firmly stresses the peace protecting aims of the league covenant.

Besides this treaty for regional assistance, Europe's diplomats are perusing part of the text of an agreement between France and Russia which, they believe, will become a reality in the near future.

In this treaty "France accepts the obligations arising from the Locarno pact as if Russia were a signatory of this pact, the same as Italy and England."

France Accepts Commitments.

France also accepts the commitments which would arise under the provisions of the treaty of regional assistance if she had signed it. France also guarantees to stand up for fulfilment of article 16 of the league covenant or for "decisive action of the league assembly or council or for fulfillment of paragraph 7 of article 15 of the covenant. This article allows members of the league to pick their own course of action if the league council fails to agree unanimously.

The Franco-Russian treaty calls for French participation in the consultations of the treaty of regional assistance "if necessary."

A general act is to combine all existing treaties, which are to become valid only after ratification by the league and Russia's entry into that body.

In his aide-memoire to the German government, the British ambassador recapitulates the pact proposals, stressing that:

FIRST—France is of the opinion Russia should be prepared to give France and Germany the same guarantees of nonprovoked aggression as those which she would be compelled to give if she had signed the Locarno pact.

SECOND—France is willing to give Germany and Russia the same guarantees.

Equality for Germany.

THIRD—France and England agree that these pacts, if signed in cooperation with Germany, would "present the best ground for negotiations for German equality of rights, insuring security for all nations."

Germany by signing a special pact with Poland has shown her desire to coöperate for the pacification of Europe. Consequently, European diplomats hope that it will be possible to perfect the network of treaties in cooperation with Germany. The foreign office, despite attacks by the German press, is working out questionnaires which will be addressed to other governments. Berlin is anxious to avoid entanglements without first obtaining full fledged guarantees for "Germany's right to equal safety and armaments on the same basis as other European nations."

6 Held Up, Robbed After Alderman Arvey's Party

EXPRESS EMPLOYE KILLED.

Albion, Mich., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Robert Vance, 36, American Express company employe, was killed when he stepped in front of a Michigan Central freight train while crossing the tracks to a passenger train early this morning.

AUSTRIAN EXILES PREDICT ATTEMPT TO RESTORE KING

Defeated Nazis Continue Drills in Jugo-Slavia.

VARAZDIN, Jugo-Slavia, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Many Nazis interned on this side of the Austrian border expect that the next development at Vienna will be an attempt to restore the Hapsburg monarchy. The way is paved for such an effort, they pointed out by the military defeat of the Nazis, coupled with the elevation of the monarchist, Kurt Schuschnigg, to the Austrian chancellorship.

The leaders of the fugitives are not unanimous in this belief, but the fact that in their exile they are discussing it as a possible imminent development is interesting in itself.

Meanwhile 800 men and boys, among the scattered remnants of the defeated rebels who found refuge on Jugo-Slav soil, are getting what comfort they can from the belief that they, in the nick of time, forestalled the outbreak of a European war.

800 Stem Assault of Troops.

They are the 800 who held the heights above Rabenstein against the assaults of Austrian regulars trying to mop up the revolutionists. Retreating from battles around Wolfsberg, they withdrew to a secure position atop the lofty Rabenstein fastness, close to the border of Jugo-Slavia.

Only artillery fire could have dislodged them from this natural fortress, but artillery fire would have imperiled Jugo-Slav troops on the boundary a few yards away.

"We are satisfied we could have held that position for weeks, even months," said a young former federal forester who commanded the Nazis at Rabenstein.

"But finally a Jugo-Slav major came to our lines for a conference. He said:

"'Every hour you lads hold out here brings a European war that much nearer. Sooner or later the Austrian government forces must attack with artillery, with almost certain casualties on our side of the line as well as among you.

Decide to Give Up Arms.

"'And that, in turn, may mean war. The fate of Europe is in your hands. Do you fellows want to start a world war?'

"That convinced us. We crossed over into Jugo-Slavia and gave up our arms."

Some 2,200 other Nazi fugitives on this side of the line have no such consolation. They only know they suffered defeat, and retreated.

But in refugee camps here and elsewhere near the border their behavior shows that, on the whole, Nazi morale and discipline have not yet been shattered.

Camps are operated like Nazi garrisons—that is, by the Nazis themselves—with only one Jugo-Slav gendarme at each to keep a fatherly eye on the foreigners.

All weapons, however, have been surrendered to Jugo-Slav authorities. The material given up by one battalion on crossing the line indicates that the Nazis as well as their opponents believed in motorized troops. Besides 400 rifles and six machine guns this battalion surrendered 18 automobile buses, twelve motor trucks and six touring cars.

One also got an impression they must have surrendered their uniforms, for most of the refugees were wearing nothing but swimming trunks or loin cloths as they goose-stepped through military drills under the hot Slovenian sun.

The many bare, sun tanned bodies of young men and boys gave the whole picture a campus touch. They might have been a crowd of high school or college students turning out for gym. There were many 16 and 17 year old youngsters among them.

Splash Under Pumps.

Those not goose-stepping in camp enclosures were peeling potatoes and chopping onions in improvised kitchens, repairing shoes, getting shaves and haircuts from camp barbers, or splashing themselves clean under big pumps.

Officers and men united in giving high praise to the Jugo-Slav authorities who provided space for the camps and permitted them to organize their own system of discipline. As at regular military barracks, those not kept inside by special duties occupy the evenings strolling about the town where they exchanged the Nazi salute to their hearts' content without fear of arrest.

The immediate task of their leaders is to organize relief, for most of the men arrived without money.

Nazis of Austria managed to deliver about 100,000 dinars ($2,300) a few days after the flight across the border, but since the length of their internment is uncertain, the need for systematic relief measures is becoming urgent.

MIGHTY 7 DAY PROGRAM OPENS AT FAIR TODAY

Chicago Week Expected to Set Crowd Records.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Attendance figures continued their sharp upturn at the World's Fair yesterday to usher in "Chicago week," which begins today, with the second largest Sunday and the second largest week-end of the year. The sixth millionth visitor also passed the gates during the evening.

Cool breezes and a bright sun brought the greatest influx of visitors during the day, but steadily arriving evening crowds by midnight had raised the attendance figure to 123,707. The year's highest mark for Sunday is 126,058, made on July 8.

Second Largest Week-End.

There had been a temporary slump in admissions, but Saturday, with 117,482 visitors, started the week-end's remarkable upturn. This week-end's combined figure of 241,189 paid admissions is second only to the record total of 248,095 on July 7 and 8.

Officials of the Fair are anticipating that the high rate of attendance will be maintained this week with the entire Exposition being devoted to "Chicago week" ceremonies. They expect that every week day record will be shattered.

First Event at 11 A. M.

The week's events open today at 11 a. m. in the Court of States with the first eliminations in the contest to determine Chicago's healthiest boy and girl. All children are eligible for the contest which will furnish prizes of $100 to each winner. The winners in the Chicago contest will compete during "Farm Week" with last year's winners of 4-H club prizes in a contest to determine the healthiest boy and girl in the United States.

Also at 11 a. m. will be the program of the Sunset band, comprising 75 players from Gibsonburg, O. The band will give a thirty minutes concert in the Court of States. At 1:30 p. m. the north and northwest parks will present a program of community activities in music, athletics and mass drill in the Court of States.

Big Afternoon Program.

A special program by the police band and Fair all-stars circus on the Lagoon theater will provide afternoon entertainment for the visitors. The north park sectional contests in park and playground swimming will take place at the Lagoon theater at 3:30 p. m., while at 8 p. m. pupils of the public schools will conclude the day's program as far as "Chicago Week" specials are concerned with a concert of songs, dancing, and instrumental music at the Illinois Host house.

The honor of being the six-millionth visitor yesterday went to Miss Eleanor Vollmann, 20 years old, of Stockton, Cal. Her trip to the Fair was a graduation gift from her father, who is manager of the San Joaquin county fair in California.

Greeted by Officials.

She was met at the 12th street gate by R. I. Randolph, assistant general manager of the Fair, and was presented with the usual array of passes and prizes.

Lithuanian day was observed yesterday with a parade of nationals in costume, as well as with music and pageantry. Approximately 500 persons entered the Court of Honor at 6 p. m. to be met by the Guides corp band and escorted down the Avenue of Flags to the Court of States. There a program of racial significance was given with Antanas Keminskasm consul general in Chicago, as guest of honor.

WORLD'S FAIR NOTES

Twelve members of the Business Men's Art Club of Chicago visited Merry England yesterday and sketched the replicas of historic spots of England.

Two American amateur bicycle championships will be decided at the Chrysler motor track on Aug. 21, Bicycle day at the Fair. Fifteen two man teams of class A riders will meet in an hour team race that has been officially designated as the American championship event by the Amateur Bicycle League of America. The league has also sanctioned a one mile girls' race for the championship.

Ten thousand small lamp units contained in the modernistic "shadow sign" at the Firestone exhibit, were removed yesterday and replaced by new units in time for last night's illumination.

Chicagoans of English, Scotch, and Welsh extraction will be out in force at the Fair Saturday to celebrate British day. Lewis Bernays, British consul general in Chicago, will make the welcoming address in the Court of States at 4 p. m. following a parade from the Court of Honor beginning at 3:30 p. m., which will be led by the Curtiss Kilties band outfitted in their royal Stuart tartan plaid. Chicago societies which will participate are the British Empire association, Camprian Welsh society, and the Illinois St. Andrew society. Egyptian day ceremonies, honoring residents of southern Illinois, locally known as Egypt, will be held in the Court of States at 2 p. m., just preceding the British day exercises.

The exhibit of the civil works educational service will be opened at 11 o'clock this morning in Board of Education hall in the Social Science building.

The Latorra family of Franklin Park, all twenty-one of them, were received yesterday by village officials on their arrival at the Italian village. The family was judged the largest and healthiest family of Italian descent in the United States.

Lois Doherty and Edna Conn were selected Saturday night as candidates for the title of Miss Shamrock, the final contest to be held on Irish day Aug. 15. The third preliminary will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Irish village, and the other preliminaries are scheduled for the same hour on Thursday and Saturday. Two candidates are to be selected at each preliminary.

Donald Herbert Dewitt Jr., 4 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Dewitt of Milwaukee, was the four millionth visitor to the Swift Bridge of Service yesterday. He was welcomed by C. H. Smith, manager of the Swift exhibits, who gave him a free afternoon at Enchanted Island.

Ohio sends more visitors to the Fair than any other state, even exceeding Illinois outside of Chicago, according to the guest register in the Sears building. For the week ending Aug. 4, states were represented in the following order: Ohio, Illinois [outside of Chicago], Michigan, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Texas, California, Missouri, and Kentucky. So far twelve states have contributed five-sevenths of the total attendance. The last three weeks have been a steady climb in the percentages from the farm states.

FAMILY OF TWENTY-ONE DINES AT WORLD'S FAIR

The Latorra family of Franklin Park, adjudged the largest and healthiest family of Italian descent in the United States, were honor guests yesterday at the Italian Village. Left to right: Nancy, 5 years old; Philip, 6; Frank, 12; Mary, 11; Michael, 16; Vito, 17; Sarah, 21; Mrs. Angeline Dell, 22; Mrs. Lucille Quarante, 25; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Latorra, the parents; Benito Guy, 1; Mrs. Lawrence Damore, 26; Mrs. Margaret Palella, 24; Mrs. Dominic Damore, 21; Isabel, 19; Rocco, 16; Joseph, 15; Nicholas, 10; John, 8, and Rose, 2.

11 Injured as "Dud" Shell Explodes in Guard Tent

Camp Whitside, Kas., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Eleven persons were injured, four seriously, when a "dud" shell exploded today in a tent at the National Guard camp. Seven of the injured were Guardsmen belonging to headquarters battery, 1st battalion, 161st field artillery brigade. Three women and a man visitor also were wounded.

POST IN A TEST DRIVES AIRPLANE UP 38,000 FEET

Akron, O., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Wiley Post, around the world flyer who plans to try for a new altitude record at Chicago soon, rose 38,000 feet from municipal airport today in a test flight. Post did not use the specially designed rubber suit which is being made here to aid him in his proposed flight. He said he was able to see the north shore of Lake Erie plainly in his flight today. He found a temperature of 70 degrees below zero at the high altitude.

DIES AFTER CARS CRASH.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—James Dooley, 45, West Point, was injured fatally today and nine others were hurt, two seriously, in an automobile collision nine miles south of here. Lawrence Kiehl, 34, Libertyville, Ill., and Leo Peak, 24, West Point, drivers of the cars, were seriously injured.

CUTS IN PAY OF MOVIE STARS SEEM NEARER

Full Code Text Hints at Slashes.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 5.—(AP)—It pays to be a Hollywood movie actor, but the pay will be slashed soon, and slashed sharply. That's the indication in the full text of the report on salaries by Sol A. Rosenblatt, deputy code administrator. The report says that while there is no fixed law about how high a movie star's salary should be, the ratio between salary budget and gross receipts is far too high.

WILL ROGERS.

Show Cuts in Pay.

Movie actors averaged $3,298 last year, or $900 less than they earned two years ago. Executives averaged $53,326, as compared to $92,427 in 1931. Directors averaged $20,315 against $31,525 two years ago. The top salary, $315,000, went to an actor, presumably Will Rogers. Of the 50 highest paid contract persons, 29 were actors, and of the next 50, 17 were actors.

There were several very high salaries last year. One actor drew $300,000; two of them received $275,000; two executives were paid between $250,000 and $275,000, and four actors and three executives between $200,000 and $250,000.

Get More than President.

No names were mentioned in the Rosenblatt report, but the general understanding is that all of these actors are making more money than the President of the United States.

Greta Garbo	Ronald Colman
John Barrymore	Dolores Del Rio
Norma Shearer	Clive Brook
Wallace Beery	Wheeler and Woolsey
George Arliss	Helen Hayes
Marlene Dietrich	Richard Barthelmess
Joan Crawford	Claudette Colbert
Fredric March	Joe E. Brown
Katharine Hepburn	Jimmy Cagney
Constance Bennett	Edward G. Robinson
Ann Harding	Elissa Landi
Janet Gaynor	Irene Dunne
Eddie Cantor	Ruth Chatterton
Clark Gable	Ramon Novarro
William Powell	Edmund Lowe
Warner Baxter	Bing Crosby
Richard Dix	Sylvia Sidney.

Actors are getting 8.53 per cent of the gross receipts from the films. The lowly extra is paid 1.39 per cent.

Youth Falls Over Palisades on Hudson; Hunt for Body

Alpine, N. J., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Losing his balance as he looked out over the palisades at Point Lookout here tonight, Frank Paul, 18, of Jersey City fell 250 feet, apparently to his death, on the rocks on the Hudson river shore. Thirty policemen—interstate, state, county, and municipal—searched for the body among the rock crevices beyond the north end of the lower road at a late hour tonight.

NEW HEAT WAVE COMING; SHOWERS POSSIBLE TODAY

A second heat wave, now broiling the parched western prairies, is creeping toward Chicago. Beginning with a slowly rising temperature today, part of the heat wave is expected to reach here tomorrow. Just how intense the new wave will become is still problematical, according to W. P. Day, government weather forecaster.

"The extreme western portion of Iowa and Missouri and all of Kansas and Nebraska is now in the grip of the new heat wave," Mr. Day asserted. "At North Platte, Neb., yesterday the temperature was 106, and at Omaha it was 110. We will get some of this heat, but how much remains to be seen."

Partly cloudy today and tomorrow, with some precipitation of local showers was the official forecast for Chicago and vicinity.

Early morning showers yesterday benefited the Chicago area. At Davenport, Ia., more than an inch and a half of rain fell. Precipitation at Peoria was .98 of an inch. Rain fell all day at Moline and Galesburg.

JOHNSON ERA SOON TO END FOR INDUSTRIES

Few Simple Codes Are to Replace Maze.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The NRA, doomed to be written in the history of the New Deal as "Johnson's folly," will be reborn under a radically different setup at the opening of the coming year.

Battle lines already are drawn in the struggle which is being waged over the way in which the NRA and its Blue Eagle shall be interred, and over just how the resurrection shall be achieved.

That the NRA has turned into a gastly failure, having foisted upon industry a costly, interfering federal burocracy, without appreciable benefits to industry or to workers, is widely accepted, even within certain quarters of the New Deal.

Law Should End in June.

The administration, however, has shown no disposition to permit the whole experiment to die at the expiration of the National Industrial Recovery act next June 16. In one form or another it will be continued, and since the battleground will be in congress, which must approve a new act, great stress is laid by all sides on the importance of obtaining congressmen in the November election who will deal wisely with the problem.

The glaring faults of NRA which will come under the inspection of the congress are these:

1. It has fostered bloody and costly industrial warfare; encouraged communist agitators and renegade labor leaders to incite strikes upon false issues.
2. It has allowed the setting up of crushing monopolies which have skyrocketed prices to consumers and have brought small businesses to ruin.
3. It has imposed staggering costs and direct taxes upon industries at a time when the crying need was for free capital for expansion and industrial activities.
4. Under the leadership of a military taskmaster of the top-sergeant type, unschooled in industrial problems, the NRA has degenerated into a confusing welter of multitudinous codes, thousands of regulations, red tape, inconsistency, and delay.

Favor Few Simple Codes.

Business leadership, as voiced by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will ask the congress to cut ruthlessly away the burocratic maze set up by Gen. Johnson, and to provide in its place a greatly simplified law under which business will be permitted largely to lay down its own rules of fair competition, within clearly defined limits.

Whereas Gen. Johnson has permitted hundreds of small groups of industry to set up separate codes, the business leaders are declared of the opinion that the future codes should be limited to a small number, and applied to key industries upon which the prosperity of the nation depends.

The administration shelters several schools of thought as to what should be done with the NRA. The more radical members of the brain trust also are declared to stand for a simplication of the NRA structure, but with the extension of an absolute control over all industry.

There seems little doubt that Gen. Johnson will play no part in the new organization. He is willing to retire and has himself suggested the creation of a new commission, similar to the federal trade commission or the interstate commerce commission, to administer the future codes. It is deemed certain that the ballyhoo which has featured Johnson's administration will be dropped, as well as the Blue Eagle.

Would End Labor Clauses.

Strong efforts will be made by the business interests to revise or abandon completely the labor sections of the industrial act. They have collected great volumes of evidence that the bitter conflicts of the last year—at Toledo, at San Francisco, at Minneapolis, in the steel and automobile industries—have risen out of deliberate campaigns planned by communist agitators to mislead workers into a belief that section 7-A of the NIRA has given them untold powers.

The campaigns of violence have all been aimed at destroying the long established peaceful relations between industrialists and their workers, with the case at Kohler, Wis., long known as a model workers' community, providing an example of the manner in which the campaigns have worked out.

The growth of the NRA into a burocratic maze is best demonstrated by examining the codes themselves. Concentrating at first on the major industries, such as steel, coal, lumber, automobiles, and textiles, the NRA has since allowed representatives of small groups to set up hundreds of separate codes. Each code has a separate code authority, which in most cases levies taxes upon the members of the industry for its support.

A Few of the Codes.

Glancing through the official list of codes published as of June 1 by the NRA, it is discovered that separate codes have been written for the "blue crab fisheries," the "California sardine processing industry," the "Atlantic mackerel fishing industry," the "fresh oyster industry," the "wholesale lobster industry," the "canned salmon industry."

There are at least 25 separate codes dealing with branches of the paper industries, including such as "cylindrical liquid tight paper container," "fluted cup, pan liner, and lace paper," "setup paper box manufacturing," "folding paper box," "food dish and pulp and paper plate," "glazed and fancy paper," "open paper drinking cup and round nesting paper food container," "paper bag manufacturing," "paper disc milk bottle cap," "waterproof paper," "waxed paper."

Among other industries for which separate codes have been written are the following, with the titles as given in the official NRA manual:

Academic costume.
All metal insect screen.
Animal soft hair.
Artificial flower and feather.
Batting and padding.
Bobbin and spool.
Coin operated machine manufacturing.
Curled hair manufacturing.
Dog food.
Hack saw blade manufacturing.
Hog ring and ringer manufacturing.
Licorice.
Lightning rod manufacturing.
Macaroni.
Mayonnaise.
Men's neckwear.
Mopstick.
Nottingham lace curtain.
Peanut butter.
Pipe nipple manufacturing.
Powder puff.
Preserve, maraschino cherry and glacé fruit.
Private home study schools.
Raw peanut milling.
Sanitary milk bottle closure.
Sanitary napkin and cleansing tissue.
Shoulder pad manufacturing.
Spice grinding.
Tapioca dry products.
Toll bridge.
Wiping cloth.
Witch hazel.
Wood reel.

In each of these industries, as well as more than 400 besides, separate regulations are set up which all members of the industries are expected to be familiar with and to obey.

There is found a strong feeling within the administration that the NRA codes should be simplified and combined into not more than a dozen master codes for generally classified industries, with special stress being laid on the mass producers.

KOHLER AGREES TO KEEP PLANT SHUT FOR TIME

Grants Request in Hope to Preserve Peace.

Kohler, Wis., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Walter J. Kohler, president of the Kohler company, whose plant has been the scene of bitter labor warfare for three weeks, today granted the request of the Sheboygan county board to keep the shop closed temporarily, except for supplying water to the village and for maintenance and office work.

W. J. KOHLER. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The head of the company agreed to a request of the board to refrain from operation solely in the hope, he said, that it would help to preserve peace, but with expressed doubt that it would have that effect. The plant itself was not in operation Friday night, July 27, when an attack was made on it, he pointed out in a letter to C. F. Bemis, chairman of the Sheboygan county supervisors, and said that in view of that experience "there is a question whether continuing the plant shutdown will be effective in preventing further violence."

Hints Plant Removal.

It was the first time in any public expression by Mr. Kohler that the hint is raised that a continuation of rioting and failure of law officials to give the company protection in its operation may be followed by a removal of the plant.

"If this company is to continue as an employer in this community," the letter states, "it must reopen some time and it can not be closed indefinitly unless of necessity that must become the final policy.

"The demands which have been made upon us are of a character which may endanger the continued life of this industry and of Kohler village and the vital interests of Sheboygan county as a whole."

Mr. Kohler's letter disclosed the conversations last Thursday when a county board committee visited him to urge the indefinite closing of the plant.

Reviews Parley.

"You asked this," Mr. Kohler reviewed, "not on the grounds that we have no right to operate, but because the strikers demand this of you as a price of their observing the law.

"This company has and is observing all the requirements of the code applicable to this industry. The sacrifice of our legal right to operate during the last three weeks, resulting in the unemployment of 1,600 employés, was solely because we hoped it would promote a peaceful condition in the village.

"As you know, it did not have that effect and there was constant violence and unlawful conduct by the pickets from the beginning, culminating July 27 in an attack on a closed plant which did not end until the National Guard arrived the following morning.

Tells of Petition.

"The result is that those responsible for the rioting have come to believe they are entitled to have the plant remain closed.

"The duty to observe and enforce the law exists at all times and under all conditions.

"We are advised that 1,500 workers have petitioned the village authorities to be protected in the opportunity to go back to work."

The decision of Gov. Schmedeman not to order all troops out of Kohler tomorrow, but to wait until his confidential messengers report on the outlook, restored temporary confidence in the village today. There is general apprehension that rioting will follow removal of the troops, and some of the residents were making preparations to leave as soon as the soldiers did.

May Keep Some Militia.

There now is hope that at least some of the militia will be kept here until peace is restored.

There also is speculation about the reason for the withdrawal of the Rev. J. W. Maguire, regional labor board member, who has been acting as mediator and who has been outspoken in his expressions favorable to the strikers. He has been succeeded by R. H. Cowdrill, who thus far has avoided any public appearance and has denied himself to reporters.

Shotguns were issued today to members of the four troops of National Guard on duty here. There were 25 guns issued per troop. The guns are in addition to rifles, side arms, and gas bombs previously held. Word percolated through the village that a demonstration is probable from the strikers tomorrow in protest against the withdrawal of Father Maguire as mediator for the national labor board.

ONE DIES, THREE HURT WHEN AUTO HITS STREET CAR

One man was killed and another man and two women were injured last night when the automobile in which they were riding crashed head-on into a street car in front of 1706 West 69th street. No one was hurt in the street car.

The dead man is Francis Luken, 22 years old, 6833 South Ada street. He was a passenger in the automobile, which was driven by Anthony Giordano, 24 years old, of 6805 South Wood street, and occupied by Giordano's wife Sue, 18 years old, and his sister, Lillian Giordano, 26 years old, of the same address. Giordano and his wife were taken to the County hospital, suffering from cuts and bruises.

This death and one other brought the 1934 Cook county toll to 706.

Mrs. Anna Sorensen, 50 years old, died last night in her home at 9245 South Bishop street of injuries she incurred on July 21 when an automobile driven by her husband, Thomas, overturned near Cedar Lake, Ind.

A woman, identified in a dispatch as Mrs. Nan Conrad, 48 years old of Hyde Park, Chicago, was fatally injured last night when the automobile, in which she was a passenger, collided with another at Elm, N. J. She was driving toward Atlantic City with Philip Eckles, 44 years old of Philadelphia. Mrs. Conrad died at the West Jersey Homeopathic hospital.

James J. McKoskey, 47 years old, 4724 Magnolia avenue, a CCC worker stationed at Camp Grant, was killed early yesterday when the Illinois National Guard truck, in which he and several guardsmen were riding, swerved sharply on a highway near Rockford, and flung McKoskey to the pavement.

Chicago Woman Injured.

JOHNSON RESTS HERE; FARLEY IS OFF TO CAPITAL

Postmaster General James A. Farley departed for Washington yesterday after a day and a half in Chicago on a month's trip through the west and middle west to inquire into democracy's chances at the coming elections.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, however, remained in the city. He was secluded yesterday in his rooms at the Drake hotel, and was resting, according to attachés, from the strenuous two days he had in conferences called to settle the stockyards strike.

Then followed the section inviting merchants to accept the Haas-Dunnigan proposal and restore their normal business. It read:

"Vehicles owned or operated by employers who subscribe to and agree to be bound by the so-called Haas-Dunnigan proposal and such modifications thereof as may in the future be agreed to between such employers and representatives of their employés will be permitted."

Farm Produce Exempted.

Public works projects and farm produce also were exempted.

Employers still were meeting early today, but no word came from them. They went into session early last evening to consider a communication sent by the mediators which represented results of conversations with the union leaders.

That communication undoubtedly bore upon the rehiring of strikers, but its contents were not announced.

Today the Minneapolis Journal stated in an editorial that the governor has brought politics into the situation. The newspaper demanded that he give back to the people of the city the "free and lawful use of their streets."

"The Journal," it said, "has never undertaken to say that the strikers were wrong and the employers right. It does not profess to know where justice to both lies. Doubtless, somewhere between their conflicting claims a reasonable compromise is possible and highly desirable.

"But the Journal has constantly and insistently maintained that, whatever else is done, the rule of law and order should be restored, and that this community should see an end to violence and law breaking.

Demand Use of Streets.

"The first duty of a right thinking and high minded governor is to give back to the people of Minneapolis the free and lawful use of their own streets.

"His second duty is to lend the aid of his high office to effecting a fair adjustment of matters in dispute.

"And in doing these things, he should forget himself and abjure politics.

"It's high time the strike was settled."

EIGHT SHOT IN FEUD IN KENTUCKY; THREE MAY DIE; SIX JAILED

Melvin, Ky., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A shotgun and pistol battle in which eight persons were wounded, three perhaps fatally, was under investigation by Floyd county officers today. Six men were jailed in connection with the shooting and two others were to be arrested tonight.

Deputy Sheriff O. A. Stumbo said the battle started about 10 o'clock last night when a group of men fired into the Willard Johnson residence. About 100 shots were fired.

There had been bad feeling between families in this mountain community, Stumbo said, since the killing of Willard Johnson's son about three months ago. Hays Johnson, jailed in connection with the shooting, but later released, was shot and slightly wounded by an unknown assailant afterwards.

Mrs. Willard Johnson, who was critically wounded, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Kinney Johnson, and Ellen Collins were shot during the battle last night. The men wounded were Dove Newsome and Same Moore, both in critical condition; Everett Collins, Robert Stewart, and Les Collins.

DIES IN FALL OFF TANK.

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 5.—Clarence Blantlinger, 45, died tonight a short time after he fell from a water tank in the Burlington railway yards here. He climbed up the high tank after some pigeons which were roosting there.

MUSIC FESTIVAL TESTS TONIGHT FOR WEST SIDE

M'Cormack, Caruso Names Among Entrants.

BY PHIL MAXWELL.

Two young tenors, Nicholas Caruso, an attorney, 738 North Central Park avenue, and John McCormack, 2619 North Mozart street, and a charm contest winner, Mrs. Ruth Hurdle Jones, 838 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, are entered in the west side vocal preliminary competition of the Chicagoland Music Festival, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, to be held tonight and tomorrow night in the roof garden ballroom of the Midwest Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue.

MRS. RUTH JONES.

Caruso and McCormack will be heard tonight when the tenors, basses, and contraltos meet, and Mrs. Jones, who was chosen second lady-in-waiting to the queen of A Century of Progress in a campaign conducted in 1933 by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will sing on Tuesday night along with the other sopranos and baritones. Nearly 300 voices are registered for the two evenings. Tonight the contest opens at 7 o'clock and Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock. The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

Choral Guild Rehersal.

In addition to the vocal contest at the Midwest Tuesday night, Edward Chissold, vocal teacher and choral director, will hold a rehersal of the west side members of the Choral Directors' guild and the festival Hallelujah chorus in the numbers that they will sing at the festival concert Saturday night, Aug. 18, in Soldiers' field. George Lee Tenney, former president of the guild, who will take part in the festival program, also will be present.

Tuesday night contestants are asked to note the change in the time of the opening. All sopranos are requested to report not later than 6:15, instead of 6:30 o'clock, as first instructed.

The deadline for the entry of drum corps, bands, choruses, and mixed quartets in the festival contests will be tonight at 6 o'clock. Entries should be in the festival headquarters, Room 2218 Tribune Tower, at that time. The telephone number is Superior 0100, local 710.

JUVENILE [COOK COUNTY].

DIES OF HEART DISEASE.

YARDS, NORMAL AGAIN, EXPECT BIG RUN TODAY

Old Schedule Is Resumed by 800 Strikers.

Operations at the Union stockyards became normal last night as live stock handlers returned to work on their regular shifts and resumed the duties they deserted on July 24 when they went on strike.

A few men, less than 100, went to work early in the day to care for the light Sunday run of about 6,000 head of stock. By the terms of the strike settlement, arranged Saturday afternoon by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, the 800 striking drovers were to return immediately to their jobs with the Union Stock Yards and Transit company.

The first full shift of 200 men went to work shortly after 6 p. m. and was to be augmented during the night and early this morning by other shifts of stock handlers. By today all of the men were expected to be back on their former schedules, including 400 employes of the commission merchants who walked out Friday in sympathy.

Expect 54,000 Animals.

Yards officials predicted an exceptionally large run of cattle in trucks in addition to the hundreds of train carloads of stock that began yesterday to roll into the country's greatest market.

A total of 54,000 head of cattle, hogs, and sheep was expected in the yards today. That is about the normal Monday run. Of the 22,000 cattle expected, 10,000 are government stock purchased by federal agencies in the drouth areas and shipped here to be processed. The agriculture department's estimate of today's shipments included 22,000 hogs and 10,000 sheep.

Police to Depart Today.

The yards were entirely peaceful and unusually quiet as the men went back to their jobs. The district had been entirely cleared of the 550 nonunion men whom the company hired in their places. The 12 day labor controversy was signalized throughout its duration by utter lack of violence.

The police details of more than 100 men were scheduled to vacate the yards today as soon as the full force of erstwhile strikers got back on their jobs.

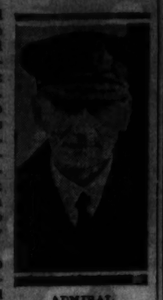
Under the terms of the settlement, Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan agreed to reënter the case as an arbitrator and to construe the award he made on May 31, after a similar strike last November. The strikers contended in their second walkout that the company had failed to comply with certain provisions of the award.

300 DIE IN FLOODS

TEHERAN, Persia, Aug. 5.—(AP)—More than 300 persons are reported to have lost their lives in a devastating flood at Firuzkuh, 75 miles east of Teheran. Many of those drowned were children, said dispatches from the district. A quarter of the town of Tabris was reported to have been swept away by a great rush of water.

HEAD OF BRITISH FLEET URGES BIG NAVY FOR CANADA

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt, recently appointed admiral of the British fleet, expressed today the hope that Canada will consider increasing her present small naval force. He believes the royal navy has not enough cruisers for the protection of the empire's merchant marine or for an effective blockade against an enemy in case of war.



ADMIRAL TYRWHITT.

He said he hoped the admiralty soon would decide to build an adequate number of additional cruisers, but intimated he would rather see the dominions providing, equipping, and maintaining their own units in their own sectors of the empire. He pointed out that Australia has a formidable force for its size with two first class 10,000 ton cruisers.

Admiral Tyrwhitt said the admiralty has persisted in the installation of "fantastic horsepower" without corresponding rewards in speed. He said post-war ships still lack adequate protection from gunfire. He was inclined to think that the importance of aircraft in defense of British cities was overrated.

"Death to Cops" Signed to Shell Found in Paris

PARIS, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A new kind of communistic manifesto confronted police today when they found a small unexploded shell in the doorway of the famous Cluny museum in the Latin quarter. About the shell was wrapped a paper on which was scribbled, "death to cops. Soviets everywhere."

2,500 SEE HOME MADE AIRPLANE CRASH; 2 HURT

Hartford, Wis., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The pilot of a homemade monoplane and his passenger were critically injured when their ship plunged into a rock pile in view of 2,500 picnickers today.

Norman Zunker, 31, builder and pilot of the plane, attempted a steep bank while flying low and the ship sideslipped and crashed.

Zunker and his passenger, Robert Courtney, 29, suffered skull fractures and broken legs. Attending physicians expressed doubt that they will recover. Both live here.

8,077 CRIMINAL TRIALS HANDLED AT $1.67 A CASE

Finnegan Praises Work of Public Defender.

The public defender's office has saved the county money in legal fees and is largely responsible for the speeding up of criminal trials, according to a report on the work of the office issued yesterday by Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court. Attorney Benjamin Bachrach is in charge of the public defender's office, which, in less than four years, has handled 8,077 criminal trials at an average cost to the county of $1.67 per case for legal services.

BENJAMIN BACHRACH.

JUDGE FINNEGAN

The public defender has handled 282 capital cases in which the law obligates the county to employ an attorney for the defendant at a cost of $250 in each case. Thus $70,500 was saved to the county. Inasmuch as the county has expended $85,000 for the maintenance of the office from July 1, 1930, to July 1, 1934, the net cost to the county is only $14,500, deducting the fees saved in capital cases. Figured on a basis of the number of cases handled the net cost for each case is $1.67.

Speeds Up Trials.

The chief justice also figures the public defender system has saved the county about $400,000 by speeding up of trials and saving jury expenses. The public defender never demands a jury trial unless his client insists. Most cases are submitted to judges on jury waivers.

In his report on the public defender system Judge Finnegan quotes from an editorial recently written in the Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology by Prof. N. F. Baker of the Northwestern university law school:

"The public defender's ability is so generally acknowledged," writes Prof. Baker, "that lawyers who have specialized in criminal practice complain that he is hurting their business because some clients who can afford to pay for counsel prefer to have the public defender if they can."

A summary of the work done by Defender Bachrach, a veteran and prominent member of the legal fraternity, is set forth in the report of Judge Finnegan. It is as follows:

Number of cases disposed of	8,077
Pleas of guilty	2,585
Jury trials	635
Verdicts of guilty	386
Verdicts of not guilty	251
Court trials [contested]	1,535
Findings of guilty	978
Findings of not guilty	907
Jury trials waived [no contest]	1,041
Number of defendants sentenced to penitentiary	2,879
House of correction	1,135
County jail	152
Women's penitentiary at Dwight	20
State farm	12
State hospitals [insanity cases]	80

Judge Finnegan in his report says it is difficult to accurately estimate the savings to the public from the public defender's office, but he lists five outstanding benefits of the system. They are:

1. Holding down the number of jury trials.
2. Avoiding numerous continuances.
3. Shortening trials by speedily selecting juries.
4. Advising defendants when the case is hopelessly against them to plead guilty and thereby save the time of the court.
5. Eliminating fees of $250 in all capital cases where the prisoner is unable to employ an attorney.

The public defender system was devised by the judicial advisory council, which has been responsible for many of the recent changes in the old cumbersome methods of criminal procedure. The council consists of Judge Frederic De Young of the Supreme court, Judge Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court, Judge Harry Fisher of the Circuit court, Attorneys John J. Healy and Amos W. Miller and Prof. Robert W. Millar of Northwestern university law school.

JUDGE FEINBERG HEADS CRIMINAL COURTS TODAY

Becomes Acting Chief Until October.

Judge Michael Feinberg today will take over the office of chief justice of the Criminal court. He was unanimously appointed by his associate judges to take the place of Judge Philip J. Finnegan, who is leaving on a short vacation trip before going back in civil court work next month. Judge Feinberg will have charge of the criminal courts until the new chief justice, Judge Denis J. Sullivan, takes charge on Labor day.

The first official act of the new chief justice will be to impanel the August grand jury this morning. The grand jury will be instructed, Judge Feinberg said, to keep at work during the month, usually a vacation month in the Criminal court, until all cases are disposed of. Judge Feinberg himself will not take his vacation until fall so that there will be no interruption in the campaign to keep the docket cleared.

Fine Court Record.

The new chief justice is completing his second year in the Criminal court. During the last year he was one of the leaders in the campaign to clean up the dockets and bring criminal cases to trial within 30 days or less. He presided over the most important trial of the year, which resulted in the conviction of the Touhy gang for the kidnaping of John Factor, wealthy stock speculator. Judge Feinberg has not been reversed by the Supreme court on any of his trials.

The retiring chief justice leaves the Criminal court calendar in better shape than it has been in its history. The records show that as of Saturday only 455 indictments are now waiting trial as compared with 886 indictments at the same time last year. This shows that not only have the judges kept abreast of the grand jury, which returns an average of 350 indictments a month, but also have disposed of 431 old indictments.

Jail Report Improves.

The county jail report shows that it has its lowest population in years. Only 759 prisoners are incarcerated in the jail, 248 of them awaiting trial on indictments and 48 waiting for grand jury action. The remainder of the prisoners are either serving jail sentences or waiting disposition of cases in the Municipal or federal courts.

Judge Finnegan also was victorious in his fight to get sufficient judges to keep the criminal courts open during the months of July and August so that cases would not pile up.

TEACHERS URGE 'HATE OF WAR' BE TAUGHT FRENCH

NICE, France, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A resolution urging that school children be taught to ignore preparations for war has been introduced at the annual convention of the National Teachers' union here.

The resolution calls for teaching "hate of war" and recommends that children be instructed to refrain from taking part in the obligatory civilian maneuvers to prepare defenses against air attacks. Action on the resolution has not been taken.

The teachers' union has been condemned by the rightist press for joining Socialists and communists in "common front" parade which sought unsuccessfully to invade a home where a phonograph was playing the "Marseillaise" while the marchers were singing the "Internationale."

WOMAN PROBATE AID CLEANING UP GLUT OF ESTATES

Number Closed Doubled for 5 Months of 1934.

Approximately 100 per cent more estates have been closed in the Cook county Probate court during the five month period since the appointment of Miss Phyllis M. Kelley as assistant to the probate judge than in the corresponding period of 1933, according to the Cook county Probate court records. The speeding of the estates closures has benefited about 5,000 persons — widows, children, and small creditors. At the time of her appointment on March 9, Miss Kelley, the first woman to serve as assistant probate judge in the court's 60 years, was assigned to the special job of closing some 18,000 to 20,000 estates which had been accumulating in the court files for the last 20 years.

PHYLLIS M. KELLEY

Find Neglect a Factor.

Many of the estates were small and therefore there apparently had been neglect on the part of the administrators, the executors, and even of the heirs or beneficiaries in closing them.

Miss Kelley said yesterday that the following results of her 5 months' work were shown on Aug. 1:

1. A total of 2,558 estates closed, as compared with 1,469 for the March-July period of 1933. (Increase of 1,089.)

2. A total of $108,232.79 collected in probate fees, as compared with $83,825.85 for March-July, 1933. (Increase of $24,406.94.)

O'Connell Cites Results.

Probate Judge John O'Connell, in his semi-annual report to the Cook county board of commissioners, three months after the appointment of Miss Kelley, stated that settlement of estates had increased 50 per cent and intake of fees $20,000 during the December-May court term.

One day last week, in addition to taking care of the newly docketed cases that came before her, Miss Kelley closed out three estates, on all of which probation had been opened more than 10 years ago.

COOLIDGE HOMESTEAD IN VERMONT MAY BE PRESENTED TO NATION

Northampton, Mass., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Presentation of the Coolidge homestead at Plymouth, Vt., to the nation as a national shrine by Mrs. Grace Coolidge, widow of the former President, has been under consideration for some time, Ralph W. Hemenway, who was Coolidge's law partner, said today. He added that nothing definite had been done about it.

Russia Joins Institute of Pacific Relations

MOSCOW, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics has joined the international institute of Pacific relations and will participate hereafter in conferences concerning problems of the Pacific ocean, it was announced today. The institute had extended several invitations to Russia. The soviet union organized a Russian council of the institute, embracing administration of the northern sea route, the institute of foreign policy, the world economy Kamchatka corporation institute for publication of a soviet world atlas, and other organizations interested in the Pacific.

AUTO THIEF SLAIN BY A POLICEMAN NEAR CITY HALL

Surprised while stealing an automobile at La Salle and Washington streets near the city hall, a Negro was shot and fatally wounded yesterday by Policeman Emmett Meagher of the stolen automobile detail of the Central station. He gave his name as William Wilson, 25 years old, no address, and was taken to the Bridewell hospital, where he died from a bullet wound in his abdomen.

Meagher and Policeman James Traut had been shadowing the Negro, who went to the washroom in the city hall. Emerging, he went to a parked automobile bearing Alabama license No. 42-988 B. With a short section of pipe he wrenched the door handle off, climbed inside, and was trying to start the car when Policeman Meagher stepped up with drawn pistol and ordered him out.

Instead of submitting, the Negro drew a knife and lunged at the policeman, who fired one shot. Meagher has been with the department for a year. He is a son of the late Police Captain Thomas Meagher, and has two brothers on the force.

TRAIN INJURIES FATAL.

FIRE SPECTACLE ON FULTON ST. DRAWS CROWDS

A spectacular blaze in the one story building occupied by the Able Box company at 1330 Fulton street last evening caused a 4-11 alarm which brought out nearly a quarter of the city's fire fighting apparatus. The building was destroyed.

Ordinarily a similar fire would be handled by a 2-11 alarm, but Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan feared that the flames from the burning boxes in the building would ignite other stores and factories. He ordered first a 2-11 alarm and then had the 4-11 signal sounded.

Flying sparks set fire to the garage of the Fulton Auto Wrecking company at 1326 Fulton street, but they were put out quickly. The dense clouds of smoke attracted large crowds from the west side of the city and special police details were sent to the scene to hold them back from danger.

Marshal Corrigan estimated the damage done at less than $2,500. He said he had not been able to determine the cause.

Borden's
Workers Are Specially Chosen to Protect YOUR MILK SUPPLY!

Untouched by hands—uncontaminated by air—the pasteurized milk is bottled and capped in vacuum in the Borden bottling plant.

BORDEN'S System of Dairy Sanitation is recognized as the most complete in the industry. It includes not only constant inspection of the herds and supervision of equipment on the farms; Laboratory tests of milk and constant supervision of sterilization and bottling, but it is narrowed down to the testing of every individual who works in a Borden plant.

Every worker is a picked individual—picked for health, cleanliness, habits and intelligence. Each is given periodical health examination to insure he or she is in perfect health.

No law requires these extraordinary requirements, but they are necessary to attain and maintain the BORDEN Standards of Safety and Quality. Such constant care and supervision costs money, but it puts security in every quart of Borden's Milk.

BE SAFE—Order your milk from the Borden Milk Man, or call BITtersweet 8600.

BORDEN'S WILL NOT SACRIFICE QUALITY TO MEET A PRICE

The eye of science checks the milk from every farm in the various Borden Laboratories. Milk must be up to the Borden super-standard or it cannot pass.

Borden's

Borden is proud of its quiet, clean, on-time delivery service.

YOU ARE INVITED to call at any one of the Borden plants. See the milk come in from the receiving stations—see how it is pasteurized and bottled. Note the immaculate cleanliness everywhere. We believe you will enjoy drinking Borden's milk even more after such a visit. You will wonder how we can sell it for 10c a quart. For appointment—call BITtersweet 8600.

Style Show to Be Trade Mecca Tonight.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Chicago's gates will swing open this week to welcome thousands of retail buyers for the seasonal convention and trade show of the interstate merchants' council. Events will be under auspices of the Chicago Association of Commerce. It is estimated that 20,000 buyers will be in the city and that sales value will increase forty per cent over last August.

Among the important activities is the style show slated for the Grand ballroom of Hotel Sherman, at 8 o'clock this evening and on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings. This review of daytime and evening, juvenile and adult, coat, dress and sports wear for fall aggregates a larger number of models from Chicago manufacturers, worn by the largest group of mannequins for any style promenade in this area in years, if not in history.

Covers Wide Range.

The fashions shown will include millinery, foundation garments and accessories, comprising the best features of new stocks of Chicago merchandisers.

A feature of the program will be a luncheon at noon today in the wholesale house of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., where actors from Wings of a Century at the World's Fair will repeat the old time shopping pageant given Saturday at Amboy, Ill., in celebration of the 80th anniversary of the founding there in 1854 of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. The original brick store front, with its fluted iron window frames and heavy shutters, has been duplicated for the occasion. Rufus C. Dawes will be honor guest. Two thousand merchants are expected to attend.

Registrations already are eighteen per cent ahead of a year ago, according to C. D. Southard, vice president of the Association of Commerce. Four provinces of Canada and thirty-one states are represented.

Clinics Will Be Held.

Merchandising clinics to be held Tuesday and Wednesday at noon luncheons will have David Owens, vice president and general manager of the J. B. Ivey company of Charlotte, N. C., and president of the National Retail Dry Goods association; John McKinlay, president of Marshall Field & Co., and W. D. Hart, retail editor of the Fairchild publications, as speakers. Mayor Kelly will welcome the guests.

More than 3,000 local firms will participate in the shows and market events of the week. They include the Chicago merchandise fair at the Palmer house; glassware, china and pottery shows, Merchandise mart; eastern manufacturers and importers exhibit, Palmer house; apparel exposition, Hotel Sherman; gift, art wares and novelty show, Merchandise mart; women's, children and infants wear show, Merchandise mart; house furnishings and electrical appliances market, Merchandise mart, and merchandise exhibit and style show, by the Chicago wholesale market council, in the Union Terminal building.

200 INJURED AS JEWS AND ARABS RIOT IN ALGERIA

CONSTANTINE, Algeria, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A fresh outbreak of rioting between Arabs and Jews resulted in injuries to 200 persons today. Twenty were injured yesterday in a similar clash.

Several Jewish stores were burned and others sacked. Reinforcements of soldiers, gendarmes, and firemen were summoned from Algiers. Order was not restored until late tonight.

The trouble was said to have started when a French Jewish soldier showed disrespect to a mosque.

IL DUCE SPEAKS TO U. S. STUDENTS; PRAISES YANKEES

ROME, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini, speaking in English to a group of American high school students, said today that he holds the people of the United States in high esteem.

Il Duce said he is deeply interested in the American people and in the manner in which they meet current problems.

The students were winners of an Italian language contest in American schools, and came here as guests of the Italian government. Theodore Roeming of Milwaukee was spokesman for the students.

SOVIETS ON GOOD WILL FLIGHTS TO PARIS AND ROME

MOSCOW, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Two official delegations left Moscow by air today to repay visits by French and Italian flyers last year. Joseph Unslicht, chief of civil aviation, accompanied by seven military aviation officials, started for Paris. They planned to land at Lövo [Hungary], Krakow [Poland], Vienna, Munich, and Strasbourg.

Chairman Eideman of the Society for Air and Chemical Defense left for Rome with four officers and a crew of 21 which manned three planes. Eideman's itinerary included Krakow, Kiev, and Vienna.

Unslicht was to repay a visit to Russia last year by Pierre Cot, former French minister for air. Eideman's flight was a return call for the Russian visit of the Italian Gen. Italo Balbo. In diplomatic circles the air journeys were regarded as being of special significance because of Russia's active efforts to bring about an eastern security pact.

ROBBERS ACCUSE HOTEL OWNER OF AIDING IN HOLDUP

All Witnesses Are Gone, Police Find.

Frank Verego, 45 years old, owner of the Crown hotel at 1659 Division street, was booked last night at the detective bureau on a charge of disorderly conduct after his implication in a robbery by two confessed bandits.

The men who declared that Verego had helped them to rob the Currency Exchange at 79th and State streets three months ago were William Hanley and Harold Edwards, who were arrested on July 29. The men admitted several holdups besides the one in which they said they participated with Verego.

After Verego had been brought to the bureau and had denied having anything to do with the robbery, Sergt. Charles Moore and his squad went to the exchange to obtain witnesses to look at the hotel man.

Light Charge Recorded.

There the police learned two of the three victims of the holdup were in Scotland, and the other had disappeared.

The police, unable to find a complaining witness, were forced to book Verego on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Records at the detective bureau show that the hotel man has several times before been accused of crimes. In 1926 he was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He paid a $50 fine. Four years later a jury found him not guilty of assault to murder.

The next notation on the police records was a year ago, when Verego was accused of murdering Peter Gallagher, a porter in his hotel, and of murderously assaulting Policeman John Payton with a pistol.

Two Fatalities on Books.

The two had sought to interfere in a quarrel between Verego and his wife and he shot the policeman four times and the porter twice.

The hotelkeeper was acquitted of Gallagher's murder when he testified in court that the porter had stepped into his line of fire as he was shooting at the policeman in self-defense.

Policeman Payton died six months after the shooting, and because a doctor was unable to determine whether he died of wounds or of natural causes a murder charge against Verego was nol prossed.

Verego's most recent court appearance was last February, when it was charged that he had beaten a roomer over the head with a pistol. The case of assault to murder was dismissed when the tenant, Abe Weiniep, failed to appear against him.

2 NEW FIRES REPORTED IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST; FIGHTERS SENT BY AIR

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Two new fires were reported today as the forest service mobilized squadrons of fighters in a drive against an expected renewal of forest blazes in the Pacific northwest.

Continued fair weather increased the fire hazard, although most of the blazes which burned over wide areas in Montana, Washington, Oregon, and parts of British Columbia last week were reported burned out or under control.

Two airplanes loaded with seasoned fighters flew from Missoula, Mont., today toward the Idaho National forest to help fight a new blaze north of McCall.

Six hundred men attacked another fire near Nelson, B. C., and had a good chance to bring it under control quickly, although it moved swiftly up a mountain side and had burned over 200 acres.

BOMB WRECKS POLICE STATION IN JUGO-SLAVIA

[Copyright, 1934, By the New York Times.]

BELGRADE, Aug. 5.—The third of a series of bomb explosions in Zagreb occurred today when an infernal machine went off inside the building occupied by the police directorate. The damage was considerable.

Shortly after the blast a man dressed as a Roman Catholic priest was arrested in a neighboring street. His actions had aroused suspicion. At the police station an infernal machine and a hand grenade were found beneath his robe.

The police say that four groups of Croat emigre terrorists were active recently on the Albanian and Hungarian frontiers. These are believed to be responsible for the outrages, which apparently have been carried out as a protest against the organized demonstrations of 40,000 sokols [slav nationalist gymnastic associations] that are now being held in Zagreb under governmental auspices. No members of these terrorist groups have yet been arrested.

REVIVES INDIAN RACIAL ISSUE IN SOUTH AMERICA

Ecuador's President Elect on Good Will Tour.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 5.—The intellectuals of South America are worshiping at the feet of one in whom they repose their faith as a twentieth century builder of Indo-American continentalism—Dr. José Velasco Ibarra, president-elect of Ecuador, now on a visit of "peace and good will" to neighboring countries before he assumes political command in Quito at the end of this month.

DR. JOSE VELASCO IBARRA. [Acme Photo.]

Dr. Velasco has already visited Colombia, Peru, Chile, and Argentina and plans to embrace more countries in his triumphant itinerary if time permits. So far it is estimated that $1,500,000 has been disbursed in whisking him round the continent to deliver his good will message and partake of Latin American hospitality. Airplane and warship fuel, presidential banqueting, special race meetings, champagne and caviar figure prominently on the big reception bill.

Preaches Bolivarism.

The new president's message was delivered in the fervor of this banqueting in each country and transmitted back and forth across the Andes to the innermost recesses of this continent. He called on all South Americans, regardless of color or breed, to rally under the standard of Indo-Americanism, which he renamed Bolivarism.

He demanded the revival of the spirit which permeated Bolivar, the great liberator, and a reconcentration of South American spiritual resources as a first step in the campaign to make this continent a self-supporting entity. He was convinced that Bolivarism, or Indo-Americanism, would be the dominant civilization of the 20th century.

There is to be no place for the United States in this new world lineup. Dr. Velasco's perspective only goes as far north as Central America and possibly Mexico and indications are that he spurns present day trends of Pan-Americanism.

Dr. Velasco is aggressively Indo-American. He takes pride in the Indian civilizations of South America. While at Cuzco he paid homage to the Incan achievements in statesmanship and a score of speeches delivered on the Pacific seaboard reflected his desire that the present day Indian should take an equal place in the fight for a new continent, detached from and independent of the rest of the world.

Praises Tarif Union.

Equador's president-to-be praised the Chilean tarif union proposal and pressed for early action to pool South American material resources.

"Let our idealism and materialism go hand in hand," he declared, adding this warning to foreign capital:

"Foreign capital is never disinterested. We must unite to tackle our own trade problems with our own resources. One of the gravest dangers for our Bolivarian group of nations is the terrible influence of the absorbent capitalism of other races that does not understand our ideals and preoccupations."

In this phrase Dr. Velasco revealed the "advanced liberalism" and "intellectual socialism" which is reputed to have won for him the recent elections in Ecuador, where he will institute a definite presidential regime following many months of provisional administration.

It is his advanced ideology that has captured the support of countless radical and intellectual organizations of South America. His gospel has stirred the whole continent and vigorous steps towards the creation of the "one great republic" are predicted after he assumes presidential office in Ecuador.

SCHENCK HINTS ACTRESS SAID 'NO' TO HIS PROPOSAL

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Joseph Schenck of Hollywood, president of Twentieth Century Pictures, would be "happy" to marry Merle Oberon, English motion picture actress, he said today. But Schenck indicated ruefully that Miss Oberon had said "no" to such a suggestion.

With all persons most directly concerned at hand, it was impossible to obtain comment on reports that their marriage had taken place or that their engagement was about to be announced.

"I think Merle is a wonderful girl," said Schenck as he came out of a swimming pool where he and Miss Oberon had been splashing in the water. "It's for her to say. She would give me great happiness if she became my wife."

Miss Oberon was less committal.

"You'd better speak to Alexander Korda. He's in charge of everything," she said, explaining that she is under a four year contract to make motion pictures under Korda's direction.

Korda, who was present, declined to comment on reports of an impending engagement. But Korda's manager spoke up, saying, "There's no truth in it." Schenck plans to sail for New York soon. Miss Oberon will return to London Aug. 9.

OFFICIAL CONEY SWIM RESULTS IN 2 VERDICTS

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Five officials of the department of health, including the acting commissioner and the superintendent of sanitation, took an official swim today at Coney Island.

The purpose was to show the public they had no fear that Coney's water was polluted.

Just as the group waded out they were greeted by a rival delegation from nearby Jamaica bay. This group, headed by George H. MacBeth, executive secretary of the Canarsie Board of Trade, had on gas masks and rubber boots.

Waters at Jamaica bay have been pronounced polluted by the health department.

"Coney's fine," said Acting Health Commissioner William K. Best as he swam.

Pulling up his hip boots and wading about, MacBeth said: "We don't want to get polluted. If Jamaica bay is polluted, Coney must be also."

2 BANDITS SLAIN, POLICE CAPTAIN SHOT, IN BATTLE

Pair Killed After They Kidnap Taxi Driver.

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Two bandits who kidnaped a taxi driver and then cruised around Belleville for five hours in search of robbery victims were shot and killed in a running gun battle with Police Captain Eugene Le Pere in the downtown business section here today.

Capt. Le Pere killed both gunmen single handed, fatally wounding the second one after the robber had shot him in the hip. The officer's wound, however, was not considered dangerous.

The gun battle, climaxed five hours of stark terror for the taxi driver, John Scheurich, during which time he was forced to drive the bandits around town and accompany them when they entered establishments they had chosen as likely places for a holdup.

Take Driver's Money.

They entered his cab as passengers and immediately placed a gun to his back and robbed him of $7. One of the gunmen then got into the front seat and ordered him to cruise about as they looked for victims.

Finally they became hungry and stopped in the Devil's Tavern, a roadhouse, where they treated themselves and Scheurich to liquor and steak dinners, which they paid for with the $7 they had taken from their captive.

They contemplated robbing the roadhouse, but after considering it as they ate they decided there were too many patrons in the place. Through with their dinner, the gunmen and their prisoner returned to the cab and drove about some more.

Finding no victims on the streets or in cars, they eventually drove to the Egyptian inn, but again they were frightened by the number of guests. Then they decided to hold up a smaller place and selected the Square E restaurant.

Officer Happens Along.

One of the men remained in the cab to guard Scheurich while the other went in to rob the restaurant. It was at this moment that Capt. Le Pere happened along. The cab driver broke from the grasp of his captor and shouted to the policeman that the restaurant was being robbed.

As Capt. Le Pere drew his revolver the bandit in the taxi sprang out and tried to slug the policeman with a blackjack. The captain shot him dead. The other bandit heard the shot and ran to the street, firing as he came. When he retreated on the run the policeman pursued him and, despite his own wound, inflicted during the exchange of shots, succeeded in felling his adversary.

SOVIET METES DEATH SENTENCES TO PAIR OF TRAIN ROBBERS

KIEV, Russia, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A railway court imposed death sentences today on men named Shevchenko and Poluvalov, convicted of being leaders of a gang which robbed trains between Kiev and Fastov. Many trainmen tried for cooperating with the robbers were given long prison sentences.

Fight Short-Weighers.

MOSCOW, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The central committee of the communist party instituted a campaign today against short weights and measures and outlined a drive on dishonest dealers. A broadside issued by the committee charges that Anastasy Mikoyan, commissar of food, the state control committee and several labor and union committees have failed to organize and supervise retail trade adequately.

The central committee's resolution urges that greater publicity be given efforts to combat dishonesty. Newspapers were asked to give prominence to trials of offenders, and the control committee was ordered to investigate a flood of charges and make a complete report to the council of people's commissars within a month.

ILLINOIS GUARD BATTLE PRACTICE, CLIMAX AT CAMP

Rival Armies to Clash at End of Week.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Officers of the state troops began today planning final details of war games for the 9,000 men quartered at Camp Grant.

Col. George C. Marshall of the U. S. army is in charge of the mimic war in which the 33d division will be engaged. There will be two opposing armies, composed of about a brigade of infantry each, that will have a problem to work out Friday and Saturday.

Drills will begin Monday. On Tuesday afternoon all officers of the division will assemble in the new George A. Bell bowl for a demonstration. On Wednesday there will be an exercise in establishment of "command posts" for brigades, regiments, and battalions under divisional command, under conditions resembling those of actual war. Communications will be established between all these headquarters as in war.

On Thursday a picked unit will lay down a barrage of rifle and machine gun fire, one pounder and trench mortar fire on the rifle range. The climax for the week will be the war game.

After each days' training program there will be entertainment. Preliminary boxing matches will begin on Monday.

Retired Policeman Found Shot to Death, Gun Nearby

Martin Uhen, 50 years old, 4405 North La Crosse avenue, who was retired from the police department a year ago, was found shot to death alongside the tracks of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad yesterday. A shotgun lay beside the body. Police said he apparently committed suicide.

Pope Pius Holds First Mass Audience at Summer Villa

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The first mass audience held here by a head of the Catholic church in 65 years took place today as 300 students of the College of Propaganda for the Faith were received by Pope Pius. The pontiff, addressing the students from the throne which has been installed in the Swiss hall of the papal summer villa, said he is regaining strength at his retreat in the Alban hills.

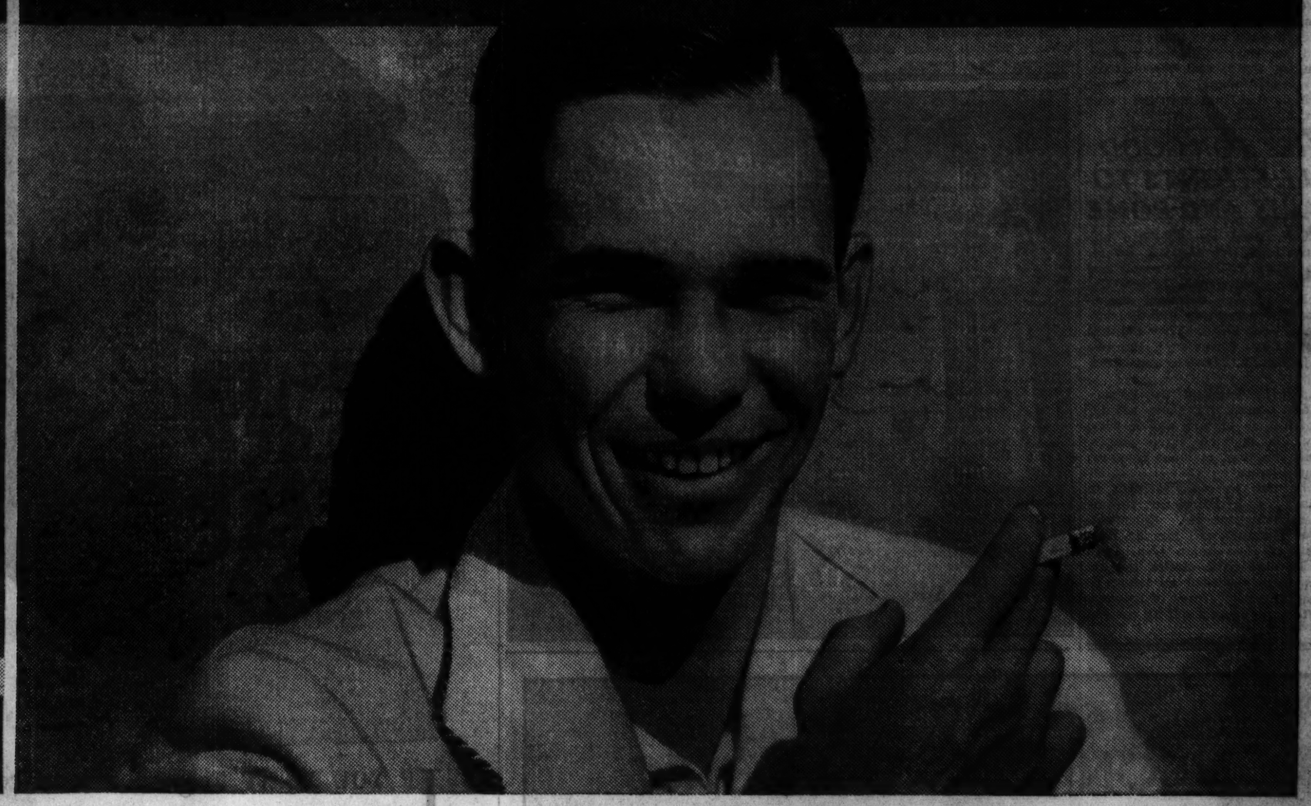
AFTER 5 HARD SETS—
—and then he Smoked a Camel!



AT THE TOP OF THE HEAP IN TENNIS! That is the enviable position of Ellsworth Vines, Jr., the spectacular young Pasadena athletic star who holds the U. S. National Championships for 1931 and 1932, and has now swept through the 1934 professional ranks as well!

YOU'LL enjoy this pleasing "Energizing Effect"
—now newly explained by Science
When you've used up your energy at work or play—smoke a Camel and notice how soon you feel your flow of natural energy snap back.
This experience, long known to Camel smokers, has now been confirmed by a famous New York research laboratory. Camel smokers enjoy a positive "energizing effect"...a healthful and delightful release of natural, vibrant energy. Millions have found this to be true. A typical Camel experience is this, Ellsworth Vines, Jr. speaking—
"Championship tennis is one of the fastest of modern sports. After four or five sets, you sometimes feel that you just can't take another step. That's when a Camel tastes like a million dollars. Not only does the rich, mellow fragrance appeal to my taste, but Camels have a refreshing way of bringing my energy up to a higher level. And I can smoke all the Camels I want, for they don't interfere with my nerves."
So, whenever you want a "lift," just smoke a Camel. You can smoke them steadily. For the finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS in Camels never get on your nerves.

DEMOCRACY NOW ON TRIAL, AVERS BAR COMMITTEE

Principles Are Undergoing Rigid Test, Report Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The standing committee on citizenship of the American Bar association today made public a report declaring that democratic institutions are on trial as they never have been since the American and French revolutions and deploring the ignorance of the citizenry and the indifference of educators concerning the history and philosophy of the constitution.

JAMES M. BECK.

The report of the citizenship committee, of which Congressman James M. Beck of Pennsylvania, noted constitutional authority, is chairman, is to be presented to the bar association at its annual meeting in Milwaukee, Aug. 29, 30 and 31.

The report made no direct reference to the New Deal legislation and said the committee had sought to avoid any involvement in the political issues "in this time of profound change and acute controversy." Nevertheless, it declared that "all political institutions seem to be in the process of dissolution" and called upon the bar of the nation to exercise its influence upon the public mind in order that the basic principles of the constitution might be preserved "so far as a changing civilization makes possible."

Analyzes 336 Replies.

The committee analyzed the replies of 336 college presidents to a questionnaire concerning the teaching of the constitution and the attitude of the faculty and students. The results, to the committee, were amazing. Virtually none of the institutions of higher learning offered courses of study in constitution for periods of even half an academic year, and many of the educators were skeptical of the value of such teaching.

"In most of the colleges and universities the course [in the constitution] is not only elective but seems to be too severely limited in time," said the report. "Moreover, its importance in the mind of the student is diminished by the fact that it is generally a mere incident to the study of American government, and it may be doubted whether the average American college student is impressed by his alma mater with the duty of an intensive study of the constitution of his country.

"It is greatly to be feared that when he leaves his college all that he has learned on this subject is relegated to the garret of his brain together with the study of the Punic wars or the downfall of the Roman empire."

Cite Some Answers.

The president of an eastern university wrote:

"None of these courses is required of students, not even the course in the law school. Indeed, our whole system is so highly elective that there are very few required courses."

Another eastern educator said:

"None of the above courses [political science and constitutional subjects] is compulsory. The faculty has now under consideration the project of a two year compulsory course in the nature of an introduction to the social sciences."

Said still another:

"Much of the constitution is of eighteenth century origin and does not meet the requirements of twentieth century civilization."

Various replies ridiculed conceptions of a "halo" around the constitution, making a "fetish" of it, or approaching it with the attitude of "an incense burner." A college president in the middle west dignified the observations of high school students who, according to the educator, said that "the teaching of the constitution is about the driest dust they are compelled to deal with."

Find Amazing Conceptions.

"Coming to a composite view of all the replies," said the report, "we find amazing conceptions of the constitution. The thought is suggested that it might be well for college presidents and faculties of some institutions of higher learning themselves to study the meaning of the constitution, whence it came and what is its philosophy and history.

"Many of the replies indicated that the constitution was expounded to the students as a desirably flexible instrument. This would be more reassuring if the committee knew what the academic definition of 'flexible' was. If it only means that the constitution must necessarily be applied in its essential spirit to changing conditions and thus be 'adapted,' to use Chief Justice Marshall's expression, then there need be no dissent to this theory of the constitution.

Wonder About Use of "Flexible."

"It is well that students be taught that while emergency cannot create new powers or lessen existing restrictions upon legislative action, yet an emergency, like that of war, may give rise to latent powers which under other conditions would not be exercised. We fear, however, that that is not what the educators mean by flexible. Probably many of them mean that the constitution ought to be whatever they believe its framers would have provided in the matter of governmental powers had they anticipated the changing conditions of our civilization. To this school of thought the constitution is only that which each generation wants it to be, in respect to current conditions."

The committee expressed the opinion that the teaching of the constitution in the elementary schools might be misdirected and ill-advised due to the character of available textbooks and the incompetency of teachers. It recommended that the children be instructed rather in the lives of such men as Madison, Hamilton, Franklin, James Wilson, Story, and Webster, as well as in the critical period between 1781 and 1789.

Would Teach Liberty Struggle.

For high school students the study of the struggles for liberty of the English speaking race for five centuries, the constitutional convention in detail, Madison's debates, the history of the ratification of the constitution and the long period of its development through usage and judicial interpretation was recommended by the committee.

The committee recommended that the national radio chains institute a national forum of the air with one hour each week for the proponents and one hour for the opponents of governmental policies.

"The forum of the air," said the report, "might well become as significant as was the forum in the times of the Roman republic. Cicero addressed thousands, but the radio has a nightly audience of millions. Such an opportunity to educate our electorate of many millions should not be wasted."

Members of the committee, besides Congressman Beck, are: L. Barrett Jones, Jackson, Miss.; George T. McDermott, Topeka, Kas., now judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the 10th circuit; Francis J. Sullivan, New York; Samuel P. Weaver, Spokane, Wash., and F. Dumont Smith, Hutchinson, Kas., chairman emeritus.

HODES SCORES SCHOOL SYSTEM IN ADDRESS TO DEMOCRAT LEAGUE

Peru, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Calling the Illinois public school system "a medieval anachronism," Barnet Hodes of Chicago, member of the state tax board, said today that he intends to recommend to the legislature next session a thorough revision of the whole organization.

"Continued toleration of 10,000 dinky, under equipped, one room schools," Hodes told the Young People's Democratic league picnic here, "smacks rather suspiciously of a political racket, inflicted on the taxpayers in the name of education.

"I do not have to mention that this situation has been maintained by the Republican organization of Illinois, which retained control of the school system despite the 1933 overthrow."

A program of greater state aid to local schools, as a means of reducing the burden on realty tax payers, is to be urged by Hodes, he said.

ONLY TWO WAYS FROM BULL RING; THIS ONE TO TOMB

MADRID, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The bullfighter's celebrated adage "there are only two gateways from the arena, one to glory and one to the tomb," was borne out tragically at Madrid's Plaza Novillada today where a bull gored and mortally wounded Pablo Sanchez, 20, a spectator.

Sanchez, a muleta in his hand, sprang from the stands into the ring seeking to attract the interest of the crowd. The bull tore open the youth's chest before professional attendants could intervene.

Previously another amateur or "espontaneo," Jose Cueva, jumped into the arena and performed skillfully before attendants got him from the ring.

Many bullfighters made their first appearances as "espontaneos," including the famous Vincente Pastor, now retired.

Bulls Stampede Crowd.

CORDOBA, Spain, Aug. 5.—(AP)—More than fifty persons were hurt today, some seriously, in a stampede of fighting bulls.

A large crowd watched the animals charging into each other in a field. The beasts, apparently excited by shouts, suddenly turned on the spectators.

The bulls were small and no one was gored, those hurt being trampled.

Joseph Rogers, 48 years old, 675 North Clark street, died at the county hospital yesterday of a skull fracture incurred in a fall on the stairs leading to his room Saturday. Rogers, who was blind, was a familiar figure to residents of the near north side, by whose charity he lived.

SIX DEMOCRATS IN KANSAS WANT GOVERNOR'S JOB

Landon Has One Opponent in Poll Tomorrow.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A six cornered race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and a one man challenge to the incumbency of Gov. Alf M. Landon on the Republican side held the interest of Kansas voters tonight.

Gov. Landon's sole opponent in Tuesday's primary is Dr. John R. Brinkley, "goat gland" surgeon, who as an independent ran third in the last two gubernatorial elections. Dr. Brinkley, whose license to practice medicine was revoked in Kansas four years ago, charged last week that Gov. Landon had received money from Ronald Finney, principal in wholesale forged bond operations uncovered here last year.

S. M. Brewster, former United States district attorney, who aided in investigation of the spurious securities swindle, was among those who declared Brinkley's charge was false.

Finney Given Prison Term.

Finney was sentenced to a long term in the state penitentiary for uttering part of the $1,000,000 in forged municipal bonds that were uncovered. The scandal has had other reverberations in the campaign, with Landon supporters crediting him with unearthing illegal acts alleged to have occurred in the administration of his predecessor, Harry H. Woodring, now assistant secretary of war.

Dr. Brinkley is 49 years old. Gov. Landon at 46 is one of the youngest chief executives in the state's history.

"When I sit back in my easy chair in years to come," he said one day recently, "I'll console myself by saying that I was governor when Kansas had the biggest bond scandal, the worst drouth, the hottest weather, the most terrific relief problems, and the most days of a legislature it ever had."

Printer Among Candidates.

Omar B. Ketchum, 36 year old printer, who has been Topeka's mayor since 1931, is among the six aspirants for the Democratic nomination for governor. One of his opponents, Charles E. Miller of Tonganoxie, campaigned principally in advocacy of repeal of the state prohibitory liquor amendment. Miller asserted the race was between himself and George E. Rogers of Wichita, a prohibitionist.

Thurman Hill, Wichita lawyer, based his campaign principally upon a plea for improved regulation of public utilities. Kirk Prather of Kansas City, Kas., a Woodring appointee to the wardenship of the state penitentiary, and Walter Eggers, a Bird City farmer, are the other aspirants.

Primary congressional races were mostly quiet. Representatives W. P. Lambertson of the First and U. S. Guyer of the Second, both Republicans, have several opponents. Otherwise Kansas' seven congressmen were without particularly active opposition. No United States senatorships were to be filled.

Missouri Votes Tuesday.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Missouri Democrats Tuesday will pass judgment for the second time on a United States senatorial war between Kansas City's "boss," Tom Pendergast, and Senator Bennett C. Clark, who two years ago routed the Pendergast forces.

A third candidate, Congressman John J. Cochran, has the support of the St. Louis administration and the state's farm leaders. With Harry S. Truman, backed by Pendergast, assured of a heavy Kansas City majority and Cochran confident of St. Louis, the two have carried the campaign into rural Missouri against Jacob L. [Tuck] Milligan, Clark groomed aspirant. Milligan, a congressman, is seeking the nomination on rural popularity and the Clark following.

Defeats Pendergast Choice.

Two years ago Clark defeated Charles Howell for the senatorial nomination. Howell was the Pendergast color bearer in that campaign.

A fourth candidate, Longstreet Cleveland of Columbia, was all but forgotten in the battle waged by the three principals. He did not make an active campaign.

WARSAW HOST TO POLES OF U. S. AT HOMECOMING

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 5.—(AP)—An American contingent of 42 persons participated today in the opening of the quinquennial convention of Polish residents abroad. There were 181 delegates from all parts of the world, the largest group coming from the United States.

The convention was organized by the "All-Poles' association," with the object of maintaining spiritual and cultural ties between the home land and 8,000,000 Poles abroad.

Sports competitions, meetings of Polish journalists working abroad, and women's youth conferences will feature the convention. In the official deliberations the Americans will be led by F. X. Swietlki of Chicago. In connection with the convention about 1,000 Poles are expected to make pilgrimages to the home land this summer.

Mississippi and Alabama in Drive Against Rabies

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Mississippi and Alabama, through their health boards, have started movements to curb an epidemic of rabies. Thirty-four cases have been reported from Bolivar county, Mississippi, in the delta section. Dr. J. H. Baker, state health officer for Alabama, is urging all municipalities to have compulsory vaccination of dogs. Alabama health officials report that rabies is more prevalent in this state than in any of the adjoining states.

Four Projects in One.

Four potentialities enumerated by the engineers are navigation, flood control, water power, and reclamation, but the heavy stress is placed on the first two. They figure it will assure a nine foot channel for navigation of the river from Sioux City to its mouth.

Except for some complaints from North Dakota, where drouth ridden farmers appear to fear the holding back of the waters may depress their water table still further than now, the region appears to be for the proposition.

Down stream some misgivings have been voiced in Omaha, Kansas City, and other Missouri valley ports. They are asking whether an earthen dam will be solid enough to hold the impounded water and what would happen if it broke and turned loose a flood such as the valley never has seen.

This feeling of alarm has been sounded in the lower valley ever since it was announced that the impounding dam would be of earth.

The army engineers scoff at the apprehensions. They say the dam will be as resistant to pressure as rock itself, almost. The dam is to be 245 feet high and almost four miles long. The artificial lake it will create will provide an impounded storage capacity of 19 million acres one foot deep, and will extend a distance of 175 miles.

The engineers point out that the earthen dam is to be half a mile wide at the bottom, tapering to a width of 100 feet at the top.

Plan Concrete Crest.

They concede that perils might exist if the surface of the mound were left exposed to the disintegrating effect of the water in motion at the surface. But they say these dangers will be removed by a concrete crest that will prevent washing and crumbling.

They say, likewise, that the soil of which the dam is to be built is such that under pressure it will knit close together solidly, sticking with all the tenacity of gumbo. Also, they point out, the prairie gives no solid base for a concrete dam. So the dam is to be of Montana mud.

Essentially this $84,000,000 dam and reservoir at Fort Peck is a navigation project to keep the stages up when the water is running low and sand bars are choking the river.

Other Cities Are Aroused.

Some critics say a nine foot depth is rather a high mark to shoot at for the muddy Missouri. But Sioux City, Omaha, and Kansas City, which have been battling for river navigation for years, are urging it, although many doubt its feasibility.

Besides, it is pointed out, to release the waters in dry seasons will improve navigation on the Mississippi below St. Louis and aid the lakes to gulf waterway.

To release the water when needed four diversion tunnels are being built, varying in length from one mile to a mile and a half. They are to have an inside diameter of 26 feet. Through these the impounded water will flow as navigation requires or whenever the reservoir seems likely to overflow. Included in the plan is a spillway to take care of flood water which might be too great for the tunnels to drain off.

Some aid against drouth is seen by the engineers in the project. This is on the theory that the impounding of the water will keep it from rushing to the sea as fast as it falls, while it will also tend by filtration through the earth to raise the water table.

President Roosevelt Hails National Parks as Historic Treasures for Whole Country

"I have been back on the soil of the continental United States for three days after most interesting visits to our fellow Americans in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the Canal Zone, and the Territory of Hawaii. I return with the conviction that their problems are essentially similar to those of us who live on the mainland, and furthermore, that they are enthusiastically doing their part to improve their conditions of life and thereby the conditions of life of all Americans.

Tells of Inspection Trips.

"On Friday and Saturday I had the opportunity of seeing the actual construction work under way in the first two national projects for the development of the Columbia river basin. At Bonneville, Ore., a great dam 140 miles inland at the last place where the river leaps down over rapids to sea level will provide not only a large development of cheap power but also will enable vessels to proceed another seventy or eighty miles into the interior of the country.

"At Grand Coulee in north central Washington an even greater dam will regulate the flow of the Columbia river, developing power, and in the future will open up a large tract of parched land for the benefit of this and future generations. Many families in the days to come, I am confident, will thank us of this generation for providing small farms on which they will at least be able to make an honest and honorable livelihood.

Thrilled By Park.

"Today, for the first time in my life, I have seen Glacier park. Perhaps I can best express to you my thrill and delight by saying that I wish every American, old and young, could have been with me today. The great mountains, the glaciers, the lakes, and the trees make me long to stay here for all the rest of the summer.

"Comparisons are generally objectionable and yet it is not unkind to say from the standpoint of scenery alone that if many, and indeed most, of our American national parks were to be set down anywhere on the continent of Europe thousands of Americans would journey all the way across the ocean in order to see their beauties.

"There is nothing so American as our national parks. The scenery and wild life are native and the fundamental idea behind the parks is native. It is, in brief, that the country belongs to the people; that what it is and what it is in the process of making is for the enrichment of the lives of all of us. Thus the parks stand as the outward symbol of this great human principle.

"It was on a famous night, 64 years ago, that a group of men who had been exploring the Yellowstone country gathered about a campfire to discuss what could be done with that wonderland of beauty. It is said that one of the party, a lawyer from the state of Montana, Cornelius Hedges, advanced the idea that the region might be preserved for all time as a national park for the benefit of all the people of the nation.

"As a result of that suggestion, Yellowstone National park was established in 1872 by act of congress as a 'pleasuring ground' for the people. I like that phrase because, in the years that have followed, our great series of parks in every part of the Union have become indeed a 'pleasuring ground' for millions of Americans.

Describes Policy, Aim.

"My old friend, Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior in the Wilson administration, well described the policies governing the national park administration when he said:

"'The policy to which the service will adhere is based on three broad principles: First, that the national parks must be maintained in absolutely unimpaired form for the use of future generations as well as those of our own time; second, that they are set apart for the use, observation, health, and pleasure of the people; and third, that the national interest must dictate all decisions affecting public or private enterprise in the parks.'

"The present national park service stands as an example of efficient and farseeing governmental administration, and to its former duties I added last year by transferring from other departments many other parks, battlefield sites, memorials, and national monuments.

"Permanent Park Policy."

"This concentration of responsibility has thus made it possible to embark on a permanent park policy as a great recreational and educational project—one which no other country in the world has ever undertaken in such a broad way for protection of its natural and historic treasures and for the enjoyment of them by vast numbers of people.

"Today I have seen some of the work of the Civilian Conservation corps boys in this northwestern country. Of the 300,000 young men in these camps, 75,000 are at work in our national parks. Here, under trained leadership, we are helping these men to help themselves and their families and at the same time we are making the parks more available and more useful for the average citizen.

"Fire Hazards Reduced."

"Hundreds of miles of firebreaks have been built, fire hazards have been reduced on great tracts of timber land, thousands of miles of roadside have been cleared, 2,500 miles of trails have been constructed, and 10,000 acres have been reforested. Other tens of thousands of acres have been treated for tree disease and soil erosion. This is but another example of our efforts to build, not for today alone but for tomorrow as well.

"We should remember that the development of our national park system over a period of many years has not been a simple bed of roses. As is the case in the long fight for the preservation of national forests and water power and mineral deposits and other national possessions, it has been a long and fierce fight against many private interests which were entrenched in political and economic power. So, too, it has been a constant struggle to protect the public interest once cleared from private exploitation at the hands of the selfish few.

"Twofold Injury."

"It took a bitter struggle to teach the country at large that our national resources are not inexhaustible and that when public domain is stolen a twofold injury is done, for it is a theft of the treasure of the present and at the same time bars the road of opportunity to the future.

"We have won the greater part of the fight to obtain and to retain these great public park properties for the benefit of the public. We are at the threshhold of even more important a battle to save our resources of agriculture and industry against the selfishness of individuals.

"The secretary of the interior in 1933 announced that this year of 1934 was to be emphasized as 'National Parks year.' I am glad to say that there has been a magnificent response and that the number visiting our national parks has shown a splendid increase. But I decided today that every year ought to be 'National Parks year.'

"That is why, with all the earnestness at my command, I express to you the hope that each and every one of you who can possibly find the means and opportunity for so doing will visit our national parks and use them as they are intended to be used. They are not for the rich alone. Camping is free, the sanitation is excellent. You will find them in every part of the union. You will find glorious scenery of every character; you will find every climate; you will perform the double function of enjoying much and learning much.

"We are definitly in an era of building, the best kind of building—the building of great public projects for the benefit of the public and with the definite objective of building human happiness.

"Better Comprehension."

"I believe, too, that we are building a better comprehension of our national needs. People understand, as never before, the splendid public purpose that underlies the development of great power sites, the improving of navigation, the prevention of floods and of the erosion of our agricultural fields, the prevention of forest fires, the diversification of farming, and the distribution of industry.

"We know, more and more, that the east has a stake in the west, and the west has a stake in the east; that the nation must and shall be considered as a whole and not as an aggregation of disjointed groups.

"May we come better to know every part of our great heritage in the days to come."

NEW DEAL DUE FOR HOT BLAST AT G. O. P. RALLY

Session at Springfield Starts Wednesday.

Illinois Republicans will go to Springfield this week for a three day party rally, starting Wednesday and reaching its climax at the state convention to be held on the following day in the Coliseum on the state fair grounds. Committee meetings will be held on Wednesday and also on Friday, the day following the convention.

"The gathering in Springfield is in the spirit of a crusade," said Justus L. Johnson, state chairman. "Almost in the shadows of Lincoln's tomb, the party Lincoln founded will consolidate its forces for the greatest battle for human rights fought since the civil war. Government by impracticable professors, regarded as radicals in their own collegiate circles, will be denounced.

"The dictatorial methods of the national administration, which have been reflected in our state government, also will be assailed. Friends of Gov. Horner have been trying to have the Republican convention refrain from telling the truth about what Hornerism has done to Illinois, but they have failed."

Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee, is expected to be the principal speaker. C. Wayland Brooks, temporary chairman and nominee for congress at large, will call the convention to order. His speech will be on "American Foundations."

Thousands of Republicans are expected to be on hand from all over the state. Several special trains will be run from Chicago.

Today a group of Cook county committeemen will meet to draft the planks that they will suggest be placed in the state platform to be adopted at the convention.

Announces 6 Day Week for Telegraphers on Railroad

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The six day week favored by the Order of Railroad Telegraphers of the Alton railroad will go into effect Aug. 19, D. J. Deasy, assistant to the vice president, announced today. Twenty new jobs will be created by elimination of the present seven day week jobs on the road.

THE DANGER SIGNALS

DANDRUFF and FALLING HAIR

Dandruff is a dangerous disease of the scalp. To consider it lightly means a losing gamble with the most vital asset of your appearance—your HAIR.

Nothing detracts more from a man's personal appearance than does thin, dry, falling and unhealthy hair—THE BY-PRODUCT OF A DANDRUFF DISEASED SCALP.

● When neglected, dandruff impedes hair growth, baldness becomes inevitable. This is because it chokes the follicle, "the opening in the scalp from which the hair protrudes." Consequently the oil glands are weakened. Hair depends upon these tiny glands for its sheen, its gloss, its growth.

The Gro-Flex Treatment (incorporating the Gro-Flex invention, a 20th century development) introduced at tremendous expense after years of research, eliminates dandruff, banishes scalp disorders, stops falling hair and makes hair grow.

TEACHERS' LOAN DATA READY FOR RFC CHIEF TODAY

Jesse Jones Is to Be Here to Confer.

Mayor Kelly and James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, made yesterday a final review of the board's application for a loan of $25,447,240 to pay seven months' overdue salaries to teachers. The mayor and Mr. McCahey are to confer today with Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, who has telegraphed that he will be in Chicago today to discuss the school loan proposal.

Mayor Kelly and the school authorities hope that the RFC chairman will announce a decision while in the city, but it is considered likely that a Washington hearing will be required.

Officials to Explain Data.

The mayor, who originated the idea of pledging school properties not used for educational purposes as additional security for the loan, will see Mr. Jones at the first opportunity today.

He will call in the board of education officials to explain fully the board's proposal, and Chicago officials of the RFC will present to their chief the survey that they have made.

"We have everything in readiness to lay before Mr. Jones on his arrival," said Mr. McCahey.

Prospects for Other Employés.

Some 17,000 teachers and civil service employés are expected to get their back pay if there is a favorable decision on the application, although it has not been finally established that the 4,000 civil service employés fall under the provisions of the school loan law.

If they do not, they will be paid from the $3,500,000 now held in the school working cash fund, but if they are included, the $3,500,000 will be used to pay all school employés for the period from June 15 to Sept. 15, which would not be covered by the federal loan funds.

Checks for the teachers, which vary from $892 to $2,261, are ready for distribution when the loan shall be an accomplished fact. The printing of the bonds cannot be completed until the interest rate is determined.

BLAMES DRINKING WHEN VISITOR FALLS TO ALLEY

An unidentified man, about 30 years old, who was found unconscious in an alley at the rear of a rooming house at 2119 North Clark street late last night, was taken to Augustana hospital in a serious condition.

Miss Helen Wolford of Beards Fork, W. Va., told Sergt. Matt Cunningham of the Hudson avenue police station the man called on her while he was intoxicated. She told him to lie down to sober up and then went to the room of a girl friend on a lower floor. While there they heard a noise in the alley and, looking out, saw the man lying in the alley.

Police believe the man may have fallen through an open window. Miss Wolford said he was introduced to her by Harry Gray, 2830 North Clark street, as his brother-in-law. Gray could not be found last night.

Couple Severely Injured When Struck by I. C. Train

P. C. Maynard, 50 years old, 2373 East Seventieth street, and his wife, Clara, 45 years old, were struck by an Illinois Central suburban train last night as they were walking across the railroad tracks at East 73d street. Physicians at the Jackson Park hospital, where they were taken, said it might be necessary to amputate Maynard's left leg. His wife escaped with severe cuts and bruises. Philip M. McGeehan, the engineer, was not held by police.

DOGS (3) TAKEN TO STATION, BUT IT'S DOGS (4) NOW

"Dog [female] and one pup taken to station from in front of 1966 Burling street," wrote Policeman Arthur Koch in the Hudson avenue station book last evening. Then he regarded the entry doubtfully and consulted Sergt. Fred O'Neil who changed the entry to read:

"Dogs [3] taken to station from in front of 1966 Burling street."

"Why don't you make it 'dogs [4]'?" queried Koch.

"Because you brought in only three," retorted the sergeant.

"And I only picked up two," rejoined Koch.

"But there were three when you got here," was the sergeant's surrejoinder.

"And there are four now," was Koch's parting shot.

Koch had been sent to the Burling street address in response to a phone call that a fox terrier mother dog and puppy were lying helpless there.

A second pup was born in the patrol wagon and a third was born at the station. The third pup was not entered in the record book because, the sergeant ruled, it was not brought there but was born there.

Wickersham Makes Call for Lower Taxes.

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Laws disfranchising all persons on public relief rolls, prohibiting the general and the sympathetic strike, limiting picketing "to the mere announcement to the public of an industrial dispute," and limiting taxes on real estate to 2 per cent of the true value are recommended in a fifteen point program adopted by the board of directors of the New York State Economic council made public today.

G. W. WICKERSHAM. [P. and A. photo.]

Other recommendations in the program include repeal of the veterans' preference clause in the state constitution, coordination of taxes to avoid duplication, and a general revision of the pension laws.

Merwin K. Hart is president of the council, which is organized in various counties throughout the state. George W. Wickersham is honorary chairman.

The distranchisement "plank" of the council's program states that "we favor the withholding from all persons receiving public unemployment relief the right of suffrage during the period in which such relief is being received."

Mr. Hart, in explaining that recommendation, said that "if the millions now receiving relief should organize, as some have already done, and wield the power of organized voters, they could hamstring any effort to bring about economic recovery.

"Sooner or later," he continued, "this measure will have to be adopted to prevent the taxpayers becoming practically the slaves of those on our relief rolls."

"Business recovery cannot come until taxes are reduced," Mr. Hart continued. "The sooner people awake to this fact, the better." He attacked a "system of government which, unless halted, will eventually lead to state bankruptcy and general dissolution."

Charles M. Schwab Well After Indigestion Illness

Loretto, Pa., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Charles M. Schwab, retired steel magnate, has entirely recovered from an attack of indigestion which confined him to his bed several days last week. "Mr. Schwab is as good as ever, and is going about his duties," Dr. Daniel F. Rice, Ebensburg, his physician, said today.

1933 PERSONALTY TAX FOR BANKS IS CUT IN HALF

The 1933 personal property assessed valuation of Cook county banks has been reduced $24,700,242 below the 1932 assessment, according to the county assessor's records. Despite this reduction, it was estimated yesterday that the total personal property tax valuation in the county would be slightly higher than in 1932, when it was $982,105,388. The exact figure for 1933 will not be known until the end of the week, when the assessment is expected to be completed.

Deputy Assessor O. L. Altman, in charge of bank assessments, said yesterday that the 1933 personal property assessment for the county's 84 banks was placed at $25,474,957. This compares with the 1932 bank assessment of $50,175,199, when 100 banks were assessed.

A table showing the reduced assessments and the reduction in the number of banks in the county since 1930 follows:

	No. of banks.	Total assessment.
1931	281	72,973,396
1932	100	50,175,199
1933	84	25,474,957

A comparison of the 1933 personal property assessment for some of the loop banks with the assessment for 1932 follows:

	1933.	1932.
Continental Illinois	$9,015,000	$24,750,000
First National	5,250,000	8,000,000
First Union Trust	784,000	3,200,000
Harris Trust	3,672,000	3,000,000
Northern Trust	1,991,100	1,590,000

The assessor said that the last of the 1933 personal property assessments would be mailed this week.

Grocer Slays Daughter and Wife, Then Kills Self

Florence, Colo., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Tony Zarlengas, 50, shot and killed his wife and daughter and then committed suicide here today. Using a revolver, Zarlengas instantly killed his daughter Mary, 22, in his grocery store, and his wife, 45, as she fled.

PREACHER HELD AS ABDUCTOR OF CHOIR SINGER

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The four day love idyl of a young Methodist minister and a 17 year old choir singer came to an abrupt and unromantic end today when the Rev. Frank Clough, 31, of Catskill, N. Y., was jailed on the charge of abducting Evangelyn Edson, also of Catskill, in spite of her protestations that she left home willingly.

Perfectly legal and moral marriage was their aim when they eloped from Catskill last Thursday, the pair explained to Police Lieutenant John H. Cassidy, but the Connecticut law requiring five days' residence proved a barrier. They decided to register at a Bridgeport hotel as man and wife and get the benefit of clergy tomorrow.

"I love Frank and I will marry him yet, no matter what happens," Evangelyn declared tearfully in her room at the Bridgeport Protective association, where she is held without charge at the request of her parents.

"Our only sin was that we loved each other and didn't have a lot of money," the Rev. Mr. Clough said, pacing his cell in city jail.

CUTS ARM ON WINDOW, DIES.

Thrusting his arm through a window in the building at 1309 North Campbell avenue early yesterday, Adam Kolcz, 19 years old, 1304 North Campbell avenue, a laborer, incurred injuries that caused his death from loss of blood several hours late at St. Elisabeth's hospital.

Cuts Shoes Off Man Dozing in Park Just to "Get Even"

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Garfield Johnson, 49, Negro, admitted in court today that he cut the shoes off men sleeping in Central park. He told Magistrate John J. Goldstein he wanted to "get even" with someone who cut off his shoes as he dozed on a park bench some weeks ago. Johnson was arrested when an intended victim awoke and chased him into the arms of a patrolman. Petit larceny was the charge.

Kills Self with Pistol of Son-in-Law Policeman

Ernest Lampe, 61 years old, 6842 West Roosevelt road, Oak Park, father-in-law of an Oak Park policeman, shot and killed himself in his home yesterday afternoon. Policeman Edward Plotter, the son-in-law, found the body when he and his wife returned from a walk. He said Lampe had been despondent over ill health. Lampe used Plotter's service revolver.

"Give me but the liberty of the press and I will give to the minister a venal house of peers. I will give him a corrupt and servile house of commons. I will give him the full swing of the patronage of office. I will give him the whole host of ministerial influence. I will give him all the power that place can confer upon him, to purchase up submission and overawe resistance; and yet, armed with the liberty of the press, I will go forth to meet him undismayed. I will attack the mighty fabric of that mightier engine. I will shake down from its height corruption and bury it beneath the ruins of the abuses it was meant to shelter."

—Richard Brinsley Sheridan.

DISSENT UNDER THE NEW DEAL.

Nothing is more characteristic of the New Dealers than their attitude toward criticism and dissent. Nothing is more apparent than that among the errors of the old deal which the New Deal proposes to get rid of is the right of citizens to speak their minds on public issues and public measures. That is one of the few things about the New Deal that is in fact new, at least in this country, for from the beginning of the nation it has been assumed by the American people that their public affairs are to be carried on upon the basis of free discussion, a method inherited from centuries of practice in the art and evolution of free government at home and in the country from which the founders of the republic derived their knowledge of government.

Public discussion, just and unjust, mild and violent, wise and unwise, has been with the American people a fundamental of political thought and action up to the threshold of the New Deal. It carried the American people through the war for independence, through the conflict of Federalist and Democrat in the violent birth of the party system, through the great constitutional debates preceding the civil war and through that ordeal, through reconstruction and the party struggles during the era of industrial development in the east and agricultural development in the west, through the Spanish war and the entrance of the United States into world politics, and through the world war and its aftermath up to the arrival of the New Deal. In all this march of the American people, in spite of differences both wide and deep, in spite of passionate convictions and loyalties, and even rancors, there has never been serious thought among responsible leaders or responsible citizens that differences and their free expression were not normal or indeed inevitable in the free society we had framed and maintained.

It must be admitted that one exception appeared in the recent experience of American politics. At the beginning of national prohibition there was an effort to overawe criticism and dissent by the ancient appeal to odium theologicum. For a few years every criticism of that experiment or of its most dubious manifestations was ascribed to moral turpitude and every objector held up to moral condemnation as a shameless victim of appetite and advocate of drunkenness and vice. But this folly could not survive in the air breathed for generations by free Americans and quickly passed. With the coming of the New Dealers we have something like a revival. Again criticism and dissent are contemned as hardly less than treason. Neither the President nor the other protagonists of the New Deal can tolerate difference even as to measures confessedly experimental and obviously of at best mixed results without accusing dissenters of ulterior or condemnable motives. We need not go back to the President's charge that the insistence of American newspapers upon an explicit reservation of civil right in the newspaper code was bogus and in reality intended to protect them in the employment of child labor, the occupation of fire traps and other evils he did not and could not show they were guilty of. We have only to turn to his speech before leaving on his vacation voyage when he declared that those who expressed dissent from his estimate of the beneficence of the administration's accomplishments were composed first of those who seek political privileges and second those who seek special financial privileges—a selfish minority which "will always continue to think of themselves first and their fellow beings second."

A few days ago we heard from Brain Truster Tugwell in the same spirit and to the same effect. Dark conspiracies to defeat the angels of light are for Tugwell, Wallace, and their co-laborers the only explanation of protest and dissent. And latest we have the blusterous boss of NRA broadcasting a mud slinging tirade against newspapers which do not approve him and his works. The intent, as Dean Ackerman told the California Publishers' association the other day, is to "undermine public confidence in news and substitute government opinion for public opinion. What Gen. Johnson wants is a press which will take orders, a press which is united for the government and by the government, edited by government yes men who will suppress every opinion not approved by an American made dictator of propaganda."

Certainly nothing could better demonstrate the need for the service to the nation of a free press than the extraordinary estimate of NRA accomplishments and of present conditions in the United States which the Johnson pronouncement broadcast from A Century of Progress on Thursday. These remarkable allegations will be discussed another day. That its author should expect them to be swallowed meekly under a barrage of abuse of independent American newspapers is characteristic of him and, in less violent expression, of other protagonists of the New Deal.

The New Dealers in fact have from the first attempted to overawe dissent and suppress free debate. They have set up a system of propaganda for their own purpose unequaled in our history in time of peace, and they have succeeded at least in accomplishing a state among Americans directly affected by the new laws and regulations, of virtual terrorism. It will not prevail. Never in the history of this nation has there been a plainer need for free discussion of the theories and activities of government, for publicity and protest, for the lawful defense of the rights and interests of the citizen and the courageous assertion of principle. This should be acknowledged especially by a régime which without prior mandate confessedly has departed from American ways and boasts its intention to accomplish a revolutionary transformation of American institutions.

MORE FOREIGN LOANS.

Mr. George N. Peek announces from his desk in Washington that his Second Export-Import bank is now prepared to finance American exports to all corners of the globe. Mr. Peek's First Export-Import bank was set up to finance Russian trade, but hasn't been permitted to do so because the Russians have not settled their debts to this country and the Johnson act forbids loans to defaulting nations. The Second bank was started for Cuban trade, but its field of operations has now been extended to include the whole world.

Mr. Peek's desire to stimulate the export trade of this country is commendable, but it is difficult to believe that his Second bank will succeed in doing much besides add another burden to the taxpayers' load. There is at present no great lack of banking facilities for financing sound foreign sales. Where the risk is not great credit is available at moderate cost. Where the risk is great credit is not available and ought not to be. This country has already gone through the painful experience of being refused payment for the goods it sold to the allies during the war and there is no good reason for duplicating that experience in time of peace.

Mr. Peek's announcement says that "we will, wherever possible, supplement the activities of existing export and import credit facilities rather than compete with them." That being so, the chances are that the government will get no share of the best credits and all it can be induced to take of the poor ones. On exports of fabricated goods Mr. Peek's bank will advance up to 75 per cent of the total credit or the net delivered price, whichever is lower. That can very easily result in an appropriate mark-up of the net delivered price by the sharp exporter. He will get all the goods are worth from Mr. Peek's bank and let Mr. Peek attend to the little matter of getting more than they are worth from the customer abroad. The taxpayer will be well advised to take another hitch in his belt.

While Mr. Peek's intentions are no doubt admirable, his experience in the field of foreign financing can scarcely be regarded as adequate preparation for the task he is now undertaking. Before the Roosevelt administration he had been in the farm implement business and when that went sour he became a propagandist for one or more schemes of farm relief. There is probably no field of finance in which the amateur has less chance than in foreign banking. If Mr. Peek is permitted to go into this new scheme of his in a large way one hitch in the taxpayer's belt may not be enough. Two or three would seem to come closer to the requirements.

NEW SEA POWERS.

Inasmuch as the league of nations covenant provided that the British empire should have six votes, recognizing the dignity of the self-governing dominions of the commonwealth, it would seem to have taken the British statesmen a long time to see the consistency of applying this principle to the naval ratio agreement. The oversight has been remedied. The Indian government finds a need for ten warships to protect the coast.

Before the ratio days Australia contributed cruisers to the national defense, one of which brought the career of the German Emden to an end. The matter was broached in Canada, but better judgment prevailed when it was considered that in all probability the United States fleet would be governed by a policy which could not disregard an attempt against the Canadian coast line. This was all before the days of naval limitation. In the ratio Great Britain is one thing, India another, Australia a third, etc.

The suggestion will not be lost upon Japan. Manchuria is now, as Japan tells the world, an independent nation. It may need a fleet almost as great as the Japanese fleet, and if a few more ships are needed Formosa might be recognized as a dominion. The United States may be obliged, in the end, to make Porto Rico the great naval power of the Atlantic and Hawaii the naval sovereign of the Pacific.

ASSUMING THERE ARE SOME STILL IN—[Des Moines Register.]

"Another gang of five convict desperadoes—by their records as gun-handy as any of the group associated with the late John Dillinger—escaped mysteriously from Indiana state prison here Saturday."—Michigan City, Ind., dispatch by Associated Press.

Making suggestions about the handling of news to the efficient and reliable Associated Press is no doubt presumptuous.

But in the specific case of Indiana prisons, might it not be more up to the minute reporting to start telling, not how many convicts have escaped each time, but how many are still left in jail?

SONG OF THE SHEPHERD.

I shall watch the golden moonlight
As it lights each little town
Tonight from my home on the mountain
When the sun goes slipping down.

For who was there caught napping
When whispering winds were warm,
When twilight settled mistily
And fairies lent their charm?

All sound is hushed at eventide
In hamlet, cove and town:
Ah! Who would not be dreaming
When the sun goes slipping down.

Don Juan de Barcelona.

WE NEVER COULD UNDERSTAND "Blue Monday" laments. True, it's back to work after the week-end of recreation or rest, perhaps recreation and rest, but if one enjoys one's work, is interested in it, that's no reason for blues. Besides that, it's the start of building up another pay envelope to replace the contents of one which disappeared over the week-end. And that's no cause for blues, either, as we see it.

"Blue Monday" is a figment of the imagination. It has no more reason than "Blue Tuesday" or any other day, so we're going to abolish it so far as this column is concerned, consign it to the cannery, and just smile as we contemplate this week of pinch hitting while R. H. L. gazes upon that 3,000 miles of water off Nantucket.

WERE WE EMBARRASSED? Gaar Williams, whose niche is next door to the Wake-Line sanctum, just came in and asked, "Did you ever eat any chink-o-pins like we had down in Wayne county?" You see, Gaar and the present Wake-Line both are Hoosiers and we didn't like to admit we didn't have chink-o-pins—if that's the way to spell it—down in Clay county or that we never ate any, so we replied:

"Ive eaten plenty of 'pawpaws,' but I don't seem to remember the chinks. What are they like?"

"I don't remember," answered Gaar.

"How do you spell it?" we asked, now emboldened.

"I don't know," replied Gaar, acting a little embarrassed himself.

But now we wonder if he was spoofing us. Can any fellow Hoosier help out by informing us privately what a chink-o-pin is and how to spell it?

THE HOW OF BLOOD PRESSURE.

BLOOD pressure that varies from the normal is not a disease. It may be and usually is a symptom of disease and indicates a disturbance of some body function.

Any fluid in a system of pipes [arteries and veins] will be under pressure originating at the pumping station; otherwise the fluid will be at rest. In the vessels of the living body the circulation of the blood depends upon several factors: the pumping power of the heart, the quantity of circulating blood, the elasticity of the blood vessels, and the resistance against which the blood must be pumped.

It is obvious that the push of the heart must be sufficient to force the blood to the furthermost cells of the body. It is also obvious that if there is an increased resistance due to contraction of blood vessels, particularly the fine terminal arteries and capillaries, the heart will have to give a stronger push to the blood stream in order to fill those vessels. In such circumstances blood pressure will be increased.

In addition to the elastic character of arteries the small arteries [arterioles] are generously supplied with muscle fibers that have the power of contracting or relaxing and hence of lessening or increasing the size of these vessels. This power is not under the control of the will, but is governed by the sympathetic nervous system. Under excitement the face may become very red, indicating that expansion of the skin capillaries has occurred. In the presence of fear the face may become blanched, showing that the muscular fibers of the arterioles have contracted, practically stopping the flow of blood to the skin.

Nature has a way of compensating for the lack of function of any part of the body. For example, if the energy output of the heart increases, skin blood vessels may dilate, thus maintaining the pressure at normal levels. If the heart is not functioning with normal efficiency skin vessels may contract in order to equalize pressure. Blood loss, as from hemorrhage, is sometimes compensated for by marked contraction of the arterioles all over the body.

When any important part of the mechanism of circulation fails to function we may understand the reason for either low or high blood pressure. For example, low blood pressure may be due to chronic valvular disease of the heart that reduces the amount of blood forced into the circulation, to disease of the heart muscle that weakens the stroke, to relaxation of the walls of the arteries, to some disease of the sympathetic nervous system, to the loss of certain glandular secretions such as that from the adrenals, and to nervous debility and exhaustion.

Increased or high blood pressure may frequently be traced to the added load placed upon the heart, to which the heart responds to the limit of its power. There is an added heart load whenever food is taken to excess, when the individual is obese, when worry or other nervous manifestations maintain the arterioles in a state of contraction, when there is disease such as arteriosclerosis narrowing the caliber of the vessels, and when diseases of important organs such as the kidney obstruct the free flow of blood.

Naturally, with age, overexertion, exposure, lack of sleep, and worry, blood vessels lose their elastic quality and higher pressures result. To lower blood pressure appreciably in persons past middle life may not be safe. The individual has accustomed himself to a higher pressure, and body functions are maintained in many persons only at this increased level. In younger individuals a decided increase in blood pressure is a problem that must be solved before permanent changes have occurred in the walls of the vessels.

HARDENING ARTERIES.

D. K. writes:

1. What is the cause of hardening of the arteries?
2. Is it possible to cure?
3. Could it be checked against progress by certain diet?

REPLY.

1. Hardening of the arteries is sometimes a manifestation of age. It has been well said that a man is as old as his arteries. Disease toxins of any sort, excessive use of alcohol, or tobacco are usually listed as causative factors. Worry, overwork, lack of sleep, and too much food also play an important part.
2. Only to relieve. Damage done cannot be repaired.
3. A diet low in calories but sufficient to maintain body functions is advised.

TAKE CARE.

W. G. writes: I am 24 years old and am only 5 feet 3 inches tall. I am inclined to believe that my shortness is hereditary. I have heard there is a method of stimulating the pituitary gland in order to increase height.

REPLY.

Glandular extracts should be given with great caution. Attempts to use these extracts for the purpose of increasing height are as yet experimental.

LOAN APPLIED FOR.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Friend of the People.]—I would appreciate any information you might be able to give me regarding the closed Kimball Trust and Savings bank, 3600 Fullerton avenue. I filed claim on March 12, 1932, and have not heard from the bank since. A. A.

Please be advised that the receiver is endeavoring at this time to secure a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation so that a dividend might be paid to creditors. We are in hopes that this loan will be consummated within the next few months, at which time you will be notified accordingly.

CLEAR TITLE.

If I sell, will I have to go to the expense of having same made out now? I am middle aged and the property referred to is in Illinois.

ILLEGAL CONTRACT.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About three years ago I tried to get on the police force. I gave $300 to a public official connected with the police department at that time, with the promise I'd get on the force. The administration changed shortly after that. Said official lost his position. I have no receipt from him. I'm trying to recover my money. Could I take him to court? S. H.

The implication is that you were paying him to exert improper influence. If so, you were a party to an illegal contract and consequently you would not be entitled to relief through the courts.

CONTINGENT BENEFICIARY.

Rock Island, Ill., July 15.—[Friend of the Insured.]—I have a life insurance policy naming as beneficiary a relative of mine who recently died. I would appreciate your letting me know what I should do in this case. I would like a prompt reply. A. B. M.

Generally speaking, it is advisable that any person taking out life insurance should name a contingent beneficiary, which in your case would have provided for an occurrence such as you relate. This can be done at the time the policy is taken out or at any subsequent time, for that matter. A person, the estate, an institution or contingent beneficiary may be some object in which there is an insurable interest. Under your circumstances we would suggest, in fact, you should name another beneficiary, notifying the company, so they may amend their policy; otherwise the proceeds of your policy at maturity will be paid to your estate, which means probate cost and other expense in order to make final disposition of the insurance, which procedure you may wish to avoid, and which can be avoided if you name a contingent beneficiary.

From Across the Sea

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Curious facts have just been made public for the first time in the "census of occupations" for England and Wales in which women are revealed more than ever to be jacks of all trades.

At the time the census was taken there was just one woman street car motorman, but there were 16 women employed as gunsmiths, 16 as plumbers, 27 as dock laborers, 422 as bookmakers, 508 as saddlers and harness makers, one as a stock jobber, seven as stock brokers, 19 as chief constables, inspectors and superintendents of police, three as navigating officers and pilots, and one as a gamekeeper.

Two married women registered as firemen, 49 as carpenters, 30 as masons, 20 as wheelwrights, 204 as ministers of religion, 2,610 as doctors, 116 as solicitors, and 205 as professional engineers.

There were 5,606,043 women following occupations and 13,247,333 men. Married women at work numbered 896,702. One popular belief that all stenographers are young was dispelled by the figures. Of the 212,296 typists when the census was taken 26 were over 75 years old. There were also 75,000 men and 19,364 women 75 years of age or older who were still following various occupations. It was found that England was earning its living in something like 35,000 different occupations.

The foreign population totaled 183,869 persons. At the last census in 1921 foreigners in England numbered 230,134 persons. The country from which the largest number came was Poland with 31,423 men and women. Russia came next, followed by Italy, Germany, America, and then France. The foreigners in England came from more than thirty-six countries. Thirty-eight men and 37 women were born at sea and had no nationality.

THE GOVERNMENT AS EMPLOYER.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—While I did not accept the Democratic platform 100 per cent, there was one plank in it with which I heartily agreed, the one pledging economy in government. How it has been carried out we all know.

However, there has come to my attention an attempt at economy in the midst of all this wanton waste which I feel is worthy of comment. I just had a visit from a young man who is looking for a job, having been discharged by the government.

We all know how the government has been insisting that industries keep their employés on the pay roll and find more jobs for the unemployed whether they are needed or not. We know many firms who are losing money rather than discharge employés whom they do not need. This young man, and I understand many others, was just discharged for the sake of economy from the United States air corps, the nation's most valuable arm of defense. The government has spent a great deal of money training these flyers and certainly needs them more than it needs CWA or PWA workers, or the hundred thousand special census takers, but while telling other employers to keep up and increase employment it is turning loose these trained army flyers to join that other army of the unemployed; and this in the name of economy.

At the same time these boys are walking the streets looking for jobs, the President and his sons are on a vacation trip at public expense, the cost of which would pay the salaries of 200 of these army flyers for more than a year.

What a wonderful place to practice a trifling economy while wasting billions, and what a fine example to industry to back up the plea that they keep up and increase employment. Consistency, thou used to be a jewel.

G. H. Van Cleve.

AS DANIEL WEBSTER PUT IT.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 1.—As American citizens it is worth our time and thought to turn to the following statements made by Daniel Webster:

"If disastrous war should sweep our commerce from the ocean, another generation may renew it; if it exhaust our treasury, further industry may replenish it; if it desolate and lay waste our fields still under a new cultivation they will grow green again and ripen to future harvests. It were but a trifle even if the walls of yonder capitol were to crumble, if its lofty pillars should fall, and its gorgeous decorations be all covered by the dust of the valley. All these might be rebuilt. But who shall reconstruct the fabric of demolished government? Who shall rear again the well proportioned column of constitutional liberty? Who shall frame together the skilful architecture which unites national sovereignty with state rights, individual security and public prosperity? No, if these columns fall, they will be raised not again. Like the Coliseum and the Parthenon, they will be destined to a mournful, a melancholy immortality. Bitterer tears, however, will flow over them than were ever shed over the monuments of Roman or Grecian art; for they will be the remnants of a more glorious edifice than Greece or Rome ever saw, the edifice of constitutional American liberty."

Gordon Foster.

THE PROFIT IN CIGARETS.

Chicago, July 25.—Gen. Hugh Johnson has arbitrarily placed the retail code price of the popular brands of cigarets at 12½ cents per package of twenty cigarets. As the small retailer pays 11½ cents for these cigarets there will soon be no cigaret question—neither will there be a small retailer. I am almost inclined to believe there is an element of truth in Clarence Darrow's assertion, "The code favors the large dealer."

The manufacturers' list price of these cigarets is $6.10 a thousand, or $1.22 a carton of ten packages. The chain stores, acting as jobbers, receive a discount of 10 per cent. This makes the cigarets cost them 11 cents a package. The small retailer is compelled to buy from a jobber, and pays the list price, less 5 per cent. The cigarets cost him a fraction more than 11½ cents a package.

There is also a further discount of 2 per cent, but this does not enter into the case, as the state demands that under the retailer occupational tax law. There is also a city license of $100 a year.

Personally, what the chain stores charge is none of my business. It concerns only the buyer and seller. I do object, however, to a high salaried government official, head of a very expensive bureau, using his official position to put me out of business.

I might add I am nearly 70 years old and nearly blind. For the last few years I have conducted a small store in an effort to support my wife and myself. Now, caught between taxes, licenses, and codes, I am of the opinion I shall soon have to join the "emergency relief brigade." R. W.

MR. WALLACE'S HI-BRED CHECK.

Chicago, July 30.—Your front page news story in The Sunday Tribune on Secretary Wallace and his AAA largess was a knockout. It's that kind of conduct in high office which inspires municipal graft and corrupt high finance. Until it is exposed and removed, calling attention to petty pilferings from public funds and private purses is wasted energy. Friend of the People.

Racine, Wis., July 31.—Why all the Wallace corn stories, corn editorials, corn cartoons and corn this and that? You've had dozens of them—what does it amount to? Surely this is disgusting to many of your readers other than to me.

Get out and do something constructive. Take a few cracks [without blaming the present administration] at the Reds, for example, who apparently are at the bottom of all these strikes—not forgetting your own back yard, the Chicago stockyards. J. Nelson.

STATE WILL ASK MURDER CHARGE AGAINST BOY, 13

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Illinois police and juvenile authorities today were confronted with another "problem boy" in the death of 11 year old Ray Wilder of Auburn.

Locked into a cell in the Sangamon county jail was 13 year old Billy Atares of Chicago, who admitted the killing, three days ago, but insisted that it was an accident for which he is "very sorry."

Nevertheless, State's Attorney Albert H. Greening said today that Billy's case will be taken to the grand jury when it meets next month and that a murder indictment will be asked.

The shooting, Greening said he believed, was not accidental and its motive was Billy's desire for a grown-up revenge on a "squealer." Ray, companions told Greening, said that Billy had broken into the Cherry Grove school house at Auburn and into the Auburn farm home of Dennis Handy.

Steal Gun at Farm.

From the school house they took books and from the farm the shotgun with which Ray was slain.

In some respects the case parallels that of 12 year old George Rogalski of Chicago, the "problem boy" who lured 2 year old Dorette Zietlow into an abandoned ice house to satisfy his curiosity, then left her to die of exposure. Rogalski was sent to state's prison for ten years, but sociologists do not consider the case closed.

Billy, said Greening, has been before the Juvenile court in Chicago for bicycle theft. Instead of a full, frank statement of the case, such as Rogalski made, Greening said that Billy has shown an almost adult skill in parrying questions, familiarity with the technique of crime evasion, an indomitable argumentativeness, and a general coolness under police grilling that would do credit to a well matured gangster.

Boy Isolated in Jail.

Billy, Greening said, sits alone in the jail, isolated from all other prisoners, and from 12 year old Jack Beam of Auburn, held as a material witness. Both boys were at first put into a cell together, Greening said, but he added: "Billy flew at him, accusing him of talking too much."

When the shooting occurred, Greening said Beam told him, Billy turned to Beam and said:

"Stay with me in this, now; we'll say it was an accident."

The killing occurred on a railroad embankment near Auburn, where Billy and Jack had been hunting squirrels with the stolen shotgun. Ray came along, Beam said, and Billy hid the gun, but told Beam he was going to beat up Ray for telling about the schoolhouse robbery.

Victim Shot in Head.

Ray defied him, Beam said, and Billy got the gun out of the bushes. Somehow the gun was discharged and Wilder took the full charge in the head.

Billy's mother's name was given as Mrs. Ray Kenoff, 2817 North Damen avenue, Chicago. His stepfather was reported to be a cab driver in Chicago. Mrs. Kenoff was in London, Ont., when she wired for details of the affair, adding that she had no money to go to Springfield.

Billy has been visiting Mrs. Joseph La Panja of Auburn, a cousin of his mother.

GASOLINE TAXES 25 PCT. OF STATE REVENUES IN 1932

New York, Aug. 5.—Gasoline taxes accounted for nearly one-fourth of the total revenue obtained by states in 1932, according to a compilation by the American Petroleum Institute from figures of the department of commerce. One state, Florida, received 56 per cent of its total revenue from gasoline taxes.

The aggregate income of all states for that year, the latest for which revenue figures are available, was $2,150,182,297, and of that amount state gasoline taxes produced $511,011,742, or 23.7 per cent. Figures for the District of Columbia are not included.

State gasoline taxes in Ohio amounted to almost one-half, or 48.3 per cent, of total revenue. Eight other states collected from 31 to 38 per cent of their total revenue from this source. They are Georgia, Illinois, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, and Tennessee.

SEVEN FLOOR FALL FATAL.

Injuries incurred Aug. 2 in a fall from the seventh floor window of the Guyon hotel, 4000 West Washington boulevard, yesterday caused the death of Nicholas Sawkins, 24 years old, 2316 North Clark street, a window washer.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

Drouth Slashes Crop.

Aug. 5, 1934.

CLARENCE THUROW, manager of the experimental farm, has just written in his record book another item which shows what the 1934 drouth is doing to farm crops. After checking up on the yield of oats, Clarence finds that he has about 990 bushels from 110 acres. In other words, the drouth has brought about "crop reduction" on the experimental farm to the extent that just about one-fourth to one-sixth of a normal crop of oats has been harvested. Ordinarily Clarence can expect anywhere from 40 to 60 bushels of oats from an acre, providing that rainfall and other weather conditions are normal. Contrast these figures with a nine bushel per acre record this season and one gets a pretty good idea of how the drouth leaves a short crop behind it.

Another interesting fact about this year's oat crop is the relative weight of a bushel of oats taken from the fields this year as compared with a bushel of this grain grown in a normal year of rainfall. A bushel of "drouth" oats weighs only 18 pounds, whereas the average bushel of oats of standard weight tilts the scales at 32 pounds. In other words, the dry, hot weather has prevented the kernels of oats from filling out.

Clarence was commenting yesterday on how different the countryside looks this season as compared to years when field crops were being harvested under normal conditions all through the Fox river valley.

"I could look out across the rolling prairie at about this time of the year," said Clarence, "and see signs of threshing on farms all around us. To the west there would be a smudge of smoke in the sky from a threshing outfit. South of us you could see another outfit busy with the job of threshing grain. But this year it's a different story. There are practically no crops of grains to be harvested here in the valley and what did survive the heat and the first chinch bug invasion was largely used for forage or cut and cured for hay."

Another interesting record put in the experimental farm books concerns the amount of rainfall that fell on the farm during the month of July. The official farm rain gauge, which is installed near the headquarters building, gives a reading of just 1.78 inches for the whole month, which was a month of terrific record breaking temperatures. Ordinarily the precipitation in July would exceed 3 inches. Even though the farm received only a little rain, considering the amount needed to offset the early deficiency and the intense heat, it fared better than Chicago.

A bunch of little pigs have been competing with the chickens for the "pickings" left in the barnyard by the threshing machine. Naturally a little grain was scattered around on the ground where the threshing machine was placed during the handling of the oats. It didn't take the pigs and the chickens very long to find out that they could glean a little extra lunch by giving the ground a thorough going over. As soon as the little porkers began rooting around the chickens came up to join them. From then on it was a race between them for the food, with the pigs easy winners.

BISHOP FOUND DEAD KNEW HE WAS LOST, HIS NOTE REVEALS

Helena, Mont., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. William F. Faber of Helena, former presiding bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Montana, who was found dead in Glacier park on July 20, had written a note disclosing his knowledge that he was lost, it was learned here today.

The note indicated the 74 year old bishop feared he would be found only by airplane searchers. Helena friends of the churchman said that in the note the bishop left word to his family and to members of his diocese that his predicament was entirely accidental and that he wished to dispel any remote belief that he might have attempted to do away with his own life in the event he was found dead.

Bishop H. H. H. Fox, bishop coadjutor, said the note was found on the bishop's body by his son, Dr. Harold J. Faber, professor of pediatrics at the Stanford university medical school.

Patient Voiceless 8 Years Improves After Operation

Morris Kagan, 73 years old, 3348 Evergreen avenue, who spoke aloud Friday for the first time in eight years, was reported to be making favorable progress at Mount Sina hospital from the delicate throat operation performed on July 27 to restore voice control. Mr. Kagan lost the power of speech in 1926, on removal of the larynx because of a malignant growth, and regained it only when the surgeon recently created a canal between the base of the tongue and the windpipe through which sounds are

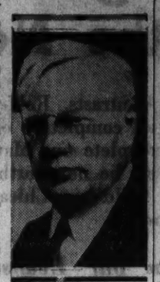
10 Planes, 7 Warships Hunt Rum Runners Near Cuba

HAVANA, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Ten Cuban airplanes and seven warships took to sea today hunting rum runners off the north and south coasts. The planes were equipped with bombs. Col. Fulgencio Batista, head of the army, announced the opening of a concerted drive against rum runners who carry cargo to the United States. He said he expects to break up a large rum ring within a few days.

SCHMIDT URGES BOARD TO GUIDE MEDICAL RELIEF

Health Secretary Raps New Dental Plan.

Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, noted urologist and secretary of the Chicago board of health, yesterday recommended the creation of a board of physicians and dentists to supervise the professional services being paid for by taxpayers through the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.



DR. LOUIS E. SCHMIDT.

While Dr. Schmidt's suggestion covers the kindred fields of medicine and dentistry, his remarks were aimed particularly at the new program of dental work submitted last week to the relief commission. The plan involves increased expenditures for dental work with control of the relief dental clinic in the hands of the Chicago Dental society.

"Money is being spent for relief as though it were a gift," Dr. Schmidt declared. "Apparently there is no regard for the fact that the full burden must fall upon the taxpayer. There should be a downward trend, but instead we here find the reverse in the case of dental service—getting more and giving less."

Suggests Time Fee.

"I do not ask low compensation for the professions. I don't think its fair to say that dentists doing relief work have been underpaid. Rather, it is the lack of system and great overhead that makes it appear thus. One could pay doctors or dentists an hourly or daily fee commensurate with the services rendered if a group organized with business methods, as has been demonstrated in this city.

"We should bring medical and dental care to the largest number of people possible with the limited money available. More people than ever before now need medical and dental care, due to economic conditions, plus the high professional prices.

"Correction of this condition can come only from medical men who are cognizant of all the facts. Such men should have the situation in hand—not social service workers or other laymen."

Responsibility Sought.

Dr. Schmidt warned that board members must represent the entire profession, not merely so-called "organized medicine" comprising about half of the total number of doctors and dentists.

The board should be responsible for its actions, not free from the control of the "man who pays the bill" as is the present Emergency Dental Relief commission of the dental society, according to Dr. Schmidt.

Dr. Schmidt, who is 65 years old, was the central figure in a controversy with the Chicago Medical society in 1929, which led to his expulsion because of his connection with low priced clinics which advertise their services. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, resigned from the society in protest against the action, as did several others.

Killed Falling from Roof; Pockets Full of Stones

Frank Patsy, 40 years old, janitor of an apartment building at 638 West 69th street, fell from the roof of the building to the courtyard below and was fatally injured early yesterday. Patsy's unconscious form was discovered by two special watchmen who were seeking the person who had been throwing rocks at the floodlights of a gasoline filling station nearby. Doxey Pickard, attendant at the station, said Patsy had frequently complained that the lights kept him from sleeping. Several rocks were found in Patsy's pockets.

TWO GIRLS STABBED IN MICHIGAN PARK; ATTACKER GETS AWAY

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—A search was on today by state, city, and sheriff's officers for a knife wielder who stabbed and seriously wounded two girls Saturday night in a federal building park here.

Grace Willette, 18, is in a serious condition with a punctured lung and Eleanor Gray, 16, is suffering from several knife wounds.

The girls described their attacker as a man of stocky build, wearing a brown suit. They said he stabbed Miss Gray as the two passed him in the rear of the postoffice building while they were on their way to a dance. Several suspects were brought to jail today, but were released.

COWBOYS REACH WRECKED PLANE; FIND ONE DEAD

Blythe, Cal., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Cowboys penetrating the wilderness of the Colorado river bottoms northeast of here today found James McFadden of San Diego dead in the cockpit of a wrecked airplane.

William Henry, also of San Diego, was alive but in a critical condition from injuries and exposure. The pilot, Walter Ballard, with both arms, a shoulder, and several ribs broken, had trudged through the wilderness Friday night to summon help after the crash.

Ballard was delirious when William Kinney, a truck driver, picked him up. Taken to a hospital, he told of the crash last night.

Art Exhibition Inspires Round of Luncheons

Fashionable Folk Drawn to Opening Today.

BY JUDITH CASS.

LUNCHEONS, large and small, at the smartest clubs and restaurants in town add interest today to the opening of the highly acclaimed International Exhibition of Theater Art from the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. With the Junior league sponsoring the "première," beginning at 2 o'clock in the gallery at 26 South Michigan avenue as a benefit for its many charities, the afternoon gives promise of being one of the social highlights of a season that has slipped into summer doldrums.

Mrs. Howard Linn, one of the founders of the Chicago Junior league and sister of Seymour Blair, who has been instrumental in bringing the exhibit to Chicago, will be hostess at luncheon at the "900" restaurant to most of those persons most vitally concerned with the showing. Mr. Blair will be one of her guests, and so will Luther Green, Mr. Blair's assistant, Harold F. McCormick, one of Chicago's most noted patrons of art; Mrs. Nathaniel A. Owings, president of the Junior league; Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Woodruff, Mrs. Alister H. McCormick, David Adler, Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr., Robert Allerton, and John Gregg.

Miss Dorothy Schmidt, Mrs. James R. Addington, Mrs. James H. Douglas, Miss Narcissa Swift, Mrs. Philip B. Maher, Miss Alice Roullier, Mrs. Norman Pritchard, Miss Margaret Quan, Mrs. Robert M. Adams, Mrs. John Irving Shaw, Miss Cynthia Wilson, Mrs. A. Shreve Badger, Miss Betsy Needham, and Mrs. Ronald P. Boardman are some of those who will be having their luncheon Dutch treat in the Italian Court restaurant on upper Michigan avenue. The only guest of this group will be Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, who has been invited by Miss Schmidt.

Besides Mrs. Owings, Miss Schmidt, Mrs. Cramer, Mrs. Addington, Mrs. Boardman, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Ewing T. Webb, and Mrs. Winterbotham will be hostesses for the league at the exhibit throughout the afternoon assisting in part with the collection of the admission fee of $1, which is to go directly to the league charities.

Many to Gather at Tavern Club.

Mrs. Potter Palmer has planned a family luncheon at the Palmer house before the exhibition and Mrs. George W. Dulany Jr., who has done so many stunning modern pieces, will entertain at the Keys club if she is back from a Wisconsin holiday by noon today. The gathering place for most of the exhibition patrons after they have reviewed the handsome collection of 600 original drawings and paintings and miniature stages will be the Tavern club, where Mrs. Maher and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fisher have made plans for a Dutch treat tea.

Although few will miss the gala opening this afternoon, it is certain that most will return to the gallery to study the exhibit more thoroughly during the next several weeks. It is to remain until Sept. 25. Thanks to several generous young matrons, comfortable and attractive chairs and lounges have been loaned and installed in the gallery to make it as restful as possible. Then, too, money has been provided to supply fresh flowers each day and there is a grand piano for recitals of modern music in keeping with the display of theater art.

Although the display has been gathered from 13 foreign countries, Russia and the United States, Chicago proudly boasts contributions by three artists and students of the theater. They are those of Miss Virginia Dalton, who did the masks last winter for Mrs. Linn's "opera intime," Nicolai Remisoff, and Boris Anisfeld. And needless to say visitors this afternoon will turn their especial attention to these offerings.

Genealogical Society Postpones Its Dinner.

Because the new troupe of colonial soldiers and dancers in the Colonial Village at the World's Fair has not yet perfected its exhibitions, the American Genealogical society has postponed the annual dinner it was to have had tonight in the Wayside Inn until Aug. 27 when, it is assured, the entertainment will be in perfect order.

The members of the society, all of whom are Americans of colonial ancestry, also point out that the 27th is Forefathers' day and, so, another good reason for a change in date. On this occasion the dinner, invitations for which are to be limited to 100, will be preceded by a program in the afternoon at the Court of States at A Century of Progress and a meeting in the morning in the Colonial Village. Col. George T. Buckingham is chairman of the board of the Genealogical society.

Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick writes from Paris of her recent visit with Mrs. James Roosevelt and Miss Suzanne Robinson of Boston, to the Château Vaux-le-Vicomte, where they were the guests of Mme. Edme Sommier. Mrs. Chadwick plans to leave shortly for a stay at Cap d'Antibes, France.

Many Chicagoans in White Mountains.

From the White mountains comes news of gay doings enjoyed by the many Chicagoans who have arrived from time to time to join the summer colonies. Mrs. Daniel R. Kearns, Mrs. Charles Jacques, and Mrs. William E. Thresher were among the recent arrivals in Bretton Woods, staying at the Mount Washington hotel.

Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr. of Chicago and her daughter, Miss Bertha Erminger, are at present members of the cottage colony at Whitefield. Miss Erminger has as her house guest Miss Jane B. Schmidt of Cincinnati, O.

Mrs. John G. M. Giessner, who is spending the summer season at her home "The Rocks" in Littleton, is doing no entertaining because of the recent death of her aunt, Miss Helen

AN obviously intoxicated man clapped another man on the shoulder in the Palmer house bar the other day and, when he turned around in some surprise, grinned fatuously, and said:

"O, I beg your par'n, ol' man; thought you were Tom Collins!"

"Your mistake," the other replied, "I'm Old Manhattan."

WERE a research historian to find these postcards a thousand years hence, and be able to read the inscriptions thereon, they probably would give him more of an insight into one phase of the manners and modes of the early 1930s than long histories on the era. THE most recent member of the organization behind the International Theater exhibit, which opens today at 26 South Michigan avenue, is a gray alley cat. At night when art lovers and art sponsors leave, the tabby takes up her watch. An explanation of her presence lies in the fact that once in Paris Seymour Blair, patron of the arts and, with Luther Green, sponsor of the exhibit, had some valuable papers chewed up in the night by mice. He was afraid that some of the drawings, or the papier mache stages in the collection might have a similar fate. Thus the cat was installed, and at night is watchlady over the Bakst, and the Robert Edmond Jones, the Melzeiner and the Remisoff and the Bel Geddes paintings and sketches.

"Romance, Inc.," is a matrimonial bureau run with the aid of psychoanalysis, reducing, and other modern means which are brought into play in "Bachelor Bait" in order to find the proper mates for lonely souls. It's strictly on the level and flourishing under the direction of one deadly serious William, who really believes in love, marriage, and being happy ever after.

Assisting him in his pursuit of true love for all is one Van, a smart, wisecracking lawyer, and Cynthia, who loves the big matchmaker, William, in spite of the fact that he's too busy chasing rainbows for others to see his own great romance right under his nose.

The fly in the ointment is a commercial-minded young lady known as Alice, who calls at the matrimonial clearing house to remind her ex-husband, Van, of a little matter of overdue alimony. Panicky at the thought of William's beautiful illusions being shattered by the presence of a divorce in the very core of "Romance, Inc.," Van offers to fix her up with a new and prosperous husband right there in the agency. Allie gets to work and what she does is nobody's business, unless you run over to the Palace and find out.

If you like Stuart Erwin, this picture's your meat. Skeets Gallagher, who's always good for a laugh, works hard and succeeds in being pretty funny in this rather too deliberate farce. Pert Kelton is brittle and brassy as Allie, and Rochelle Hudson pretty and mild as Cynthia.

New Fur Capes for Evening Wear

New Fur Capes Provide Thrills for Shoppers

And You Can Buy Them in Air Cooled Stores.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All the female descendants of Daniel Boone are out in full force. What with frosty, air cooled shops wherein they can stalk their new winter fur coats, fur and pelt hunting has been made safe for the hunters.

The most exciting news so far is the cape, stole, and capelet collections. You may have seen capes in bygone days, but you'll simply goggle at these 1934 creations—in some cases concoctions.

It's nothing at all to experience the delight of winding three and four skins around your shoulders in as many different ways, for even the foxes are getting around in pair and trios these days. Enormous affairs that you can pile higher and higher as your fancy dictates. And what fun it will be when you can wear them the first coolish days with slim sheaths of thin wool frocks for fall.

If you are short and know that you cannot hold up the weight of two or three fluffy foxes, despite the fact that you are slender, then the woven-in-and-out affairs will be your buy. Clever fingers have used two or one and a half pelts and made them look less bulky than anything you have seen in years.

But the real winners are the four skin sables and other short haired furs, fastened together in a most unusual manner. First one, then two, and then at the end, the three. These you can weave in and out of one another and contrive a new appearing fur piece every time you wear them. Sounds rather complicated but they really are the answer to a short shopper's wail for something different.

Capes that hang waistline deep and that hug the shoulders snugly are legion. You can find them in shiny, sleek, black caracul; in less expensive kidskin and other glossy furs; in the always stunning Persian lamb, and in models made of fluffier furs, such as fox pelts in tiers of three on velvet, heavy silk or dull crêpe.

A stunning evening cape is illustrated, made of ermine, cut to hang deep around the waistline and to fit snugly over the shoulders. It is from an outstanding collection of new cape models for street and evening wear to be found in a fashion-wise Chicago shop.

Civil Works Educational Students to Give Program

The Civil Works Educational service, which has 60,000 students in the Chicago area, will open a special exhibit in the Chicago room in the Hall of States at A Century of Progress tomorrow. A program by more than 300 of the students will be presented in the court of the Hall of States Wednesday afternoon. Included among the exhibits will be products of the arts and handicraft classes, a bacteriology laboratory, and demonstrations of Cluny lace making by women in the Polish division.

M'Laglen's Own Cavalry Troop to Join in Film

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Victor McLaglen who has applied for American citizenship was so pleased to get back in an English army officer's uniform such as he wore through arduous years of fighting, campaigning, and garrison duty all over the east in the years preceding and during the world war, that he chartered an entire Hollywood boulevard cafe and bar room for a celebration tonight of his star part in "Lives of a Bengal Lancer." This adventure story, scenes laid in many of Britain's far-flung outposts of the east, is one in which McLaglen has secured jobs for his personal cavalry outfit, the "California Light Horse troop," composed of ex-British, ex-American, and a smattering of former cavalrymen from other foreign countries. McLaglen's guests at the party included screen players, studio officials, and members of the press.

Jimmy Dunn sat back of "Man Mountain Dean," 315 pound bearded wrestler from the swamp lands of Georgia, at the Ramage-Rosenbloom light heavyweight boxing bout at the Los Angeles Olympic arena this week. After the fights were over Dunn went to the fight club offices and demanded his money back. Said there was no way a patron sitting back of Dean could see what was going on.

Clark Gable caught a 40 pound swordfish on light tackle last week, but it took three days at sea, fishing all the time, to achieve this goal of every fisherman.

When some one asked Spencer Tracy at Fox studio what picture he would like to appear in, he said "Shirley Temple's next picture, whatever it is. Then I know I'll be in one smash hit this year."

They regard little Shirley as sure fire box office business. But the studio certainly would like to retire from circulation several of those short reel and indifferent independent films that Shirley prepared in as a baby child and that have now been reissued on the strength of her current film favor.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The secretary of state and Mrs. Cordell Hull spent today at the Rapidan camp established and beautified by former President Hoover as his retreat for recreation and fishing, in lieu of the river trips on the Mayflower which preceding Presidents had enjoyed. Mr. Hoover left the camp intact when his term expired for the use of his successors.

The secretary of agriculture, Henry A. Wallace, went to New York tonight to greet Mrs. Wallace, who will land there tomorrow with Mrs. George H. Dern, wife of the secretary of war, and her daughter, Miss Betsy Dern, from Panama where they went with Secretary Dern some weeks ago. The secretary went on to the west coast to meet the President.

Mrs. Harold L. Ickes, wife of the secretary of the interior, went to Wilmington, Del., yesterday where she is the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre du Pont in their summer place near Wilmington.

100 Lucky Children Will Be Guests of Sally at Fair Thrill Show Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Didn't I tell you I'd have good news for you boys and girls yesterday? I guess a chance to win an invitation to see Frank Buck in person and his wonderful collection of animals at the World's Fair is something!

Everything out there is alive, too, you know. There are over 1,000 birds, beasts and reptiles in the show, which is on the Midway on Northerly Island. Lots of 'em have been in Mr. Buck's movies, too. Remember the two big pythons in "Wild Cargo"? They're there—28 feet long; and some so-called "baby" ones, too—only 20 feet in length. The big orang-utan which was in the film is there, too. He's the biggest one in captivity today, and very fierce; but don't you worry. Mr. Buck has him in a stout cage.

It'll be grand to see and meet Ali and Ahmed, his No. 1 and No. 2 jungle boys from Malaya. They were in both movies, and are almost as well known as the "Bring 'Em Back Alive" man himself. He brought them all the way from India, and they have built for themselves a typical jungle camp, with thatched roofs, cages, campfires and everything, where they live, eat, and sleep. In this camp are the gibbons, monkeys, and those cute little honey bears you saw in the movie.

Tomorrow I'll tell you more about the swell time we're going to have, but now's the time to let me know if you'd like to be included in this grand party. It will take place on Wednesday, Aug. 15, and 100 boys and girls will be included.

I want to take 50 boys and 50 girls who'll get the most fun out of the trip, so if you think you'd enjoy it just write and let me know. Include your name, address, and age in your letter, and have it on my desk by next Thursday. On that day I'll read them all, and the 100 youngsters who write the best letters will find their names listed as winners in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. Address your letters to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—William Crane Ivison gave a dinner Friday night in the roof garden of the St. Regis for J. Butler Wright, newly appointed United States minister to Czechoslovakia, and Mrs. Wright, who will depart shortly for Prague.

Mrs. Julian W. Robbins of the Waldorf-Astoria sailed on the Bremen for a stay in London.

Mrs. John Wentworth has left the Ritz Carlton for Sagamore lodge, Raquette Lake, N. Y.

Mrs. Frederick Edey of the Beverly and Bellport, Long Island, has sailed to spend the remainder of the summer in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher Ames Buell, Miss Nancy Buell and Fisher Ames Buell Jr., have returned from Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Andrews have been joined at the Chatham by Miss Patricia Hyde and Miss Anne Hyde, who arrived there from South Kortright, N. Y.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Diet and cleanliness are still the fundamentals of any course of cure for blackheads; if you're a sufferer, either masculine or feminine, you won't get to first base in your game against them unless you know just what's what and what's not on the menu list, and unless you use soap and water profusely. That much mastered, you can turn to external aids and really expect results.

For one thing, there is a widely marketed special preparation for blackheads that we know is effective. It's a white powder—comes in a shaker tin—and while it isn't as fine as talc it's not nearly as abrasive as some high geared cleansers that are sold as blackhead chasers. They always make us think they're better suited to the scrubbing of the kitchen sink than our tender epidermis.

Even this one is best used on the type of skin that is oily, large pored and the inevitable resting place of any grime floating around. It's the thing for the woman who "simply can't get her skin clean." Young teen agers, while their skins may not yet be coarse textured, often have the kind that's oily and blackhead infested, and they can use this special preparation a couple of times a week. If the skin is extremely oily, with almost every pore a grayish or blackish dot, it can be used oftener.

The best way to use this powder for blackheads is to cleanse first with a good cream. Remove this and mix enough of the blackhead powder with warm water to form a paste. Leave this mixture on the blackhead ridden areas for a couple of minutes, rinse off with clear cold water, dry, and then use ice or a skin tonic that isn't too astringent.

This preparation is grand for the clearing of backs, we found. It seems to do for them what a series of stiff scrubbings might do. Naturally, every skin has its own little tricks in its reactions to everything; with this the blackhead sufferer can work out a course of treatment that seems best. If the preparation seems pretty severe use it no oftener than twice a week; if the skin reacts well, give it the works every day. It's sold all around town. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Her Husband's Fiancee

BY ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS.

Cecily Marshall returns after a year's absence to the home in Bellchester, England, where she had lived with her husband, David Marshall, the city's leading merchant prince. Cecily had been a shopgirl at Marshall's. Beautiful Audrey Lowe, who had wanted David herself, and her cousin, Reggie Davies, had contrived to break up Cecily's marriage. David believed Cecily unfaithful and won a divorce from her and the custody of their small child, Rose Ann. The child grieves for her mother. Fearing for her health, Nanna, Her infant, secretly writes Cecily. When David, who is about to marry Audrey, discovers Cecily's presence he orders her and Nanna from the house. Rose Ann develops brain fever and David is forced to send for Cecily. Rose Ann improves. Cecily rejects David's proposal that they remarry for Rose Ann's sake. She takes rooms in Bellchester, with Nanna, and determines to prove her innocence. She sees Rose Ann daily. Audrey has been blackmailed by Mrs. Partridge, the wife of the deceased innkeeper she had bribed to swear that Cecily and Reggie had shared the same room a night they were marooned due to motor trouble. David tries unsuccessfully to break his engagement to Audrey.

INSTALMENT XIX.

REFUSING TO BE SPURNED.

Audrey sat down on the divan and wept bitterly. That was her answer to his brutal question. Her whole body shook with sobs.

David took her in his arms and tried to comfort her, but as he caressed those satin smooth shoulders, a faint sensation of repugnance took possession of him.

"Cecily will always stand between us," she said.

"Yes, I'm afraid so," David replied gravely.

"Then you do love her still?"

"She killed my love for her. But when she did so, she killed also my power to love another woman as—as I loved her. If she were in her grave, I think it would be the same."

Audrey dried her tears.

"You're being unpleasantly frank," she said.

"I want you to know where we stand. If in spite of all I've just said you still want to marry me—then I shall feel honored, Audrey."

David's sense of humor—if he possessed any—must have been very much in abeyance that evening. Already he had been turned down once, matrimonially speaking.

Audrey laid a hand on his arm.

"It's all right," she whispered. "I'm not afraid, really. Not of ghosts, anyway. You must love me a little."

David, himself, had thought that he loved her a little, but now he said nothing. He must be very, very good to Audrey to make up for what he could not give her.

* * * * * *

Children convalesce quickly. Inside of a week Rose Ann was out.

The curious new arrangement was explained to her by Cecily in so far as was possible.

Mummy wasn't going away again, but she was going to live in Mrs. Leach's house. There would be a sort of school for Rose Ann, with mummy as the teacher and Mrs. Leach's little grandson to share her lessons. They would all have dinner together every day at Mrs. Leach's except Sunday. It was only kind to daddy that Rose Ann should have her dinner with him. And on Sunday afternoons she would come to Mrs. Leach's for tea.

But there were a lot of questions to be answered.

"Why can't you live in our house?"

"Because it's not convenient."

"Will Miss Lowe be my mummy?"

"No, darling—nobody can ever be your mummy except me."

"What will she be, then, when she gets married to daddy?"

"Why—she'll be—she'll be his wife, darling. Some day you'll understand," Cecily said wearily. "We're going to have wonderful times together, you and I."

"When we go to the seaside, I 'spect daddy will come with us and leave Miss Lowe at home," said Rose Ann.

"Well, we'll wait and see. It's a long time before we'll be going to the seaside," Cecily said.

"Everything takes such a long time! But it'll be Christmas first, won't it?"

Yes, it would be Christmas first. What dreadful things these festal occasions were. There would be birthdays, too, and another wedding anniversary coming along quite soon. If only one could take a good dose of something and sleep through them.

* * * * * *

Lawyer Branchard wondered why she wanted that £1000 so badly.

Audrey had not forgotten the threat that hung over her head.

Cecily had warned her, and for all she knew may have warned David, too, that one of her objects in determining to stay in Bellchester was to prove her innocence.

Audrey had taunted her by saying that she could not prove the impossible, but Cecily had not been intimidated.

The risk was very great. Every time Cecily Marshall went down High street she was likely to pass the gramophone shop where Mrs. Partridge worked. There was a chance that she might even enter it some day.

Audrey experienced a feeling of faintness amounting to nausea when she went by, herself, and caught a glimpse of those oily black curls and twinkling earrings behind the counter.

It could not go on, of course. By hook or crook Mrs. Partridge must be induced to leave Bellchester, and one must not lose any time about it, either.

So one afternoon, about a fortnight after Rose Ann's recovery, Audrey went to Mr. Branchard's office and telling him a plaintive little tale of genteel poverty tried to get him to advance her £1,000 of that marriage settlement, which by this time had been arranged for on the high basis of Mrs. Lowe's demands.

The solicitor, so polite, so irritatingly courteous, was obliged to refuse Miss Lowe's request.

The settlement would not come into effect until she was actually David's wife, for one thing, and for another, she was not entitled to touch the capital.

The use of the £20,000 was hers for life from the moment she married David, and if she died childless it automatically reverted to David, or, in the event of his predeceasing her, it went to Rose Ann. If she had children of her own, it went to them. She could not even borrow on it.

Mr. Branchard wondered why she wanted that £1,000 so badly. It was common knowledge that the Lowes lived beyond their means, and Mervin Branchard knew that Audrey had not paid anything on her mounting account at Marshall's for months. That, however, was David's business.

"I wish I could help you," he said.

"You could if you wanted to," Audrey said reproachfully. "If you would lend it to me, yourself, we could come to some arrangement. You could pay yourself back by degrees out of what my income would be."

"My dear young lady, I haven't got a thousand pounds lying idle. In fact, I believe I'm a trifle overdrawn at the moment," he said hastily.

"Very well. I'm awfully sorry to have bothered you."

"Not at all. I'm pleased to see you at any time, and if I can be of service to you don't hesitate to command me."

"One thing," Audrey said, assuming a pride that it was difficult to believe she possessed, "I'd be obliged if you made no mention of this to David."

Mervin Branchard assured her with perfect sincerity that he would not dream of mentioning it to David. His fear had been that she would ask David, himself, for the money and perhaps get it.

After leaving his office Audrey walked slowly down High street looking at the show windows.

When she came to the gramophone shop where Mrs. Partridge worked she paused for a moment and then went in.

It was nearly closing time, and the widow was putting dust sheets over the instruments while the manager sat at the cash desk balancing his day book.

"I want to see you," Audrey said under her breath.

"I'll be out of here in half a tick," Mrs. Partridge replied in the same manner.

"I'll wait outside," Audrey said. Then louder, "No, I'd better come in tomorrow. I like to hear the records before I decide on them and it takes a long time. Good evening."

"Good evening," said Mrs. Partridge.

She bustled through to the back to get her hat and coat.

"I'm in a bit of a rush tonight, Mr. Jones. If it's all the same to you I'll leave you to lock up."

Mr. Jones nodded without replying.

BY MARY MEADE.

Try announcing soup for dinner one of these villainously hot nights and watch faces fall and great gusty sighs heave out of the family. But just you chuckle, for when bowls of chilly, taste-tickling bouillon or consommé smile coolly at folks from their plates, sighs will duck back into hiding and life will seem good once more.

But don't think that always frosty-cold soups must be of the jellied variety. There are thin, cool soups which have both the richness of cream and the wholesome goodness of vegetables. Certain of these are made after the manner of the Russian borsch, which usually we think of as a hot winter dish. And, by the way, a cocktail shaker is a big asset for frothing up these soups made with sour cream—it adds a thrilling smoothness that is delectable.

An inexpensive summer soup is:

SPINACH BORSCH

1 No. 2 can spinach
1 cup rhubarb cut in half-inch pieces
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup strained lemon juice
1½ cups water
1 cup sour cream
1 cup finely chopped cucumber
Ice cubes

Turn the spinach into a sieve, draining out the juice thoroughly into a saucepan. Add to the spinach juice the cut rhubarb and simmer until the rhubarb is tender. Meanwhile, cut the spinach fine. Rub the cooked rhubarb through the sieve and combine the pulp and juice with the chopped spinach. Add the salt, sugar, lemon juice, and water, blending them well and dissolving the sugar. Turn them into a cocktail shaker or a fruit jar and chill in the refrigerator. When ready to serve, add the chilled sour cream, which has been stirred together with a little of the soup mixture. Shake thoroughly and serve in cups or soup bowls, each over a cube of ice. Sprinkle the tops with the crisp, chopped cucumber.

Fruits are likewise fair game in soup making. Usually they turn out in the form of juices, as in:

FRUIT SOUP

2 tablespoons granulated gelatin
1-3 cup cold water
1½ cups boiling water
¾ cup cherry juice
½ cup orange juice
2-3 cup pineapple juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2½ tablespoons sugar
Dash of salt

Mix the gelatin with the cold water and soak for five minutes. Dissolve in the boiling water. Cool slightly and add the strained fruit juices, sugar, and salt. Chill thoroughly in the refrigerator until set. To serve, beat the jellied soup lightly with a fork, then tumble it out into tall, thin glasses or bouillon cups.

Or, to go back to the business of Borsch, note what a can of beets can do for us:

CHILLED BEET BORSCH

1 No. 2 can of beets
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups water
¼ cup strained lemon juice
¾ cup sour cream
1 cup finely diced cucumber

Drain the beets and put them through the coarse blade of a meat grinder. Combine the beets and juices. Add the sugar, salt, water, and lemon juice. Chill thoroughly and just before serving add the sour cream. Shake well in a cocktail shaker or glass jar and pour over ice cubes in bouillon cups. Sprinkle the tops with the chopped cucumber and serve at once.

One Pair of Eyes Is All You Have, So Care for Them!

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You have only one pair of eyes and that's all you're ever going to have as long as you live.

In "Good Eyes for Life" [Appleton-Century] co-authors Olive Grace Henderson and Dr. Hugh Grant Rowell promise fulfilment of their book's title if you do right by those orbs of yours. Speaking of glasses, which these two famous students of the eye call "that priceless gift," it is inferred that many more folk should be wearing them part time, if not whole time, than are doing so, as a saving grace and as a valuable health lift.

Our authorities remind us of two things about glasses. They should be fitted by experts. The frames, especially for children, require frequent adjustment.

In farsightedness, near sightedness, and astigmatism, glasses afford rapid relief.

I bring up this eye and eyeglass subject because women are notoriously vain about wearing "specs." They postpone the day until they have to wear them all the time. If they'd used them part time, the continuous need of glasses would be postponed.

For eye fatigue, glasses are often prescribed, although the eyes may be in good shape. Early eye protection, in other words, has become recognized as just as important to health and looks as early teeth protection, complexion care and that of the hair.

Macbeth of Pittsburgh. The famous Giessmer gardens are now at the height of their summer beauty.

Hobart P. Young Jr., Harvard sophomore turned wrangler for the summer months, will be up earlier than usual this morning for he's expecting the arrival of two of his best friends, Cheves Walling and "Jack" Leslie, for a visit of at least a week. Mr. Young is on Mrs. Chester Woodley's ranch in Hayden, Colo., where he has spent many summers, and Mr. Walling and Mr. Leslie are on a motor tour of the west.

Still another young man who will reach the ranch by the middle of this week is Chandler Young, Hobart's younger brother, who came home Saturday from a holiday with the Ralph Rockwoods at their summer home in Williamsville, Ont. He left yesterday by motor for the west. If the senior Mr. Young is able to arrange his office program he and Mrs. Young hope to go out to the ranch later this week on the train.

Pritchards Planning Hudson Bay Canoe Trip.

As soon as they complete arrangements for their removal Oct. 1 to a new apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pritchard are setting off on a canoe trip that will take them into the far-away Hudson bay regions. This, they expect, will be the last week of August.

Although they are appreciative of the comforts of yachts and steamships Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard have discovered that a great deal more fun is to be derived in a birchbark canoe, with the accompaniment of Indian guides, and portages over dimly marked trails between rivers.

The Pritchards have already made several trips into Canada by canoe, but this will be the first time Mrs. Pritchard has penetrated the unexplored regions of Hudson bay. Mr. Pritchard tried this several years ago and determined then to have a similar vacation another year. Upon leaving Chicago this time Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard will travel into Ontario and then set their canoe afloat on any one of the rivers that winds up toward Hudson bay.

Ellen Adair and Nancy Orr are hoping that this month will stretch itself out into the longest month they have ever known, for at the beginning of September they are returning with their mother from Annisquam to return to their studies at the Girls' Latin school. Since Mrs. Orr will be away until after Labor day, she will probably miss her sister, Miss Margaret Augur, when she comes through town on her way to assume her new post as principal of the Kingswood school, Cranbrook, at Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

The appointment of Miss Augur by Dean Alice Lloyd of the University of Michigan has been meriting the enthusiastic comment of her many friends here, for she is exceptionally well qualified for the position. After finishing at Bryn Mawr she attended the University of Grenoble in France, and then came back to become a member of the faculty at Rosemary Hall, and later was appointed dean of Bradford academy. Miss Augur's grandfather, Newell Avery, was a pioneer Michigan settler.

Miss Emeline Bush to Return in September.

Miss Emeline Bush is one of the enthusiastic and talented young artists in the summer colony at Saugatuck, Mich., which means that she will have some splendid new canvases for her friends to see when she returns home the first week of September. She is devoting mornings to figure painting and afternoons to landscape work. Miss Bush's mother, Mrs. William H. Bush, was a guest at Saugatuck last week.

Now that his father, William G. McCormick, is well along the road to recovery from a recent operation, Chauncey McCormick is planning to join his family at Manchester, Mass. The elder Mr. McCormick will go to his summer home at York Harbor, Me., for the remainder of the season. The Chauncey McCormicks will remain in the east at their summer home for the rest of the season.

The many friends of Mrs. Janet Hibbard Henneberry will be glad to hear that she is recuperating slowly but successfully from the recent motor accident in which she suffered a brain concussion and other serious injuries. Mrs. Henneberry's parents, the Angus Hibbards, are thinking about spending a week or two at Eagle Knob lodge, Lake Owen, Wis., their favorite summer retreat, but have not as yet made definite plans for their departure.

Mrs. John B. Drake Jr. of Lake Forest is expected to arrive at home today from a visit in Lenox, Mass., with Mrs. Arthur F. Schermerhorn. Her husband's aunt, Miss Helen V. Drake, also has been visiting in Lenox, but her hostess is Miss Kate S. Buckingham. Mrs. Warren Kyle of Boston also is visiting Miss Buckingham at her lovely summer place, Bald Head.

Miss Virginia Lamson Back from Abroad Thursday.

Miss Virginia Lamson, the talented daughter of the Warren A. Lamsons of Winnetka, will be back in this country the middle of this week. She is arriving Thursday on the S. S. Manhattan after studying sculpture in Paris and, as previously reported, winning a place for one of her works in the Paris Salon du Printemps. Mr. Lamson hopes to go east on Wednesday to meet his daughter at the dock Thursday morning. Welcoming her here in Chicago with the remainder of the family a couple of days later will be Miss Marion Mitchell of Rock Island, who is visiting Miss Jean Lamson, a younger daughter, a student at Bryn Mawr.

Mrs. Charles H. Bosworth, who has been in England since last October with her two daughters, Mrs. Gordon L. Padley and Mrs. Trevor C. Stamp, is expected home in the early part of September.

Fitted for Smooth Silhouette

WOMAN'S AND MISS' UNDIES.

Most of us have been confronted with the necessity of smoothly fitting lingerie to wear with the slender-lined frocks of today. For this reason a set such as is shown today, which can be easily and inexpensively made at home, is a thing to be welcomed. Crêpe de chine or flat silk crêpe will make up beautifully. Use tiny glass buttons that tone in with the color of the crêpe. A tea rose washable satin would make up well.

The pattern, No. 3099, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years and 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure.

Events on the Stage

A series of revivals of the comic operas of Gilbert and Sullivan will begin at the Studebaker tonight with "The Mikado." Hizi Koyke, a Japanese prima donna, will appear in the rôle of Yum-Yum, and the other principals in the company will be cast as follows: Frank Moulan as Ko-Ko; William Danforth as the Mikado; Roy Cropper as Nanki-Poo; Vera Ross as Katisha; Hebert Waterous as Pooh-Bah; John Eaton as Pish-Tush; Frances Baviello as Pitti-Sing, and Joan Franston as Peep-Bo.

The showboat Dixiana, which after many adventures has found private docking space in the north branch of the Chicago river at Diversey parkway, will celebrate its première next Wednesday night. "No Mother to Guide Her," a melodrama of the 1880s, will be the bill. Among the players in the company, which has been trained in the old showboat tradition, are Marion Ashley, Hugh Adams, Mary Gaynor, Janet Logan, Charles Ellis, Robert Downing, and Harry Owens.

The Todd Theater Festival will stage the third and final production in its season at Woodstock, Ill., next Thursday night. "Tsar Paul," by Dmitri Mereshovsky, a Russian tragedy which has never been acted on the American stage, will be the bill. Hilton Edwards of the Gate theater, Dublin, will appear in the title rôle; Orson Welles will act a conspiring nobleman, and Michael MacLiammoir will have the rôle of the heir to the throne. Edwards and MacLiammoir have given this play in Dublin with notable success.

The daily schedule of Shakespearean performances in the Old Globe theater at the Fair, until Friday of this week will be as follows: "As You Like It," 2 p. m.; "All's Well That Ends Well," 3 p. m.; "A Comedy of Errors," 4 p. m.; "Julius Cæsar," 5 p. m.; "The Taming of the Shrew," 7:30 p. m.; "A Midsummer Night's Dream," 8:30 p. m., and Marlowe's "Doctor Faustus," 9:30 p. m. Two Symphony Groups at Fair Play Features

Hadley Presents His Own "Streets of Pekin."

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Both of the symphony orchestras at A Century of Progress put on special features for the entertainment of visitors yesterday. The Detroit organization under Victor Kolar's direction in the Ford Gardens scheduled special groups for both its concerts, a full half of the afternoon program being taken up by the works of Dvorak and an equal amount in the evening being given to Wagner. The Chicago players at the Swift Bridge of Service played under two conductors, Eric DeLamarter directing the afternoon program and Henry Hadley making his first appearance as one of the summer's guest conductors in the evening.

This, in case you have not happened to notice it before, is the week when both orchestras are due to make a change in the regular order of their conductors. Mr. Hadley, having arrived last night, takes precedence in time, but Ossip Gabrilowitsch is due to appear at the end of the week and take over the Detroit forces, of whom he is the regular winter conductor, for three evening programs.

Mr. Hadley, as noted in the capacity of composer as conductor, presented his own "Streets of Pekin" last night, a work played a few seasons ago in the winter season of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. It is a work that fills the primary requirement of composition, that of giving more than usual pleasure to the hearer. Divided into seven brief parts, it gives musical pictures of various aspects of the Chinese city, some of its streets, a character like a ricksha boy, a bed of lotuses, at the end the great structure known as the forbidden city.

Sometimes Mr. Hadley has depended upon orchestral color for his atmosphere, at others on strongly marked rhythm. Almost invariably, however, he has gone in for melody, an element of music which has always been one of his strongest and most dependable points. There was great applause for the performance. On Wednesday afternoon he is announced to give the first Chicago hearing of another of his works, "San Francisco," which would seem to be something on the same order, though presumably with a more American cast to his musical characters.

Elsewhere in last night's program Mr. Hadley swept the audience with a brilliant performance of Tschaikowsky's dramatic Fourth symphony, not in all details the same reading to which Chicago audiences are accustomed, but none the less effective. He also included Goldmark's "Sakuntala" overture, and Sibelius' "Finlandia," both again of dramatic nature, one of the Strauss waltzes, and Liszt's persuasive "Liebestraum" in Frederick Stock's transcription.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

BIDDING, OR NOT BIDDING, A CONCEALED SUIT ON A LATER ROUND.

Fifth. The general principle is, as we have seen, to reveal the hidden suit only if partner shows such weakness that a partial score contract appears to be the hand's proper limit. However, when such weakness is shown, the opening bidder's tendency should be to bid his suit if it is a major, but to keep quiet about a minor suit.

Looking Ahead.

The former may be a fresh avenue to a game contract; the latter is a sad bleat of weakness and is seldom necessary unless his original bid was almost or nearly a mistake. Otherwise we usually shoot for three no trumps. In my last article I discussed the major and minor suit factors. Today I will deal with the characteristics of the opener's hand in conjunction with partner's takeout in a major suit for which the opener has satisfactory support.

Sp. A K Q x x	Di. A J x
Hs. K J x	Cl. K x

This hand plainly calls for a no trump bid, as it must be led up to if the hand's destiny is no trumps, and a spade bid will almost surely elicit a response of a no trump from the partner. If partner's response is two hearts, bid two no trumps. There will be another opportunity to bid spades at three, and you hope your partner's next bid may be three no trumps, obviating any need to bid spades.

If, however, he rebids his hearts, bid three spades. You must make every effort to be declarer, as it is now certain that a minor-suit lead will be forthcoming. If your partner cannot now bid three no trumps or four spades he must be so weak that any game declaration would be set. If he bids four hearts you have done your best and can only hope that the ace of clubs is in front of the king and that your spades will give the declarer enough discards in time to make game. With this very weak bidding from your partner it is probable that he lacks the ace of hearts. Consequently, you will be wrecked in no trumps if they open clubs, spades do not break and they get in with the ace of hearts to reel off their now-established clubs. With

Sp. A K Q x x	Di. K Q
Hs. K J x	Cl. A J 10

if the bidding went as before—one no trump, two hearts—I would continue the bidding differently. The hand will play as well for my partner in hearts as for me in spades, the effect of a minor-suit opening lead being neutral.

If my partner lacks the ace of hearts, the hand will probably play badly in anything except hearts; with it, he only needs the king of clubs to give us a heart finesse for slam. If he has A Q x x x in hearts, a slam is lay-down. Four hearts, a distinctly eager slam try, would be my bid. With an ace and altogether about another trick in his hand, the heart suit being of more than four cards, he should accept it as follows: With approximately

Sp. x x x	Di. x x
Hs. A Q x x x	Cl. K x x

his next bid is five hearts, confirming length and control in that suit.

Surrendering the Declaration to Partner.

With

Sp. x x x	Di. A x
Hs. Q 10 x x x	Cl. K x x

his bid is four no trumps. Whichever he bids I would thereupon slam in hearts in a rubber game, in no trumps in match-point scoring. Under the latter conditions, I would on the second round bid three no trumps over his two hearts, also a slam try, but giving me the chance to play at 35 a trick instead of only 30 in case my partner cannot accept the invitation to slam and wants to pass as soon as game is reached.

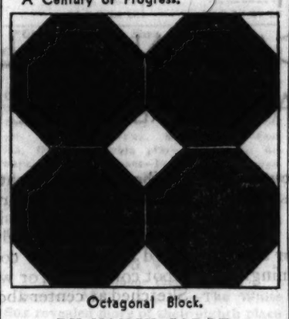
Quilt Has Great Popularity Along Eastern Seaboard

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street, Tribune Tower, and Hall of Science, A Century of Progress.



Octagonal Block.

BY NANCY CABOT.

In New Hampshire, in 1872, the "Octagonal Block" was made into a most charming coverlet. It was pieced in violet, purple, and white, and the pattern became one of the favorites of women along the eastern seaboard. The block is a small one, measuring nine inches square when completed. The rapidity with which it is pieced is a delightful feature of the pattern.

Cardinal Lepicier Visits Here on Way to Religious Meet

Cardinal Lepicier, prefect of the Papal Congregation of Religious, who is making his first visit to America since he was created cardinal in 1927, is in Chicago as the guest of the Rev. Philip Burke of Our Lady of Sorrows church.

The cardinal, who is a native of Vaucouleurs, France, will depart tomorrow for Portland, Ore., where he will attend the Marian congress, which is being held in America for the first time. He will return to Chicago Aug. 15 for a longer visit before returning to Rome.

Lauded by Pope Pius in 1927 for his apostolic missions in England, Scotland, and Ethiopia, Cardinal Lepicier has since been appointed protector of three sisterhoods which have mother houses near Chicago. They are the Sisters of Providence, organization which has its mother house at St. Mary of the Woods near Terre Haute; the Dominican Sisters of St. Catherine of Siena, which has its mother house at Racine, and the Sisters of St. Francis and Mary Immaculate, at Joliet.

Desire for Attention Often Cause of Misbehavior.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The beloved but maddening little boy of 18 months takes our stage today:

"My little boy is so adorable—but he is a problem. He defies me in everything I attempt to correct. He steals the baby's bottle every day leaving her yelling—then, when I rescue it and give it back to her, he yells. He pulls the table cloth off just to annoy me because I've told him not to.

"I've tried the following measures with no results: Spanking hands, which I know you don't approve of; putting him on a chair to yell it out; paying no attention at all and replacing the cloth when he isn't looking; trying to explain to him that he mustn't do it, and so forth.

"He just goes from one thing to another which he knows is wrong, and it's getting to the point where he is boss instead of me, which is exactly where the trouble lies and the root of all evil in child training."

This, at first, sounds complicated. Yet there is no doubt in my mind after reading this letter that the core of the trouble with this little boy is the new baby.

I have written many times on this subject, but so many letters are coming in now that I am preparing a written-in-full booklet which will be ready in a few weeks.

In the meantime, however, here are a few points:

This small son does many of his annoying things to get his mother's attention—for being ignored is a thousand times worse than being disapproved of. The baby boy must have attention—though this is difficult with a new baby. Sometimes it is possible to make the older child feel that he is sharing in the care of the baby so that the baby is made to seem a joint possession. Sometime during the day the little boy should be with his mother when the baby is not monopolizing her. Disapproval should not be shown at anything for a while until this little lad is made to feel that he is as important as ever in his parents' lives.

These are just generalities—all there is room for here. Details always have to be worked out to suit the individual case. Besides the new booklet mentioned we have several aimed especially at the management of the young child. These are "Don't Touch," "The 'No' Habit," and "Obedience." Any one of these will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"THE MILKY WAY"

A COMEDY ROMANCE OF TODAY

ARE YOU HAPPY IN YOUR PRESENT JOB?

● The inside story of practically all personal successes is one of studying for the big job—spending spare hours under the guidance of competent instructors in a good school.

Why not, in your spare time, apply yourself to studying thoroughly the subject for which you have the greatest aptitude? The right school or instructor is easily found. All that you need to do is read the Instruction and the Trade Schools classifications in the Tribune want ad section.

Under these classifications you will find courses offered in general education, business, trades or professions—everything you may need or want to heighten business or social standing.

There are no barriers to success except your own indifference. Set a goal for yourself—the job you feel best qualified to fill. Then consult the Tribune want ad section to find the school that can help you get the job you want in the shortest time!

It is truly a CRIME against ROMANCE—a MYSTERY why YOUTH is sacrificed on the altar of GRAY HAIR when it is so easy to impart color perfectly—in the secrecy of your own home. You can now do this SAFELY, CERTAINLY, ECONOMICALLY.

The tonic-like qualities of Nourishine for Gray Hair and Dandruff actually work like magic! No one can detect its use — the color is SO NATURAL IN APPEARANCE!

No matter what you have tried you'll find Nourishine "infinitely better!" Everyone says this. Applied as easily as water, the result is gloriously beautiful hair — full of life and luster. Dandruff disappears — the scalp is cleansed. Does not affect waving — does not rub off, is not sticky or greasy. Does not stain scalp or linen. It contains positively nothing injurious — cannot deaden hair or scalp.

It's a MYSTERY why GRAY HAIR is tolerated! It's the CRIME that KILLS ROMANCE

Write for our free booklet, "Home Care of the Hair." Contains helpful hints on the home care of permanents, marcels, oily and dry scalp, etc. Nourishine, $1.25; Shampoo, 50c, at drug and department stores or by mail from NOURISHINE COMPANY, 727 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & CO

1854–1934
LIFE BEGINS AT 80

Or at 79, or 78, for that matter. In fact, at every birthday from the very first, life begins for an institution that is in the hands of young-thinking individuals.

This store is convincing evidence of that—for at 80 its viewpoint is just as fresh and forward-looking as it was when its enthusiastic young founders, Samuel Carson and John Pirie, first began to deal in "Ladies' and Gentlemen's Dress" in the little town of Amboy back in the 1850's.

The store has changed unbelievably since those days of its precocious infancy. Its early acquaintances, who knew it as "Carson & Pirie," a little two-story chap who used to give them a friendly welcome when they pulled up in their horse-drawn vehicles, would need a new introduction to the impressive Carson Pirie Scott & Co.—one of the "big fellows" of State Street who receives scores of visitors in streamline cars every day.

They'd find the same cordial welcome, however—and the same high principles that gave them a sense of security in all their dealings with "Carson & Pirie" from its very earliest days.

And, further than that, they'd find an eager interest in the affairs of today, a responsiveness to the modern order of things, a quickness to sense new trends. That's because, in spite of all the busy years behind it, Carson Pirie Scott & Co. actually begins life anew each day.

"THE PICK OF THE FINEST PELTS" WENT INTO THE Persian Lamb Collars on These Cloth Coats And the Values Are Outstanding Ones in the Annual Sale

PERSIAN lamb is one of the "first fur families" this season—for its supple quality makes it particularly adaptable to the "dressmaker" collars that are so important in fashion. But it's a family of many numbers—and we have taken especial care to see that the Persian lamb that adorns our coats is a credit to the family name. Carson quality—in other words.

The Coat with the Muff at $79.75

An irresistible young coat of soft diagonal weave woolen proves that Persian lamb can be just as becoming to misses as to women. Slim and shapely, with a high, boyish collar and a perfectly enchanting little muff. The collar is of Persian, and the jabot and muff are trimmed with it.

The Coat with the Luxurious Rippled Shawl Collar Is $100

Just see the quantity of Persian lamb that has gone into the fashioning of this flattering rippled shawl collar. The quality you must see for yourself to appreciate. The coat is of a rich black suede-like fabric, slender in line, with a slight nip-in at the waist. An extraordinary value at $100.

BEARS' LINE IS JUST ONE STAR AFTER ANOTHER

But Collegians Can Match 'Em.

BY DICK HANLEY.
[Football Coach, Northwestern University.]

A very famous football coach, in drawing an analogy, once compared football with an army. He maintained the linemen were the infantry, while the backs acted as the cavalry. This simile, while undoubtedly logical at the time it was made, would hardly apply to military strategy of today.

Definitly it would not apply to the Chicago Bears football team of last season. If a military comparison is to be made, I would prefer likening their linemen to the artillery. Yes, even make it the heavy guns.

But let us forget the army. We were discussing those young gents who make up the Bears' line. Did I say young? Certainly youthful when one recognizes earnestness and enthusiasm as a characteristic of youth. The greater number of this group, however, are seasoned campaigners.

Lyman Is a Marvel.

The marvel of the squad to my mind is Link Lyman. Here is an athlete who finished his college football career at the University of Nebraska 12 years ago. Yet, I believe George Halas would nominate this fellow as one of the important cogs in the Bears' march to the championship. He is big, tremendously so; active, fast, smart and strong. I am inclined to agree with Halas.

His running mate, Mastodon Musso, is the baby of the squad from the standpoint of experience. It is rather far-fetched, however, to label a 270 pounder an infant. This player's progress has been remarkable. When he reported for the World's Fair game last summer, he impressed me chiefly because of his size. At the end of last football season he was one of the fine tackles in the professional game.

Kopcha, Carlson and Zeller, are veterans. And top liners also. Zeller is used as a defensive back when his teammates are in a six man line. Pearson doubles at the center and guard positions. Versatile athletes, these fellows.

Miller Rivals Bernard.

Ookie Miller, ex-Purdue star, is in my opinion the only rival Chuck Bernard of Michigan has when one nominates the best center of the last ten years. While captaining Purdue's varsity in 1931, Miller did as much to win the famous Purdue-Northwestern charity affair as any man on the field. Later in the East-West game, he was outstanding. His position certainly is well fortified.

It is at the end position that the Bears are superior to any of their rivals. If pro football has a better quartet than Hewitt, Johnsos, Karr, and Franklin, some one has been holding out on me.

Hewitt ranks with the great ends of all time. Lightning fast, a fine pass catcher, a remarkably sharp tackler, he certainly is one of the squad's spark plugs. As a member of the all eastern squad three years ago, Bill was extremely quiet during the entire trip. Imagine the surprise of the squad when Dal Marvil, who played alongside Hewitt, related the following story.

Bill Tells 'Em.

"The boys had kidded Hewitt about a 250 pound tackle who was to oppose him. They dug up stories about this fellow's achievements which were supposed to have convinced Bill a private hospital was necessary to take care of the individual opponents who had the temerity to play against him. Just as game time approached, Hewitt stepped up to this behemoth and remarked:

"'I've heard all about you, guy, and one tough move out of you today and I'll chase you out of the stadium.'

"They eyed each other and finally the opposing tackle walked away. Marvil said later Bill confessed that had the tackle made a move, he [Hewitt] would have jumped out of the park."

Luke Johnsos is a great running mate for Hewitt. For years he has been a great end. Luke came slowly

WARNEKE GETS 16TH VICTORY BEFORE 30,000

Derringer Is Puzzle in Opener.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Paul Derringer, a gent who has been beaten 14 times this year and who bit the dust 27 times last season, toyed with the Cubs yesterday in administering a four hit, 4 to 0 shellacking in the first game of the Chicago-Cincinnati double header before 30,000. Then the Cubs came back to cooperate in the accomplishment of Lon Warneke's 16th victory of the year, an affair which saw the Chicago's attain a 4 to 1 decision.

The game which the Reds won was the seventh plastering the tail-enders have accorded the proud Cubs this year. No other team in the league has been chumped more than five times by the miserable Cincinnatians. It was, furthermore, the second successive 4 to 0 shutout suffered by big Jim Weaver, for whom the Cubs have not scored a run in 18 innings, spreading over three games, his three losses since he won seven straight as a Cub.

Easy for Derringer.

After the first eleven Cubs had been retired without seeing first base it was apparent that Derringer had handcuffs on them, even as he had them manacled when he threshed them in Cincinnati a week ago Saturday.

With two down in the fourth Stainback doubled. With two down in the seventh Babe Herman singled. With two down in the eighth Hack got a single. Pinch batter Galan then got a walk to become the fourth Cub to get on base. And with one out in the ninth Stainback got another hit, a single. Five base runners in all, and not one of them got to third base. Only two got to second.

In the second game the Cubs made enough runs in their first inning to win. But even so, they weren't such bruisers with their bats. They made only eight hits, all singles. The losers made seven hits, including doubles by Koenig and Hafey.

Slip Half a Game.

The day's activities saw the Cubs lose a half game in their race with the Giants. They will start on their western trip three games back of the New Yorkers.

Some alarm was felt when Gabby Hartnett retired for the day after the third inning of the first game.

Gabby received a crack on the knuckle, but it was not a break, according to reports following an examination. The catching star will make the western trip and may be able to work tomorrow.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs were lucky to get out of the second inning of the first game with only one run scored against them. The session started with English chasing Stainback away from Bottomley's pop fly, then losing it in the sun for a cheap double. Hafey bounced one to English, and Woody promptly cast it into the dugout. Bottomley fell on his face as he rounded third, but was waved home under the ground rules.

Hafey reached second on the error. Schulmerich walked and the runners held their bases while Lombardi lined to Stainback. Comorosky ran the count to three balls and two strikes and grounded out to English. Derringer struck out on three pitches.

Stainback Hits Double.

The Cubs didn't get a glimpse of first base until two were out in the fourth. At this juncture Stainback slammed a double off the left field wall. The accomplishment came to naught when Babe Herman tapped to Slade for the third out.

The next productive inning was the sixth. With one down Hafey was hit by a pitched ball. On the hit and run Schulmerich bounced a single through the short stop position when English left it to cover second, Hafey taking third. Lombardi singled to right, Hafey scoring and Schulmerich taking third, whence he scored on Comorosky's drive to Stainback. Derringer fanned.

Babe Herman made the second hit off Derringer when he singled to cen-

PURDUE PASSING COMBINE MAY SURPRISE BEARS

Hecker to Pardonner Is Real Threat.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The forward pass—Hecker to Pardonner—that broke up numerous college football games in the last three seasons may again be an important offensive weapon when the All-Stars meet the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field Aug. 31.

Although anything but aerial specialists, the Purdue backs who will perform for the collegians are legitimate triple threat stars. Hecker and Pardonner developed a habit of completing a long pass when least expected and the strategy of the game may again find the Boilermaker pair essaying their famous duet.

Hecker Is Marksman.

Hecker, selected as the most valuable player on the Purdue eleven last fall, was recognized as one of the most accurate forward passers in the game, especially at long range. Against Notre Dame he took the ball in midfield, cut for the sidelines as he drifted back and then got off a 45 yard toss into Pardonner's hands for a touchdown. The play was typical of innumerable other aerial thrusts in which the Boilermaker pair figured in their three years.

They Are Old Hands.

Neither of the Boilermaker stars will feel out of place playing in a charity game in Soldiers' field, for they figured prominently in the 1931 Purdue-Northwestern post-season benefit contest on the same field when the Boilermakers scored a 7 to 0 victory to earn a share of the Big Ten championship. It was Hecker's interception of a Northwestern pass, followed by a long run, that started Purdue's victorious touchdown drive on that occasion. Pardonner, at quarter back, directed the strategy that day, and called his unerring toe into action to make a successful drop kick for the point after touchdown.

When it comes to making points after touchdown, Pardonner has no peer. In three years at Purdue, Pardonner made 28 successful drop kicks for points after touchdown in 32 attempts. Two of his attempts were blocked, one was lost by an offside penalty.

Paul Can Block.

Although Pardonner was chiefly known for his drop kicking ability, his alertness on pass defense, coupled with his pass catching ability, made him a dangerous scorer. Although he seldom carried the ball from scrimmage, devoting his energies to blocking and punt handling, he led the Big Ten co-champions of 1931 in scoring.

Both Pardonner and Hecker excel as blockers, and it was their ability to cut down tacklers that accounted in great part for the high yardage average of the Purdue players last season.

Yankees Release Veteran Pitcher Burleigh Grimes

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Yankees today announced the unconditional release of Burleigh Grimes, veteran right hander and only spitball pitcher in the majors. The Yankees acquired Grimes after he had been declared a free agent by the St. Louis Cardinals a couple of months ago. The veteran, however, has been of little assistance.

New York Soccer Team Beats Mexico City, 2 to 1

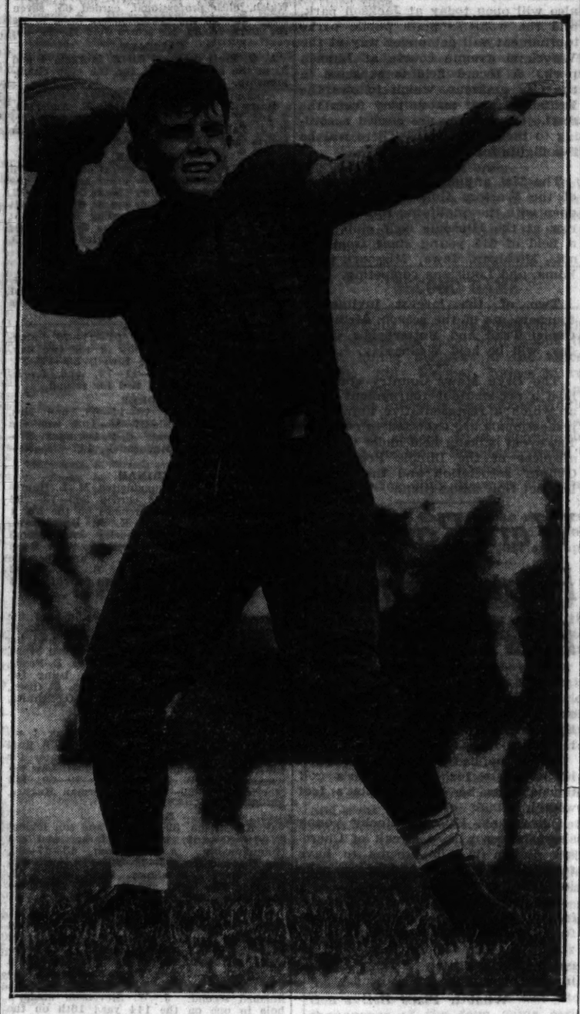
RIGHT OVER GRANGE'S HEAD



Paul Pardonner, Purdue's quarter back star, who will be a constant threat to the Bears in the All-Star game Aug. 31 as a passer and pass receiver from his old teammate, Fred Hecker, all-star full back.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 5.—The White Sox revealed more of their eighth place characteristics today, much to the satisfaction of the pennant seeking Tigers. They showed their appreciation of the feeble display by taking the sorely pressed Chicagoans for another gay ride before 15,000 in the final of the series. The score was 7 to 0, giving Detroit a sweep of the three game set, as well as its 15th triumph in 19 starts against the Sox this season.

Today's grief was poured out on what remains of a one time great Ted Lyons. He took his first shaking up as early as the opening inning, but it was only a mild jolt. Then in the second he wilted after a fielding blunder by Manager Jim Dykes and the Tigers clinched the verdict with a cluster of four runs. After that Lyons was fair except in the fourth, but he was merely wasting his time. It was his 10th defeat against six victories.

Bridges Is Right.

The reason for the lack of production by the Sox was Tommy Bridges. They not only were shy on runs but also on hits, the total of the latter being a half dozen scattered through as many innings. There were only three of the nine innings in which the cellar dwellers had more than one man on base.

This was managed because Bridges wasn't particularly stingy about his passes. However, he was foxy enough to keep the Sox away from third base until the ninth inning, when a runner reached there because of a flurry of wildness.

The Tigers permitted Lyons to get by without much trouble in the first inning. The only untoward happening was a homer into the bleachers by Gehringer. The second, however, was vastly different. A four run riot started with Dykes booting Rogell's bounder. Greenberg almost knocked a leg off Lyons with a line drive which caromed into right field for a single. Rogell and Greenberg scored on Owen's triple to right center. Fox was thrown out, after which passes to Bridges and White filled the bases. Two of these fellows scored on a double by Cochrane, whereupon order was restored.

Scoring Over Early.

Lyons was given a breathing spell in the third, but the Tigers were on the loose again in the fourth. They scored a pair on four hits. This started when White singled past Dykes after Bridges had fanned. Cochrane popped out to Dykes. Gehringer then singled to center, putting White on third. Goslin singled to right, White scoring and Gehringer moving to the far corner. Rogell poked a single through short and Gehringer scored the last run of the afternoon. Greenberg filed to Simmons to conclude the inning.

While the Tigers were compiling seven runs and nine hits in four innings, the Sox could collect only two hits. Dykes furnished one of these

TORRANCE PUTS 16 POUND SHOT 57 FEET 5-32 INCHES

OSLO, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Jack Torrance, huge weight man from Louisiana State, today shattered all records, official and otherwise, for the 16 pound shot put. Competing with a touring American track squad in an international meet here, he got away a toss of 17.40 meters, or 57 feet, 5-32 inch.

Torrance and his California rival, John Lyman, have been breaking the listed world's shot put record, set at 52 feet, 7⅝ inches by Z. Heljasz of Poland in 1932, with monotonous regularity, with the southerner always a jump ahead. Torrance's best previous mark was 56 feet, 5 inches, set at Baton Rouge, La., in May. He won the American outdoor title with a toss of 55 feet, 5 inches in June and the Drake relay title at Des Moines in April with a heave of 56 feet, 1½ inches. Lyman's best mark is 54 feet, 1 inch.

THIL WINS; FANS RIOT AT DECISION IN PRELIMINARY

MARSEILLES, France, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Marcel Thil, recognized in some quarters as world's middleweight champion, outpointed Rinaldi Meroni of Italy in the ten round feature bout of a boxing show today marked by a near riot over the decision given in one of the preliminaries.

Spectators, differing over the merits of a decision in favor of Kid Farnels, local bantamweight, over Spider Pladner, in an earlier ten-rounder, engaged in a free-for-all in which fists and chairs were the principal weapons. Police restored order by arresting the combatants.

BIG SIX BATTING LEADERS PUT IN PROFITABLE DAY

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

With the exception of Heinie Manush, the big six batters had a profitable day at the plate yesterday, but none did quite so well as Lou Gehrig and Bill Terry.

The New Yorkers each made four hits in four trips to the plate, and one for each was a homer. Gehrig's was his 36th. They gained six points apiece, Gehrig for a .380 average and Terry for .367.

The Giant manager tied Charley Gehringer for fourth place and took the National league lead from Paul Waner, although the latter hit five times in ten times at bat for a four point gain. Manush hit three out of eight, dropping one point to .389. The standings:

HUMBER WINS PENTATHLON AT MEXICAN MEET

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Jess Humber, Los Angeles, who won first places in four of five events, captured the international senior pentathlon today.

Victories in the high jump and basketball throw, and a second place in the shot put on the final day enabled Humber to beat Alfonso Morales, San Diego, 5,606 to 4,724. Bob Wilde, Los Angeles, who won the shot put, was third with 4,285; Florentino Gascon, Mexico City, was fourth, scoring 4,163, and Bob Wyatt, Phoenix, finished fifth with 3,599.

Clarence Mackay, Los Angeles, and Alva Collier, San Diego, were battling for the junior penthatlon title when rain prevented Mackay from completing the high jump. A good score in that event tomorrow would give him the title. Collier bettered the shot put record with a toss of 45 feet today.

SARATOGA SALES ATTRACT CHICAGO STABLE OWNERS

They'll Be Bidding High on Yearlings Wednesday.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Dismayed at the way horses from New York, Maryland, California, Kentucky and Virginia have invaded this racing section and carried away our richest turf prizes, Chicagoans are expected to be more prominent among the buyers at the Saratoga yearling sales which open this week than they ever have been before.

At least prospective Chicago buyers of young racing stock will be more numerous. How much money they will spend to reënforce their stables or recruit new ones only the sales themselves will reveal.

Most of the Chicagoans plan to be in the sales amphitheater Wednesday night when the auctions open, and a great many of them will remain until the last horses are sold Aug. 21.

Wright Attends Sales.

Warren Wright, whose Calumet stable figured prominently in the racing at Arlington already has headed east and will be present at several of the auctions, althought it is his plan to produce most of the horses which race in his silks at his own Calumet farm in Kentucky.

Alderman John Coughlin's representative at the sales will leave today with instructions to get the alderman a few good ones regardless of the cost. L. M. Severson, Chappel Brothers of Rockford, Valentine Crane, Richard and Patrick Nash, Fred Burton, Charles W Bidwill, William Schmidt, Albert Sabath, T. C. Worden and the Evergreen Stock farm from near Bloomington are other well known stables from Chicago which will be represented at the sales in an effort to come into possession of a performer that can turn back the invading forces when a rich stake is up for a decision.

Racing Business Booms.

These Chicagoans may have an eye out for business along with their civic pride in wanting to keep the rich purses in the old home town. With racing expanding at an unheard of rate and great tracks springing up almost overnight in many parts of the country, they can see that money exchanged for a horse which can win races is not a bad investment at all.

C. W. Hay, general manager of the Washington Park track and a steward at Hawthorne, believes there will be a big boom in the price of yearlings this year. He is so confident of it that he has sent five from his Scotland farm at Frankfort, Ky., which will go under the hammer at the first session of the sales on Wednesday evening. The five he is sending to the sales are all sons of Judge Hay, a very fast horse of a few seasons ago. This young sire is a strapping big son of Peter Pan-Elizabeth M., and these yearlings represent his first crop.

Two that have attracted much attention are a son of Judge Hay—Genie Crit and a son of Judge Hay—Ave Russell, the latter a half-brother to the good horse, Ramoneur.

Toro's Youngsters in Demand.

Sons and daughters of Toro which are to be sold by Arthur B. Hancock on Friday night will come in for some lively bidding by the Chicagoans who watched Toro's daughter, Toro Nancy, win the Arlington Futurity a short time ago. Hancock is selling eight sired by Toro. They will be among the last sons and daughters of Toro ever to go on the market as the young stock horse died last year.

Tennis Stars Enter Tourney at Brookline

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Major league tennis players will converge on Longwood tomorrow. A mixed company will compete for the historic Longwood bowl and other trophies here. The following week, the men will polish off for the national championships in the famous Newport Casino tourney, which probably will find Frank Shields and Sidney Wood, United States Davis cup singles players, making their first important home start.

George Lott and Lester Stoefen America's victorious doubles internationalists, are due to arrive from England Tuesday and rush to Longwood to take part in the team play. The start will be delayed until their arrival.

Star Field Is Entered.

Due to its shift from a mid-July date, the 42d competition for the Longwood bowl will have one of the best fields in many years. During the last few seasons the Davis cup play and conflicting western tournaments have robbed this Brookline competition of much of its luster.

Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., second ranking national singles star whose eastern campaign was interrupted by a needless call to Wimbledon, is top seeded for the bowl competition. He won it in 1928. Sarah Palfrey, Wightman cup star, heads the women's draw.

Behind Allison are seeded Bryan Grant, Atlanta; Frankie Parker, Milwaukee; Berkeley Bell, New York; Johnny Van Ryn, Philadelphia; Jack Tidball, Los Angeles; Henry Prusoff, Seattle, and Donald Budge, Oakland, Cal.

Mrs. Van Ryn to Play.

On the favored list with Miss Palfrey are Josephine Cruickshank of the United States Wightman cup forces; Mrs. John Van Ryn, Virginia Rice, Boston; Jane Sharp, Los Angeles; Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter, Dedham; Mrs. Mary Greef Harris, Kansas City, and Katherine Winthrop, who was runner-up to Dorothy Andrus in the Maidstone club final Saturday.

Betty V. Wins Lehman Trophy on Lake George

Race or Get Out, New Rule at Hawthorne

Owners of stables who haven't started a horse at Hawthorne by next Saturday will be ordered to vacate their stalls, President Albert Sabath announced yesterday.

There are 920 horses registered at Hawthorne, yet the racing secretary has been experiencing difficulty getting entries for the eight daily races.

President Sabath believes a lot of the inactive horses at Hawthorne are "badge" horses and that their owners are keeping them there just to enjoy the privilege of free admission to the track.

There are some 200 horses ready to ship here when stable room is available.

An outstanding jocky star has not leaped to the front during the first week of Hawthorne's meeting. J. King is the leader with six winning mounts. Buddy Haas, Paul Keester, and L. Belaski are tied for second place with five each.

The consistent Malolo, which has won three of his last four starts, was made the overnight favorite at 7 to 5 to win the fifth race on this afternoon's Hawthorne program. The race is at 6½ furlongs with Back Log, Rizla and Secret Tryst coming in for some support.

The best race on today's program is the sixth engaging seven fast steppers at six furlongs. Croon, Dusky Devil, and Broad Meadows promise to muster the most backers.

Patient Fisher Seems to Get Most Strikes

BY BOB BECKER.

After experimenting with a number of floating fly rod bass lures this season and also trying out different methods of handling these lures, it looks as if the fishermen who isn't in too much of a hurry will get more strikes than the chap who works the lure rapidly. Surface lures should not be worked too fast.

We have used nothing but fly rods to catch bass this season, although we have not forsaken our stock of steel and bamboo bait casting rods. We still get a big thrill in catching fish with light bait casting rods and a variety of lures.

New Lures Are Attractive.

This season we have stayed close to the fly rods in fooling large and small mouthed black bass, because we have visited lakes particularly suited to fly rod angling, and also because there are so many intriguing new lures waiting to be tried. After putting in many hours whipping 9 and 9½ foot fly rods [both hollow tube steel and bamboo] we still have more new lures that remain to be tested. These are going to be paraded and baptized in lakes and streams this month.

Due to the fact that manufacturers have turned out many new and efficient floating lures [fly rod] for black bass, the surface type of fishing for the bronze backs seems to be on the upgrade. There are all kinds of tricky surface baits on the market today. We have tried out at least a dozen since we started bass fishing this year.

In the list are imitation frogs, imitation crawfish, imitation dragon flies, and both hair and cork bodied oddities that imitate something or other, although you may have doubts as to what the creature is. A few of these lures are rather bulky, offer considerable wind resistance and thus are difficult to cast.

Novice May Have Trouble.

The novice may find it quite a struggle to get them out, especially in a light breeze, or if he hasn't a rod powerful enough to handle them. Recently the jointed minnow idea has been applied to a fly rod surface lure to make another type of bass fooler.

In our fly box we keep hair flies, cork bodied bugs and imitation frogs, mice and other queer looking floaters. And they catch fish. However, we would not recommend that a fisherman going after bass with a fly rod take only surface lures. We have found there are times when the bass do not come up for the top of the water baits. Therefore, an assortment of wet flies and small spinners is necessary.

Has Luck with Spinner.

It's a good idea to select a narrow bladed spinner to reduce resistance against the water when the lure is moved. This season we have had unusually good luck with small gold spinners [narrow blades] riding ahead of orange or yellow wet flies.

Oak Park Pitcher Hurls No Hit Game; Wins Title

Rosenbloom and Dundee Battles Top Week's Card

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion, and Vince Dundee, middleweight titleholder, provide the brightest spots on an otherwise dull boxing schedule over the country during the coming week.

While neither risks his title, Rosenbloom will box Pietro Georgi, San Francisco, ten rounds at Oakland, Cal., Wednesday night, and Thursday night Dundee will meet Tommy Rios, Wilmington, Del., in a 10 round overweight match at Leiperville, Pa.

MONDAY—At Chicago: Frank Battaglia vs. Solly Dukelsky, middleweights, 10; Franklin Cheek vs. Dave Barry, featherweights, 8. At Asheville, N. C.: Red Barry vs. Johnny Freeman, heavyweights, 10; Joe Lipps vs. Mike Mitchell, light heavyweights, 10. At Jersey City, N. J.: Young Zazzarino vs. Frankie Carleton, lightweights, 10. At West Springfield, Mass.: Coco Kid vs. Gaston Lecadre, welterweights, 8; Harry Bowman vs. Felippo Yambo, bantamweights, 8.

TUESDAY—At Hartford, Conn.: Sal Ruggerello vs. Unknown Winston, heavyweights, 10. At Cleveland: Patsy Severo vs. Jackie Sharkie, junior lightweights, 10; Lou Severo vs. Joie Spiegel, welterweights, 6.

WEDNESDAY—At Oakland, Cal.: Maxie Rosenbloom vs. Pietro Georgi, light heavyweights, 10 [non-title]. At Cincinnati: Moon Mullins vs. Johnny Albo, featherweights, 10.

POLICEMAN HURT PLAYING DONKEY BASEBALL DIES

Pasadena, Cal., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Donkey baseball, which has gained popularity in southern California, suffered its first fatality today.

William Beck, Pasadena policeman, fell to the ground fatally injured in the midst of a game last night. He died at a hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage early today. Beck knocked the ball afield and then tried to reach first base on the donkey ahead of the throw from the outfielder, also mounted on the desert beast.

He was thrown from his mount three times but managed to make first base. The fourth time he was thrown his spine was fractured near his skull.

Garibaldi, Brown Wrestle Tomorrow at White City

Ralph Garibaldi, St. Louis wrestler, will meet Jack [Bad Boy] Brown tomorrow evening in the feature two out of three falls match at Promoter Mique Malloy's White City show. The bout will have a 90 minute time limit. Bull Curry and Bill Jensen will meet in one of the preliminary matches. John Varkovich and Al Waznika, and Dale Haddock and Buck O'Neil also are paired.

State Women Golfers Start Tourney Today

The first annual Illinois women's state championship, sponsored and conducted by the Chicago Women's Golf association at the Evanston Golf club, today will inaugurate one of the busiest weeks of the local season. A field of 100 stars from every part of the state will take part in the qualifying round. Match play for the Gov. Horner trophy will open tomorrow and continue through Friday.

Chicago's oldest golf event, the 30th annual city amateur championship, also will open today at Jackson park, and the women's state public parks tournament will get under way at the Waveland avenue course at Lincoln park. A record field is expected in the city amateur, which follows the British plan of match play from the start. Contestants are seeded according to their handicaps. There will be five flights for ten trophies.

The 21st annual junior tournament of the Western Golf association will open with the qualifying round tomorrow at the Hinsdale Golf club, with a field of 215 young stars from Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Louisiana competing.

Two of the largest invitational tournaments of the season, Medinah's Camel Trail and Butterfield's Cruise day, will be held Wednesday.

The Bryn Mawr Country club will hold a pro-amateur tournament today at which a representative number of professionals are expected to compete. The event is being held under the joint auspices of the Illinois Professional Golfers' association and the Chicago District Golf association.

Want Rabbit's Foot? Laffoon Has One Cheap

Maybe he has already. But when he left here for the summer's golf tournaments he had a rabbit's foot with him.

Since then, Ky, the stocky young sharpshooter with a streak of Cherokee Indian in him, seems to have turned into a subpar runner-up who just can't win.

The latest example was at Toronto, in the Canadian open yesterday. Laffoon blew in at the finish with a sizzling 68, two under par, but he couldn't quite catch Tommy Armour in first place, two shots ahead.

What a Place Bet!

Laffoon tied Harry Cooper of Chicago for the Western Open crown at Peoria, Ill. They were still tied at the end of the first playoff. Cooper triumphed in the second.

Then came the St. Paul Open and another tie for Ky. This time he tied Cooper and Johnny Revolta. Revolta won in the three cornered playoff and Ky found himself in his accustomed second place niche.

It began to look as if a regular runner-up hoodoo had hold of Ky when last Monday he finished second to Charles Dozer of Rochester in the central New York tournament.

The hoodoo took a tighter hold in the Canadian Open. Ky started indifferently with a 79, but he shot two 71s in a row to go with his closing 68 and come in three strokes ahead of everybody but Armour.

That 266 Rabbit's Foot.

This was just before Laffoon shot the lowest 72 hole medal ever scored in competitive play. He blazed across the Park Hill turf in 67—69—63—67—266, to smash by four strokes the previous world's record of 270 set by Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., in the Cavalier Open at Virginia Beach last April.

KELLY TOPS RACE STANDINGS FOR MOTORCYCLISTS

American Motorcycle association standings just released show Mark Kelly still leading but only by a slight margin as Jimmy Gibb, Los Angeles, has beaten the leader several times recently. Kelly has 189 points and Gibb is 15 behind him. He may pass Kelly at the next meet Wednesday night at the Logan Square track, Kedzie and Elston avenues.

Lou Wilson is third in the standings, followed by Tom Cox, Clifford Hills, and Eric Chitty, who turned in the best races in the last two weeks.

Kelly	44	25	7	189
Gibb	41	19	13	174
Wilson	33	31	12	143
Cox	14	21	10	114
Springston	6	20	14	72
Spith	8	13	11	61
Hills	10	7	4	48
Chitty	4	8	6	34

The Chicago-Milwaukee team race will be held Wednesday night.

ANCIENT MOTOR BOAT CHAMPION TO RACE IN 1935

Bolton Landing, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Amazed at the performance of his old El Lagarto in winning the Gold cup two years running, George Reis announced today he again will drive the ancient racer next year in defense of the American motor boat championship.

New York Manager Gets Four for Four.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The New York Giants, led by Manager Bill Terry, hammered hits all over Baker bowl today as they turned in a 7 to 4 victory over the Phillies.

While Terry, with four hits in four trips to the plate—including a homer—was the big factor in giving the Giants their third victory in the four game series, Mel Ott and and Lefty O'Doul contributed to the triumph.

Terry batted in three of the Giants' runs with a long homer in the third, his 29th of the season, while O'Doul, in a pinch hitting rôle in the seventh, hit a double that scored another pair of runs.

Roy Parmalee held the Phils to seven hits and hung up his fourth triumph, while Manager Jimmy Wilson was using three pitchers, none of whom seemed effective against the titleholders.

Ott hit a homer in the third.

DODGERS, BRAVES SPLIT.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Dodgers and the Braves divided a double header today, Boston winning the first contest, 7 to 3, with a ninth inning rally against Emil Leonard, and Brooklyn the second game, 5 to 3.

Fred Frankhouse won his 15th victory of the season in the first game when Owen Carroll was removed after giving a walk in the ninth and Leonard yielded three hits and as many runs. Carroll succeeded Tom Zachary.

Bear Line Is Just One Star After Another

at Northwestern, finally becoming a regular in his junior year. Ineligible his senior year, he participated in the East-West game, and outplayed two all-American ends.

Collegians Can Match Them.

Karr and Franklin are capable understudies for these stars, the latter occasionally filling in at the tackle job with Richards, an old Nebraska star.

Buss of Michigan State, just as fine a tackle as any of those nominated for this position in balloting: Davis, Becker, Aspitor, and Zeszck are all newcomers.

How then can the All-Stars match this Bear line? It has power to the nth degree. It has experience galore. The reserve strength is adequate. Is it a hopeless task? I should say emphatically now.

The collegiate line can almost match the Bears physically. They have in my opinion, a bit more speed, being considerably younger, they should round into playing condition more readily than their more experienced opponents. These are two all important factors, speed and condition. Give the All-Stars this edge at the end of the training period and its either team's ball game.

ST. ADRIAN BEATS ST. BLASE, 5 TO 4, IN C. Y. O. LEAGUE

St. Adrian, 1938 national Catholic Youth organization baseball champions, defeated St. Blase, 5 to 4, yesterday afternoon. Yesterday's victory threw the divisional race into a tie between St. Blase and St. Adrian.

St. Mary of Celle maintained its undefeated record and also clinched its divisional championship when it batted out a 7 to 1 victory over St. Mel. St. Michael [Slovak] also won its divisional title by scoring its eighth straight victory over St. Martin, 8 to 7. The scores:

Gomez Yields One Hit; Yanks Beat A's, 3 to 1

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Lefty Gomez barely missed pitching a no hit game today for his 18th victory of the season, but even with his fine hurling it took a pair of home runs for the Yankees to beat the Athletics 3 to 1 and sweep the three game series.

One of the homers was Lou Gehrig's 36th of the season, which put him two ahead of Jimmie Foxx and kept him in front of Babe Ruth's 1927 record. But that wasn't needed after Tony Lazzeri had hit a home run in the seventh to put the Yanks ahead.

Gomez yielded the A's only one hit, a double which came in the second when Foxx's pop fly landed in safe territory. That fluke hit eventually led to the Philadelphia run when Foxx was run down on Pinky Higgins' grounder. Then Higgins scored when Lazzeri dropped Ed Coleman's liner.

INDIANS, 5; BROWNS, 2.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Hal Trosky's home run in the fourth inning with two men on base put the Indians ahead of the Browns today, and Cleveland won, 5 to 2.

The Cleveland first baseman's homer, which cleared the right field fence, scoring Averill and Vosmik, was one of the few lucky breaks of the game for the Indians, who were held to nine hits by Buck Newsome and Ivy Andrews, right handers.

Willis Hudlin, Cleveland right hander, was relieved by Mel Harder in the eighth inning when the Browns threatened to score with two men on bases. Score:

RED SOX, SENATORS SPLIT.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Washington and Boston split a double header today before 26,262 customers with the Senators winning the opener, 2 to 1, and the Red Sox the second game, 7 to 3.

Ed Linke, rookie Washington pitcher, limited the Red Sox to six scattered hits in the opener while his teammates supported him brilliantly. Sewell's single, Linke's sacrifice, and Manush's hit to right provided the winning run in the seventh.

Reds Keep Going.

Hafey opened the eighth with a single to left, went to second on Schulmerich's sacrifice, to third on Lombardi's single to center, and scored while Comorosky was forcing Schulmerich. Derringer fanned for the third time.

The Cubs actually got as many runners on base in the eighth inning as they had in the previous seven innings, namely, two. With two out Hack beat out an infield single and Galan, batting for Weaver, drew a pass. Billy Herman flied to Schulmerich.

Tinning pitched the ninth, and the Reds were retired in order.

Stainback's second and the Cubs' fourth hit with one down in the ninth didn't mean anything, for Babe Herman fanned and Cuyler tapped to Kampouris.

SECOND GAME

The Cubs looked like a ball club with an offense as they went about the first inning business in the second game. Billy Herman, hitless in two games, opened with a single and English, also hitless in two games, singled to right, putting Billy on third. Woody went to second when Schulmerich juggled the ball. Stainback fouled to Manion, but Babe Herman singled to left, scoring Billy Herman and English.

Koenig Hits Double.

The third hit off Warneke was a double with which Koenig opened the sixth. Bottomley singled to center and Koenig stopped at third after figuring Cuyler had a chance for a shoestring catch. Hafey lined to Stainback, Koenig scoring. Schulmerich fouled to Phelps, but Comorosky singled to center, Bottomley stopping at second. Lombardi batted for Manion and flied to Babe Herman.

With one out in the sixth Cuyler walked after a three and two count and went to third on Phelps' single to right center. Ki scored on Hurst's long fly to Hafey. Hack singled to left, Phelps stopping at second. The bases were full when Koenig juggled Warneke's grounder. Billy Herman walked, forcing Phelps to score. English bounced to Frey. There were no further forays.

The Cubs will leave for Pittsburgh tonight, departing from the Union station at 10 o'clock. Bill Lee will pitch the opener of the four game series with the Pirates tomorrow.

The Cubs will play eight games in six days on their western road trip. The calendar calls for a double header in Pittsburgh Wednesday—the playoff of that 8 to 8 tie—and a double header next Sunday in St. Louis. The extra game in St. Louis will be one frozen out April 20, if you can imagine a freezeout in St. Louis.

John Slater Last of Old Jefferson Force.

John Slater, sole survivor of the 18 policemen absorbed into the Chicago department when the village of Jefferson was annexed in 1889, died yesterday at the home of his son, Charles Slater, 3510 North Crawford avenue. He was 79 years old. The son said his father died suddenly of a heart attack after enjoying perfect health all his life.

Slater retired eight years ago after serving as a desk sergeant almost constantly at the Irving Park station, which is in the old Jefferson area. He became a policeman on the Jefferson village force just before it became a part of Chicago. Previously, Slater served as a detective for the Chicago and North Western railroad, where he lost his right arm in an accident.

Despite his one arm, Slater was rated by his superiors as one of the most valuable men in the district. He handled the telephone, before the days of the teletype, when all messages were transcribed by the desk sergeants. Often he and another policeman would be alone in the station, when word was received from the State Hospital for the Insane at Dunning that an inmate had escaped.

Once Nearly Hanged.

Slater would leave the station, wait outside at Milwaukee avenue and Irving park boulevard, and then capture the escaped inmates, who usually passed there on the way to freedom.

While serving a short time at the Cragin station, he almost was hanged by a mob because of a mistake. A storekeeper, friend of Slater, was shot and mortally wounded. Before becoming unconscious, he gasped out: "Get one-arm Slater." Mistaking this statement for an accusation, the crowd of witnesses set after Slater with a rope. He eluded them, and two days later the storekeeper absolved him in a dying statement, explaining he wanted Slater to track down the assailant, who was later captured and sent to prison.

Before working on the desk, Slater patrolled a beat about 10 or 12 miles long, according to former Lieut. Samuel Collins, who commanded the old Irving Park station for 30 years. In stormy weather, Slater would borrow a handcar from the Northwestern railroad, the tracks of which ran through the district, and use it to get over the ground.

Friend of Children.

For many years he was a familiar character in the neighborhood he saw grow into a thriving community. He always was a great favorite with children, stopping to talk with them on his way to and from work.

With exception of the late George W. Hunt, who lost an arm in a riot in 1885, Slater was the only one armed man ever connected with the Chicago police department. He is survived by his son and two daughters: Mrs. Josephine Mounsey, and Mrs. Lillian Snell of Wilmette. The funeral will be Tuesday from Schmidt's undertaking rooms, 3834 Irving Park boulevard, with burial at Montrose cemetery.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Was He Worth Saving?

PRINCESS RIGO, VIOLINIST'S WIFE, DIES IN POVERTY

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Katherine Gordon, 55 years old, of 164 Manhattan avenue, best remembered as Princess Rigo, widow of Prince Rigo, world renowned gypsy violinist, died in poverty this afternoon at Harlem hospital.

Last night the hospital authorities said that unless friends or relatives intervene Mrs. Gordon would be buried in a pauper's grave.

They hoped that a sister, living in Philadelphia, but whose name was unknown, might read of the death of Princess Rigo and arrange for her burial.

Mrs. Gordon, also the widow of Lieut. Gov. Gordon of Florida, had been in the hospital four days. Death was attributed to a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Gordon was the former Katherine Hadley, daughter of a Yale professor and cousin of the famous actress Clara Ward.

At the time of her marriage to Prince Rigo in 1910 she had been living in Philadelphia. Rigo was at the zenith of his career. They traveled throughout Europe together and played before royalty. The prince died in 1927.

Shortly afterward Princess Rigo was married to Lieut. Gov. Gordon. He died in 1932, leaving an estate which Mrs. Gordon had often complained was "tax ridden."

TERRORISTS BOMB EX-CHICAGOAN'S HOME IN CUBA

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, Aug. 6 [Monday].—The home of Dr. M. R. Leeder, former Chicagoan, located at Eighth and Avenue Wilson, Vedado residential section, was wrecked at 12:15 this morning by a bomb explosion.

The entire furnishings of the first and second floors were destroyed and the concrete constructed house was badly cracked. The ceilings and walls were perforated by the bomb, which was planted at the entrance. Dr. Leeder and his wife, who were sleeping on the second floor, were badly shaken, but uninjured.

A number of printed circulars signed "Terror Squad," secret terroristic organization, were found after the explosion. A typewritten message warned Dr. Leeder to resign as administrator of Rancho Boyeros, properties which are generally believed to belong to Ex-President Machado. Dr. Leeder also was advised to leave Cuba.

Dr. Leeder, who has been practicing law in Cuba for twenty years, said tonight he had received many threats against his life. He said he had appealed to the American embassy here, but little attention was given his request for protection.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

One of the most elaborate shows ever to originate in Chicago will be the new NBC "House by the Side of the Road," which is to go on the air coast to coast Sunday afternoons from 3 to 3:30 o'clock, beginning Sept. 2. Inspired by Sam Walter Foss' poem, this program will feature Tony Wons, radio philosopher, as the man in the house by the side of the road. Hazel Dopheide of W-G-N's "Helen Trent" show will play the part of his wife, and Loretta Poynton, who played with Edna Hibbard in the stage production, "On the Make," will be the daughter.

A 23 piece orchestra, directed by Ulderico Marcelli, South American conductor and composer, formerly director of the Chicago theater orchestra, will provide the musical accompaniment. The remainder of the talent lineup: Gina Vanna, Chicago Grand Opera soprano; Emery D'Arcy, operatic baritone, and Ronnie and Van, comedy harmonists. A floor wax concern is the sponsor.

Fourteen midwestern girl singers, who aspire to play leading lady for Dick Powell, who will be co-featured this fall with Ted Fio-Rito in Columbia's "Hollywood Hotel," will be guests of World's Fair officials at a luncheon today. Fio-Rito and Fred Waring will be on hand to greet the contestants. At 6:45 o'clock this evening the final midwestern audition will be held at CBS studios. The regional winner will go to New York next week for the national finals.

When Vic Young, former W-G-N studio orchestra director and now headman on the CBS Spotlight revue, got home last Friday evening after his broadcast he found this note from a burglar atop his piano:

"Permit me to compliment you on the splendid assortment of music which I found on your piano. I myself am something of a musician and composer, and I like to see artistic taste shown in a home. I also congratulate you on your excellent cigars, three of which I have smoked and 14 of which I have taken with me."

There was fire in Vic's heart as he read the missive. But he found one cigar remaining in the box and thus smoke soon got in his eyes.

Robert Ball, former W-G-N announcer, is now heard daily over WIND. He has two programs—"Hymns and Strings" at 12:15 and "Vesper Time" at 8:30 p. m. . . . Bob Childs, pianist for the Commodores, will start on a north woods vacation Wednesday. . . . Ben Bernie, who left the air two weeks ago with a two months' vacation in mind, will return to radio just for tomorrow. Ben will officiate at the opening of the Lindenmoire oil well at Warnow, Tex. The ceremonies will be aired on a southern network.

With a background of cackling of chickens, mooing of cattle, and perhaps neighing of horses, the WLS dinner bell program will go on the air from State and Madison streets at noon next Friday. It's all a part of the ballyhoo for Farm week at the Fair opening that day.

SEEKS TO INDUCE HURLEY TO RUN AGAINST BYRD

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Democratic circles received a shock today when it was announced that Republicans were hoping to induce former Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley to oppose Senator Harry Flood Byrd in November. Byrd is the recognized head of the Democratic organization in Virginia and his reëlection is opposed by many Democrats allied with the Norman R. Hamilton faction.

The executive committee of the Republican party in Virginia several days ago deferred action on selection of a candidate to oppose Byrd because of its failure to reach an agreement. Hamilton accused Byrd of having Republicans on his "political pay roll." This brought a heated denial from Byrd, in which he accused Hamilton of making "maliciously false" statements against him. The entire second district Republican committee favors Hurley's nomination.

Hurley is considered the most available candidate to oppose Byrd, especially in view of the split in the Democratic ranks.

T. R.'s Widow to Celebrate Her 73d Birthday Today

Glencove, N. Y., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of former President Theodore Roosevelt, will mark her 73d birthday tomorrow at Sagamore Hill, her home in Cove Neck. Mrs. Roosevelt returned on Saturday from a visit to her ancestral home in Connecticut, where she had a family reunion.

Mrs. Joseph R. Hewitt's Funeral to Be Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise L. Hewitt, a resident of Chicago and suburbs for 53 years, who died Saturday, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. T. Rowley, 815 South Home avenue, Oak Park, with whom she lived. Interment will be at Rosehill cemetery. Mrs. Hewitt, 82 years old, was the widow of Joseph R. Hewitt, auditor of the Hibbard-Spencer-Bartlett company, who died five years ago. Surviving her are eight children, twenty grandchildren, and thirteen great-grandchildren.

Cramps Drown Swimmer in Wolf Lake, Hammond

William Cooper, 42 years old, who lived at 2215 Parkside avenue, was drowned yesterday when he was seized with cramps while swimming in Wolf lake, in the Robey section of Hammond. Shortly after he dived from a pier his cries brought others of the fifty or more swimmers, who pulled him from the water less than five minutes after he sank from sight. A resuscitator squad from the Hammond fire department worked over the body for more than two hours without success.

City Judge Metzger, 60, Dies in Mishawaka, Ind.

Mishawake, Ind., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—City Judge Charles Metzger, 60, former deputy prosecutor of St. Joseph county, dropped dead here today. He is survived by his widow.

LUKE LEA GOES FROM PRISON TO BIER OF HIS SON

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Former United States Senator Luke Lea came home from prison today to attend the funeral of his son.

Through the intercession of one governor and the consent of another, he was granted a temporary parole from North Carolina state penitentiary yesterday and arrived here today with Tennessee and North Carolina officers.

He went immediately to his home, where preparations were in progress for the funeral tomorrow of Percy Lea, 24 year old son of the former Nashville publisher, who was killed in an automobile accident Friday near Danville, Ill.

Soon after news of the accident reached here Gov. McAlister of Tennessee recommended to Gov. Erhinghaus of North Carolina that the elder Lea, who is serving a term on conviction of violating North Carolina banking laws, be permitted to come here for the funeral.

Disabled Cruiser Towed to Shore by Coast Guard

Marooned for more than an hour about five miles off Glencoe in Lake Michigan because of a broken rudder, passengers aboard the forty foot cabin cruiser Arcturus yesterday finally managed to signal some one on shore for help. In response to a telephone call a cutter from the coast guard station at Wilmette towed the boat to shore. The owner is Carl H. Coleburg, a Chicagoan.

UNVEIL STATUE OF LIVINGSTONE IN HEART OF AFRICA

VICTORIA FALLS, Southern Rhodesia, Aug. 5.—(AP)—In the heart of the continent in which David Livingstone labored as an explorer and a missionary a bronze statue of him was unveiled today by fellow Scots.

More than 1,000 persons, including African residents who came here from Scotland, native Christians and public officials saw the monument uncovered by Livingstone's nephew, H. U. Moffat, former prime minister of southern Rhodesia. Songs heard above the roar of the falls were a part of the religious ceremony which followed the unveiling.

The statue, erected by the Federated Caledonian Societies of South Africa at a cost of $50,000, faces across a chasm, 400 feet deep, toward Devil's Cataract. To its left across the gorge is the tree, on an island, on which Livingstone carved his initials, "D. L." the day he discovered the falls in 1885.

10,000 Expected to Attend Old Settlers' Reunion Today

More than 10,000 persons are expected to attend the sixtieth annual picnic and reunion of the Old Settlers of Chicago today at Riverview park. Mayor Edward J. Kelly and other prominent officials have accepted invitations to attend. Medals will be presented to those in attendance who have lived longest in Chicago and Cook county. The picnic is sponsored by the Chicago Turngeimeinde.

Falls from Third Floor; Ankle Sprain Only Injury

Joseph Zupkus, 48 years old, last night sat with his back and head part way out a window on the third floor of his home at 1721 South Jefferson street. Suddenly he lost his balance and plunged 35 feet to the sidewalk below. Horrified neighbors rushed him to the County hospital. He was found to have suffered a sprained ankle.

POLAND'S LABOR CAMPS TEACH BOY SCORN FOR KNIFE

Warsaw's Toughest Lads Turn to Boxing.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 5.—A strange ceremony took place on the banks of the Vistula near Demblin today. A group of thirty boys, members of the toughest gangs in Warsaw, threw their knives into the river and took an oath they would never indulge in another knife fight.

These boys had found a much better way to settle arguments. In the government labor camp they had learned how to box and fighting with knives lost its popularity.

Number of Camps Built.

In its campaign against unemployment, the Polish government has established a number of camps along the Vistula where levees and breakwaters to control the current of Poland's largest river are being built. During the first week the camps were opened 30 per cent of the boys deserted. Their chief complaint was they were compelled to eat their meals at regular hours. They preferred their vagabond code—eating when they pleased. To them the regular hours for meals meant the loss of their liberty.

During the following week the majority of the boys returned because in the camps they work five hours a day and are well fed. They also receive special training fitting them for some trade. There also is a program of sports and other recreation.

6,000 Boys on Vistula.

In creating these camps the government decided to avoid competition with workers employed under normal conditions and outlined a plan to complete public works which, for lack of funds, had been postponed indefinitly. At present 6,000 boys, who never had been previously employed, are working along the Vistula, and 3,000 others are helping to build roads.

Special camps have also been organized for girls. They are helping to make clothing for the boys and themselves. They also are growing vegetables for the camp menus.

FRED BETHIG'S FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Fred Bethig, 69 years old, resident of the Roseland-Pullman section for more than fifty years, who died Friday at his home at 2 West 111th place, will be held at 2 p. m. today in a chapel at 214 East 115th street. The body will be cremated in Oak Woods cemetery.

Mr. Bethig, born in Germany, came to Chicago when 18 years old. Until his retirement several years ago, he was a grocer and butcher. He was active in civic affairs, and was also active politically during the Carter H. Harrison Jr. administration. He was one of the founders and for several years president of the Kensington Turners, and was a charter member of the Roseland Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Bethig is survived by two sons, Louis and Emil, and three daughters, Mrs. Anna Behrent, Mrs. Katherine Howes of La Porte, Ind., and Mrs. Frieda Durkin of Kansas City.

Evanston's "Safety Lane" Will Be Opened Today

Evanston's annual "safety lane" for motorists will open today in the suburb. Sergt. Frank Kreml, head of the police accident prevention bureau, will supervise tests until Aug. 11 in a roped-off area in Orrington avenue, between Clark street and University place. Each year 4,000 or 5,000 motorists have the free tests made of their automobiles' mechanical functioning. According to records, about 40 per cent pass the first time through the lane, 30 per cent on the second trial, while the remaining 30 per cent either do not pass or fail to return.

HUNT BOY, 16, AS SLAYER.

Wabash avenue police yesterday were seeking a 16 year old colored boy as the slayer of Nathan Hardy, 14 years old, also colored, 5624 South State street, who died in the Provident hospital of stomach wounds incurred in front of his home early in the day.

WORLD WHEAT PRICES RISE AS DAMAGE GROWS

Foreign Marts Stage Broad Advance.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

A world wide advance in wheat prices materialized last week as it became unmistakably plain that the excessive world surplus of wheat which has been crushing for years on prices is no longer a curse but a needed reserve that will be drawn on extensively during the next year.

The sharp advance in prices in Liverpool and Buenos Aires marked the first time that foreign speculators have shown any genuine recognition of the damage which has been visited on the grain crops of North America by heat and drouth. Prices in both markets gained on quotations in Chicago. The Liverpool advance amounted to 7 cents and in the Argentine market added 8 cents to the previous week's quotation.

In Chicago the principal wheat delivery finished 3 cents higher. The advance in prices was helped along by unfavorable news on the Russian crop and the prospect that Australia will furnish less wheat than during the past season.

Confirm Damage Reports.

The week witnessed confirmation of the worst expectations for American grain crops. Leading private crop authorities released their figures on prospective yields which represented, in the words of one observer, "a disaster unparalleled in American agricultural history." To the known shortage in wheat and oats and other crops was added the certainty that the corn crop will be one of the smallest on record.

From a market viewpoint the reports of the crop statisticians were not startling. The results shown had been fairly well discounted although they provided the basis for a further bulling of prices. The important event of the week was the recognition which foreign markets gave to developments here and in Canada.

Canadian news was predominently unfavorable. The crop continued to depreciate under unfavorable weather conditions and estimates on the prospective output underwent further downward revision. A few weeks ago the estimates on probable yields ranged between 350 and 400 million bushels Today estimates are below 275 million bushels and fears are expressed that further severe deterioration will take place.

Rain Urgently Needed.

When the week closed rain was an urgent necessity. The Canadian outlook is regarded as particularly important. As the largest exporter of wheat the fate of the crop there will have big influence on world prices.

Narrowing of the gap between world wheat prices marks a turning point in the world wheat situation, many observers believe. American prices have long been out of line with foreign markets and wheat is still selling on a domestic basis. The time appears nearer, however, when American farmers may again sell their produce abroad in competitive markets.

"We are still way out of line for export with the balance of the world," the Uhlmann Grain company commented, "but the parity is less than it was, and on any further considerable adjustment there is at least a possibility, although not as yet a probability, that later on some wheat or flour might be exported from the Pacific coast either to the Orient or to Europe.

"This is the only section in the United States which really has a surplus which cannot be used in adjacent territory and which has to be moved long distances to the east or to the south at a heavy cost."

Weather Important Factor.

Weather conditions during the coming week will have an important bearing on the final outcome of the corn crop although much of the damage already done, particularly in the southwest, is irreparable. Considering the country as a whole the condition of the crop now is considered calamitous with the smallest prospective returns since 1903. The indicated crop is 1,658,000,000 bushels or 455,000,000 less than the astonishingly small crop which the government forecast promised on July 10.

The following table shows the range of wheat, corn, and oats futures in Chicago last week:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Close July 28.

Season's range—September, 47⅝-26½c; December, 50-41¼c; May, 50⅞-49⅝c.

The official government report on condition of grain crops as of Aug. 1 will be released late this week.

Summer Lull Continues Hold on Business

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—August has not yet advanced far enough to edge business out of its midsummer lull, but preparations for autumn were more active during the last week. The problem as to how much the drouth may have altered the business outlook for the fall months harassed executives in their efforts to draw up budgets and plans for the remainder of the year.

Dun & Bradstreet reports that much of buying in wholesale markets which would normally have been done in July has now come into the markets, as buyers have turned less hesitant. The sudden release of orders, according to this agency, lifted the last week's wholesale volume to the second highest level of the year. Considerable conservatism in making commitments was noted, however. The situation differs considerably from that a year ago, for prices of manufactured goods have ceased to rise and have in fact turned downward in some directions.

Retail Trade Better.

Reports of retail trade volumes during the last week as gathered by Dun & Bradstreet showed some improvement over the previous week. Continued warm weather has kept up a movement of seasonal and vacation goods, and the August furniture and fur sales have started.

Industry has not yet shown conclusive signs of breaking out of its summer slump. The American Iron and Steel institute reported that steel production last week had declined 1.6 percentage points to only 26.1 per cent of capacity. The automobile industry is approaching its usual transition period, with output of present models coming to its fag end, but production was well maintained during the last week. Retail sales of passenger cars are described as surprisingly good.

Power Showing Best.

Electric power production continues to make the best showing of the important weekly statistical series. The latest week's tabulation shows a gain of 1.2 per cent over the previous week and 1.3 per cent over the like week of 1933.

The report of railway freight movement for the period, however, shows a small contraseasonal decrease of 6,016 cars from the previous week to a total of 608,848 cars. That was 35,991 under the like week of 1933, but an increase of 97,745 over 1932.

Industrial activity generally remains uneven, with counterbalancing gains and losses. Construction contracts for the 37 states covered by the F. W. Dodge figures subsided a little in the third week of July, after the sharp gain in the first half of the month, but the total still is well ahead of June or of July of last year.

ISSUANCE OF NEW SILVER CURRENCY TO START TODAY

Washington, D.C., Aug. 5.—(AP)—New silver currency, treasury officials said today, will begin moving into actual circulation through the treasurer's office tomorrow. This will be followed by distribution through the federal reserve banks as production of the certificates increases. Already engraved is $24,440,000 of $1 and $5 bills, to be followed soon by tens, twenties and hundreds, backed by bullion.

The treasurer's office pays out about $3,000,000 weekly in cash for coupons and maturities of government bonds, cashing of salary checks and other checks presented by Washington banks for collection.

Approximately $47,000,000 of certificates will be printed from bullion acquired by the treasury from various sources other than purchases under the recent law providing for eventual one-fourth backing of the currency by the white metal. The treasury has refused to divulge the amount of silver bought in the open market under this law, and payments are cloaked in the stabilization fund.

Just what effect the issuance of the new silver money will have on the amount of money in circulation is a debated point. Many observers express the belief that, barring an increase in business that would necessitate more currency, the effect of issuing the new certificates will be merely to retire federal reserve notes.

FARM GROUP SEES CUBAN PACT AS TEST OF TARIFS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The American Farm Bureau federation's attitude on reciprocal tarif treaties probably will be determined by the results of pending negotiations with Cuba.

Chester H. Gray, Washington representative of the dominant farm group, believes all future reciprocal negotiations may be regarded with suspicion if American farming interests are not safeguarded in the Cuban treaty.

"If we find," Gray said, "that American agriculture will suffer in expanding our foreign markets, we will have to arouse public sentiment against the whole idea of executive reciprocal treaties doing any good for agriculture."

He said he would oppose the treaty, in part at least, if it lifted seasonal tarif barriers against tropical fruits and winter vegetables.

SENATE GROUP HITS LARGEST SECURITY FIRMS

Calls Public Victim of Boom Abuses.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The New Deal's attempts to regulate stock exchanges and security issues never can eliminate all of the evils uncovered in investment banking practices, the senate banking and currency committee admitted today.

Abuses will continue, the committee warned the New Dealers, regardless of government meddling as long as bankers are greedy or negligent. The committee bitterly denounced J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and about 20 other investment banking houses for the tactics they used to unload securities on the public in the boom days.

Result of Long Inquiry.

The committee's statements were contained in its second report in a series of three on stock market practices. Its warning to the New Dealers on security regulation was regarded as particularly significant, because the committee conducted a long investigation into stock market practices.

"Many of the abuses," the committee wrote in its report, "in investment banking have resulted from incompetence, negligence, irresponsibility, or cupidity of individuals in the profession. Such abuses can be eliminated only by the elimination of such persons from the field. Other abuses adhere in the American system and are, therefore, susceptible of remedial legislation."

The committee's report contained no recommendations, which presumably are being withheld for the third and final instalment. The report merely summed up the committee's findings and the evidence it had gathered on investment banking.

Attacks Famous Concerns.

Its denunciation of investment banking reads like a "Who's Who" of investment houses. All of the big houses, J. P. Morgan; Dillon, Read & Co.; Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Lee, Higginson & Co.; National City company; Guaranty Trust, and a long list of others were named by the committee in connection with practices the committee considered unethical. Price pegging, high fees, suppression of unfavorable facts were charged and denounced.

The committee was most bitter in attacking the flotation of foreign bonds during the boom. It estimated that 30 per cent of the foreign bonds sold at that time are now in default.

"The record of the activities of investment bankers," the committee reported, "in the flotation of foreign securities, is one of the most scandalous chapters in the history of American investment banking. The sale of these foreign issues was characterized by practices and abuses which were violative of the most elementary principles of business ethics.

Over Billion in Default.

"The activities of investment bankers resulting is passing on to the public not only the huge indebtedness of foreign industry, now substantially in default, but also the indebtedness of foreign governments. It has been estimated that as of March 1, 1934, $4,970,789,100 foreign government securities were outstanding, of which $1,536,027,300 were in default in principal amount."

CANADA RECALLS MINISTER'S BLAST AT HOME TRADE

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A pamphlet bristling with condemnation of industrial and trade conditions in Canada, bearing the authority of H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, has been recalled by the dominion government. Stevens was chairman of the mass buying and price spreads committee of parliament which has been investigating trade conditions dealt with in the pamphlet, and is chairman of the investigating commission.

Stevens said in a Winnipeg interview that the booklet contained the text of a private address he delivered to a parliamentary study club, printed at the request of some of the members and not intended for general publication. Copies were sent from the department, however, to certain newspapers.

The minister's views as to certain practices were so emphatic that various Canadian firms against which statements were leveled took strong exception and as Stevens already had left for Winnipeg their messages were sent to Premier R. B. Bennett.

U. S. NOW MAY BUY CARS UNDER CODE MINIMUM PRICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—Another step by the NRA to rid codes of troublesome price fixing provisions has been taken through issuance of an order permitting sales of new automobiles to government agencies at less than list prices. The order amounts to a stay of that provision in the motor vehicles retail code which says that "no dealer shall sell a new car at retail to a consumer for less than factory list prices."

Governmental agencies were defined in the order as including the United States government or any department or agency, the District of Columbia states, municipalities, and any political subdivision.

Several similar orders have been issued recently, all with regard to government purchases, but it is felt in informed quarters that the concession to governmental agencies actually is an entering wedge for general jettisoning of price fixing with respect to the public as well.

Yards Heads and Packers Row on Fees

The battle of packers to escape payment of "yardage" charges on live stock shipped directly to them is expected to have further bearing on labor problems in the stockyards.

Packers have been paying these charges under protest for more than a year, and have taken their case to court. Contested payments are estimated at more than $500,000, and if the packers should win their point the Union Stockyards company would stand to suffer a revenue loss upward of $1,500,000 over a five year period.

Direct shipments to packers already have resulted in heavy losses to the yards, since the company collects only a "yardage" fee of 12 cents a head on such live stock for the use of pens Much of the labor trouble in the yards in recent years is traceable to this decrease in revenue. A further loss would mean less money available for wages and complicate matters further.

Must Get Stock from Chutes.

The only reason live stock are driven over yards property, the packers claim, is because this is the only way they can get their stock from the unloading chutes to their plants. Lower courts have leaned toward the packer viewpoint in minor decisions.

The railroads enter the picture as a third party in the contention of the packers that they must furnish unloading facilities where packers can receive their live stock without its passing others' property.

The stockyards company, however, holds that building new chutes and alleys would cost far more than the yardage charge amounts to over a period of years.

Expect an Agreement.

In some circles it is believed that an agreement will be reached between the railroads and the yards to clear up the problem. Present facilities, it is felt, would be better than building new chutes outside.

While total volume in the yards has decreased, the proportion of receipts direct to packers in recent years has shown the greatest increase on record. As shown above, the yards receive little income from the latter the biggest drop in revenues has been in hogs. In 1923 and 1924 the stockyards interests received and sold more than 20 million hogs on which commissions were collected for selling, feed, and yardage. Less than 10 millions were handled in this manner during 1932 and 1933—almost 40 per cent of total receipts arriving direct to packers. Direct shipments now are estimated between two and three million hogs annually. A record of 3,101,684 was set in 1933.

HOUSE GROUP CHARGES 70% OF NATION'S REAL ESTATE IS IN DEFAULT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—The house committee investigating real estate bondholders' reorganizations estimated today that between 60 and 70 per cent of all real estate securities in the country are in default.

"Several billion dollars of real estate securities, representing the savings of many millions of investors, are involved," said the committee's statement. "There is a consequent termination of income to the thrifty and industrious class of our citizens, many of whom are now dependent upon charity, largely because of what appears to be an absolute disregard for the rights of such investors by certain groups who are charged with the trust and stewardship of their neighbors' property."

The committee, of which Congressman Adolph Sabath [Dem., Ill.] is chairman, appealed to real estate investors throughout the country to forward information on defaulted bonds, the location of the property, names of bondholders' committeemen, and representations they have made.

July Coffee Consumption Is Smallest Since 1926

New York, Aug. 5.—World consumption of coffee in July totaled 1,634,154 bags, the smallest monthly consumption since 1926.

Wage Earners' Living Cost Rises .4 Per Cent in June

New York, Aug. 5.—The cost of living for wage earners increased .4 per cent from June to July, according to figures compiled by the National Industrial Conference board. The cost of living in July was 5.2 per cent higher than in the same month in 1933, and 20.9 per cent lower than in July, 1929. The purchasing value of the dollar was 126.4 cents in July compared with 126.9 cents in June, 139.9 cents in April, 1933, and 100 cents in 1923.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK.—In the matter of ASSOCIATED TELEPHONE UTILITIES COMPANY, a Delaware Corporation, Debtor.—In Proceedings for the Reorganization of a Corporation. No. 59351

TO THE CREDITORS AND STOCKHOLDERS OF ASSOCIATED TELEPHONE UTILITIES COMPANY, DEBTOR:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York entered an order dated July 27, 1934, determining the manner of allowing claims and interests of creditors and stockholders in this proceeding and referring all questions relating to the allowance or disallowance of claims to Peter B. Olney, Jr., as Special Master for consideration and report. Said order, as modified by order of said Court dated July 30, 1934, provided that the Trustee, the Debtor or any creditor or stockholder, intervening in said proceeding upon leave of the Court, could file with such Special Master objections to the allowance of any claim filed in said proceeding, including any claim the allowance of which is recommended by the Trustee in a report of such Trustee to be filed with such Special Master on or before September 15, 1934, and said order further provided that all such objections must be filed on or before September 25, 1934, unless such time be further extended by the Court. Said order further authorized the Trustee to compromise any claims, upon approval of such Special Master after hearing, upon notice to the Debtor, any creditor or stockholder intervening in this proceeding upon leave of the Court and to Messrs. R. G. Page, Lawrence Bennett, Robert B. Rugg and Cameron Winslow, as the Reorganization Committee constituted under a certain Plan and Agreement dated June 29, 1933 for the reorganization of the Debtor. Said order further provided that unless exceptions to the report of the Special Master as to any contested claim were filed within ten days of the making of such report, said report should stand confirmed, and that all claims and interests to the allowance of which objections were not filed in accordance with said order would be deemed finally allowed.

Dated, July 27, 1934.

WILLIAM J. WARDALL,

COST NOT PRIME FACTOR IN HOME ELECTRIFICATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—Cheap power alone is not sufficient inducement to bring about wholesale home electrification, the chamber of commerce of the United States said today in a report for its members on trends in the cost and use of electric light and power in American homes.

Other factors than rates, the report declared, must be considered in any universal electrification plan, such as incomes, appliance costs, and competitive service. Data in the report were supplied by both privately and publicly owned utilities.

The chamber declared its report was made without taking sides in the controversy involving the electrical industry, but merely for the information of its members in whose communities electrical rates charged by public utilities are under discussion. According to this explanation, it was a mere coincidence that the report was issued shortly after President Roosevelt had announced in the Pacific northwest his intention to intensify his efforts toward governmental participation in power activities for the general good.

The report estimated that "the general electrification of our homes would require an investment of fifteen or twenty billions of dollars for appliances alone, not including air conditioning."

Advance Buyer Activity Aids Chicago Trade

Chicago business last week was marked by heavy purchases of the vanguard of department store buyers and other middlemen visitors to Chicago's annual fall market expositions, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. This was augmented by a widespread trend among manufacturers to put their plants in condition for expected fall improvement.

Retail activity last week was slightly ahead of last year, with vacation needs featuring sales. Industrial pay rolls declined seasonally while transportation and utility companies appear satisfied with present activity.

Advance registrations for the Interstate Merchants' council and its attendant style show which opens tonight at the Hotel Sherman, under auspices of the commerce association, indicate the best attendance since 1930.

12,000 Expected to Attend.

"More than 12,000 buyers from all over the country are expected to attend the events," C. D. Southard, vice president of the association, said yesterday. "The unusually warm summer and generally successful clearances have depleted retail store stocks. This augurs well for the success of Chicago's fall market opening.

"Early registrants declare consumer income in their territories is considerably ahead of 1933. They expect better fall business as a consequence. This belief is substantiated by a recent statement of the international statistical bureau that consumer income for the first six months of 1934 was five and a quarter billion dollars over the same 1933 period, exclusive of $150,000,000 spent for federal emergency relief."

Orders Top Last Year.

Fall market week in the Chicago wholesale market district recorded one of the greatest business upturns in recent years, leading manufacturers of women's apparel announced yesterday, after a week in which showrooms at times were extremely crowded.

Substantial orders for merchandise were placed and some manufacturers referred to the scenes in their showrooms as getting back to the "good old days." Increases, ranging from 25 to 50 per cent over the corresponding week last year were reported by representative dress, suit, coat, and hat manufacturers in the district.

Italian Deficit Is Set at $275,310,000 for Year

ROME, Aug. 5.—Italy's fiscal year closed June 30 with a deficit of 3,766,000,000 lire [about $275,310,000], it was announced. The unfavorable trade balance during the first half of this year was announced as 1,425,000,000 lire [about $117,125,000]. Last year the unfavorable balance for the same period was 804,000,000 lire [about $68,556,000].

LAZINESS AGAIN RULES STOCK MARKET ACTION

Believe Prices Now Mirror Business.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 5.—The stock market last week witnessed a relapse into dullness that characterized trading in the long period before the seriousness of the drouth situation and the European war scare spurred the ticker to a faster pace.

While prices have firmed up from the severe shaking out administered late in the preceding week there has been no appreciable recapture of ground lost. The assumption is that the price structure has been brought nearer the line warranted by actual business activity and prospects, so far as can be made out.

Traders were naturally discouraged over the difficulty to sell without making price concessions. While a little buying might easily put up prices, speculators can scarcely be expected to exert themselves without something to kindle their imaginations. The trade appeared to offer little incentive. Meanwhile, with the share market again drifting on its own, investment money continues to accumulate to the benefit of security prices and speculative activity has switched to commodities.

Await Roosevelt Action.

Casting about for explanation of the market's inertia, some observers come to the conclusion that the extended apathy was a reflection of "suspended hope." This hope, it was said, rested on what statement, if any, President Roosevelt will make to reassure business, now that he has returned from his vacation cruise to face the necessity of injecting new impetus into the New Deal and strengthening the administration's position for the forthcoming congressional elections.

The President was expected to deliver several speeches on his way back to Washington, but Wall street does not anticipate his making any important utterance nor take any action until he is again at his desk and has had an opportunity to discuss the situation thoroughly with his advisers. Consequently the White House again will be the focal point of intense interest over the next few weeks.

Skeptical of Inflation.

One development considered within the realm of possibility was that the President might offer reassurances, supposedly calculated to satisfy the desires of conflicting groups.

On one hand he was expected to re-

PACE OF CLOSED BANK LIQUIDATION NEAR STANDSTILL

No Dividends Paid by the Group in Last Quarter.

Sluggish liquidation of closed banks in Cook county during the quarter ended June 30 is illustrated amply in reports issued yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett on 20 more receiverships. Total cash receipts were little more than $300,000. Liquidation was at a standstill, with half a dozen exceptions. None paid a dividend during the quarter.

Eight of the institutions have applications pending with the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Three of these are for banks which as yet have returned nothing to depositors—Pinkert State, Prudential State Savings, and Sherman State banks.

Nothing in the auditor's report, however, gives rise to any immediate hope of dividends from the other five who have paid nothing—Phillip State, Proviso State, Reliance Bank and Trust company, Ridge State, and Roosevelt-Bankers' State banks.

Roseland State Leads.

Twelve of this group have paid from 10 per cent up to the 65 per cent returned by the Progressive State bank. Six have distributed 20 per cent or more. In money, the largest amounts have been returned by the Roseland State Savings bank [$560,543] and Second Northwestern State bank [$559,191].

Heaviest legal fees have been paid by the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank—$92,085 to Jan. 1, 1933, and $18,261 since then. No other unusually high fees have been paid lawyers by this group. Four of the banks have not paid for services since Jan. 1, 1933.

The Reliance Bank and Trust company had the best liquidation record for the quarter—$76,500—but its cash was reduced $22,000. This was because of payment of $23,700 on borrowed money, $64,000 to protect assets, and some $10,000 for other expenses.

Sheridan Trust Cash Lowered.

Similarly, cash of the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank was slightly reduced despite receipts of $57,000. Some $25,000 was paid on secured and preferred claims, $4,800 to attorneys, $28,000 to protect assets, and another $4,000 for expenses.

The Phillip State liquidation of $57,000 added $27,400 to its cash and paid $7,000 in claims. Expense and protection of assets took the rest.

Best dividend cash position is shown by the Roseland and Second Northwestern banks, though each is little more than half way to a 5 per cent payment.

The heavily frozen or hopeless position in this group of banks is definitly indicated by the fact that 10 of them still owe on borrowed money and that three have balances due creditors in excess of the book value of remaining assets—a figure considerably above actual values. Another half dozen have book values but little above their liabilities.

LETTERS

Letters addressed to the Financial Editor, of not more than 200 words, will be printed in these columns from time to time.

Assails Attorneys' Fees.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 1.—After studying a report on closed banks which was recently printed, I, as a depositor in the Builders and Merchants bank, protest what seems to be an excessive cost of these receiverships.

This bank closed April 13, 1931. Depositors have received 25 per cent, or $721,750, the report says, indicating that total deposits amounted to $2,887,000. Total receipts were $2,258,996 and remaining resources aggregated $2,255,117, the last two items totaling $4,514,113. Attorneys' fees to 1933 were $78,544, and $34,501 since. Receiver's salary amounted to $23,500, and clerical and miscellaneous expenses were $108,359, or a total of $249,904. This, the report indicates, places the cost of receivership at 34.5 per cent of the amount paid depositors.

Why can't something be done to rectify such unjust attorneys' fees? Why should they not be paid on the basis that if depositors receive only 25 per cent they in turn should not receive more? The cost of clerical expenses is entirely too high. In some cases the annual cost of clerical work exceeded the actual cost for the same work when the bank was solvent, I am informed.

Inquiring at this bank a month prior to publication of the report I was told the institution would apply for a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan. Why hasn't this been done? What is the matter with you other depositors? Why don't you speak up.

DEPOSITOR.

Thank You.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 2.—I want to congratulate you on the selection of Thomas Furlong as your writer on grain market subjects. He not only gives the important news but presents it in a clear and attractive manner.

ROBERT H. MOULTON,
Hulburd, Warren & Chandler.

Sorry, We Can't Accept.

Pettisville, O., Aug. 2.—You are cordially invited to become a charter member in the new Pettisville State bank, now being incorporated for $42,000. The price of a share is $120. As soon as the capital is raised the government will insure the deposits and coöperate in every respect.

THE INCORPORATORS.

Still, Facts Make News.

Winter Park, July 31.—If you wish to throw your country and mine into a panic just continue to publish such reports as are in the paper dated July 17, under the heading "Banks Frozen by U. S. Bonds." I have been a reader of your paper for many years, but am so disgusted with the insidious manner in which your correspondents are now writing that I no longer can even look at the issue. I like to hear all sides of a question, but decidedly object to your manner. I voted for Mr. Hoover and have always voted the Republican ticket.

BONDS HOLD FIRM DESPITE EBB IN PUBLIC INTEREST

Volume Dull; Federal List Tends Lower.

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Interest in all kinds of listed bonds dwindled during the last week, but prices of most corporate issues maintained a steady to firm tone. The dullness of trading was exemplified by Thursday's turnover, which totaled only a trifle more than $7,000,000, par value, and was the smallest aggregate for a full day since the middle of last September.

United States government securities dipped and rallied intermittently, but their trend generally was moderately lower. There was some profit taking in all federal loans. The Federal Farm 3s continued to sell below their offering price. Banking circles were interested in drawing inferences from the relatively small volume of bids for the week's offering of treasury bills.

Secondary List Hesitant.

The erratic movement of stocks brought some hesitancy into the secondary bond divisions, although fluctuations among the lower priced groups were little more than irregular most of the time. In fact, a number of the industrials and utilities showed substantial improvement at various times as the quarterly reports of different companies disclosed the strengthening of cash and current asset accounts.

The majority of rails were not enthusiastic, probably because of the growing doubts as to net earnings over the next several months. Many of the roads were believed to be confronting knotty problems in the shape of greatly increased operating costs and higher pensions.

Prime Favorites Ease.

A number of prime investment issues, which for some weeks have been holding around peak levels for the last year or longer, were inclined to drift a bit lower, but no especial significance was attached to this in view of the extremely low yields which have been prevailing for this type of security.

The European situation and the death of President von Hindenburg apparently had little effect on bonds as a whole. There were a few inflationary twinges noticeable following Secretary Morgenthau's announcement that the printing of silver certificates was getting under way as fast as possible.

HOLC OFFERING TO RAISE CASH FOR SMALL NEEDS

More than 99 per cent of the 414,190 homes refinanced by the Home Owners' Loan corporation up to July 27, have been made through exchange of 18 year bonds, of which $900,000,000 are now outstanding, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced yesterday.

The latest offering of HOLC bonds, $150,000,000, to be made Wednesday, is to replace cash advanced on the borrower's account for essential repairs, tax arrearages and fire insurance premiums. For amounts under $25, lien holders have been paid in cash instead of in bonds, the statement said. Proceeds of the new issue will be used to care for such cash expenditures.

Fewer Corporation Bonds Will Mature This Month

New York, Aug. 5.—Corporate bond maturities during August will total $65,754,000, compared with $125,458,100 in July, according to figures compiled by the Standard Statistics company. Among the maturities is a $27,636,000 issue of the Colorado Industrial company first convertible "A" 5 per cent bonds.

Make Partial Payment on West Palm Beach Issue

The protective committee for holders of general bonds of the city of West Palm Beach, Fla., has announced that a distribution of about 25 per cent on one year's interest on deposited bonds will be made Aug. 25.

BANKRUPT ROADS OWE 11 MILLIONS TO CREDIT POOL

Agency Ends Lending; Now Seeks to Collect.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 5.—Of $59,000,000 announced loans by the Railroad Credit corporation, $11,000,000 were made to railways which subsequently entered receivership or bankruptcy, final figures disclose. The corporation has ceased lending and is engaged in collecting on its loans.

The corporation collected $75,000,000 from emergency freight surcharges between Jan. 2, 1932, and March 31, 1933, and from this sum disbursed more than $73,000,000 in loans. The surcharges were extended until Sept. 30, 1933, but the proceeds were retained by the companies that earned them and were not transferred to the loan pool administered by the corporation.

Not all loans extended by the corporation were made public, the $59,000,000 of recorded loans representing those disclosed in annual reports or reports to the interstate commerce commission in connection with RFC loan applications.

"Pennsy" Contributes Most.

A compilation of the final returns shows that the Pennsylvania railroad was the largest contributor to the loan pool. It lent $9,218,644 and borrowed nothing. The largest borrower was the New York Central, with a loan of $5,710,000, but this company contributed $6,073,751 to the pool in 1932 alone, inhibited it from lending to roads in receivership or bankruptcy, but several of its borrowers encountered difficulties after getting loans. The largest loan extended to a road now in bankruptcy was $3,805,175, to the St. Louis-San Francisco railway. The Missouri Pacific, another line in bankruptcy, ran close to the Frisco with a loan of $3,000,000. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois, also in bankruptcy, borrowed $2,040,590.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific contributed $1,437,972 to the pool and endeavored unsuccessfully to float a loan a few days before it filed a bankruptcy plea.

Receivership Roads Borrow.

Roads in receivership which borrowed from the corporation include the Central of Georgia, with a loan of $1,692,681; Norfolk Southern, $290,000, and Mobile and Ohio, $785,000. The Norfolk Southern disclosed in its annual report that it was negotiating for a discharge of its loan.

How much of the loans extended will be collected has been the subject of conjecture. The Atlantic Coast Line, which collected $807,802 from the surcharges and made a net contribution of $795,685 to the pool, estimated in its report for 1933 that one-half the loans would be repaid. The corporation obtained the best collateral available.

To date, the corporation has distributed $16,961,000 in liquidating dividends. Of this total, $7,373,891 represented cash payments and the remainder consisted of credits to railways which borrowed from the pool and therefore, in effect, had received their repayments in advance.

CALL MEETING TO SPEED DIRECT RESERVE LOANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 5.—In an effort to speed loans to industrial and commercial business through clarification of the procedure to be followed in the light of the terms of the amendment to the federal reserve act of June 19, whereby the central banks of the federal reserve system are empowered to make direct loans, Williams L. Gilispie, president of the New York State Bankers association, yesterday issued a call for a series of meetings next week of the entire membership of the association.

The move to discuss in midsummer a single banking phase is without precedent and therefore reflects the importance of the subject in its relation to the nation's recovery program. The sessions are to begin Monday of next week and continue through Friday in the federal reserve bank, with a meeting on Saturday in Rochester to accommodate county groups of the association. A session in Buffalo is set for Aug. 25.

Officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York will be present to discuss methods and outline policies of the bank in handling such loans. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, it is understood, has already approved applications for almost $1,000,000 in loans to industry, although the money has not actually been paid out.

Sun Oil Co. to Redeem $133,500 of Debentures

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 5.—The Sun Oil company is notifying holders of its 5½ per cent debentures, due Sept. 1, 1939, that $133,500 principal amount of these bonds has been drawn for redemption on Sept. 1, 1934, at 101½ and accrued interest. Holders of Union Tank Car company 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates are notified by the Chase National bank, trustee, that all of the certificates outstanding have been called for payment on Oct. 1, 1934, at par and accrued interest.

Fuel Oil Sufficient for Many Years, Says Official

New York,, Aug. 5.—Assurance that there is sufficient fuel oil for domestic heating requirements for years to come has been given by R. G. Stewart, director of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. There is at present something like 70,000,000 barrels of fuel oil in storage on the Pacific coast, he stated. Last year about 7,500,000 barrels of surplus oil was shipped to eastern markets and about 22,000,000 barrels is expected to be shipped this winter.

Aeronautical Group Will Move Office to Washington

New York, Aug. 5.—The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce will move its offices from New York to Washington, D. C., on Aug. 10, Leighton W. Rogers, executive vice president of the chamber, announces. The offices will be in the Shoreham building at 15th and H streets, N. W.

RESPONSIBLE MEN who are not habitual ad-answerers, yet desire a new business connection that will pay them a fair profit for their efforts, will be amazed at the profit in this business.

Many men who are out of a job or seeking a new connection have become shackled with the disbelief in their ability to find a business that will pay them better than just an average living.

Men who are struggling with this erroneous thought find it hard to believe that good men are making today with our company a percentage profit of $50 and some as high as $100 and $125 per week.

Many men are inclined to call advertisements of this kind hooey, the bunk, etc., and if that is the way you feel, that's perfectly O. K. However, our books are open for investigation, our records are available, and many men—mechanics, ministers, doctors, lawyers—in fact, men from every kind of trade and profession are finding substantial and permanent, independent incomes with this company.

This Chicago business is permanent, backed with millions of dollars, and is distributing electrical units, air-conditioning machines, heating units, electrical and concealed aluminum units and other specialties, which are patented and in tremendous demand. There are millions of potential sales within a few miles in this midwest territory, and we are prepared to back young men without one cent of investment on their part and establish them in this business. Quick advancements are rapid upon qualification and weekly income higher than just an average income.

Recent monthly profits of our representatives run from average to, in some cases, well over $1,000. For example, Mr. C. H. Cockrill, operating in a small town outside Chicago, earned for last month a total of $936.00. This man is operating on a franchise exactly the same as we intend to give to a few responsible men Monday.

Another man by the name of Stith earned in the previous month $1,085—true, these figures are outstanding. However, we have many hundreds of representatives throughout the world selling our products who are averaging week in and week out from $75 to $100.

The above outstanding incomes do not mean that men who are started now should expect to make that much money but they should earn an average of $200 a month with eight full hours work a day, and increase their income with added knowledge of our business and the training that we give them.

Men with cars are given additional compensation. We must insist upon good character references as these positions are permanent and hold a wonderful 1 year opportunity. Your investigation will be complete and to the point—education and interesting. Men desiring to be interviewed must be prompt at either 10 a. m. or 2 p. m., Monday.
